WILSON HAS 442 ELECTORAL VOTES

Roosevelt Has But 77 as the Result of Illinois Going to Democrats.

TAFT RETAINS HIS TWELVE

Senate Will Probably Be Evenly Divided, with Marshall Having the Deciding Vote.

LONGWORTH IS DEFEATED

Big Socialist Vote Is Revealed by the Late Returns—California Close, but Wilson Leads.

Roosevelt lost 29 Electoral votes yesterday as the result of Illinois, the State which the Progressives all along felt surest of carrying, swinging over to Wilson. The Democratic vote in the Electoral College was thereby increased to 442. Roosevelt's dropped to 77, with Michigan, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, and Washington safely in his column, and Taft kept his 12 votes from Utah, Idaho, and Vermont.

Steps were taken yesterday to settle the question of who will receive the 12 Taft votes for Vice President in place of the late James S. Sherman. Gov. Hadley of Missouri went to Washington at the invitation of President Taft, and after a conference between them it was stated that Hadley would probably be selected as his new running mate when the National Committee met on Nov. 12. This is in recognition of Hadley's refusal after leading the fight for Roosevelt in the Republican National Convention to follow his chief out of the party.

Returns have been coming in slowly from "down State" in Illinois, and as more and more of the backwoods counties were heard from yesterday, Roosevelt's big lead in Chicago was more and more offset by Democratic pluralities until it was finally overcome.

With the returns practically complete last night, Wilson had a lead of over 15,000, and the result was no longer open to doubt. Senator Funk, the Progressive candidate for Governor, ran far behind the Bull Moose leader, with the result that Dunne, Democrat, will have a much larger plurality than Wilson. His lead last night was more than 110,000, with prospects of going higher. In the campaign endeavors had been made to work up a religious issue against Dunne and some of his associates on the ticket, but that element seems to have been ignored by the voters.

California Won by Wilson.

California remains in the Wilson column, allthough the margin in his favor is not great. There has been unprecedented delay in reporting the vote in that State, but last night Wilson was ahead by 526. During the day Roosevelt and Wilson see-sawed in the lead, and the hopes of the Progressives were raised by the large majority their candidate rolled up in Los Angeles. Their expectations of 15,000 for him were exceeded, when his plurality ran up to more than 20,000, but returns from other counties kept him from taking the lead from the President-elect.

The Republicans got a crumb of comfort from Massachusetts, where the counting of the ballots for minor State officers showed that, although the Democrats had elected the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Secretary of State, the Republican candidates for State Treasurer, Auditor, and Attorney General had been saved from the wreckage by pluralities of 2,000 to 5,000. The Legislature is almost certain to be Republican also, so that the expectation of a Democratic gain in the filling of W. Murray Crane's seat will not be realized.

Michigan remains safe for Roosevelt, with Taft and Wilson running close for second place. The result on the State ticket is in doubt, largely for the reason that in many districts the ballot boxes were sealed after the vote for Governor was counted. It may take the official canvass to determine what other State officers were chosen.

In Wisconsin, which was carried by Wilson for President, Gov. McGovern, Republican candidate for Governor, seems to have been re-elected. He was the Roosevelt candidate for Chairman of the Republican National Convention and supported the Colonel in the campaign, thereby incurring the displeasure of Senator La Follette, who, however, advocated his election. With only four counties missing last night, McGovern had a lead of 3,000 votes.

In Minnesota the progress of the count assured Roosevelt's victory, with an indicated plurality of 15,000.

The same is true of South Dakota, where, with half the State heard from, Roosevelt's lead was 5,000.

Later returns confirmed Wilson's victory in West Virginia, although the Legislature is Republican. In Iowa the Democratic candidate continued to gain, his plurality now reaching 20,000.

Gov. Johnson of California, defeated candidate for Vice President with Roosevelt, declared the result "of little more consequence, to the ultimate success of earnest men than the missing of a train."

Senate Evenly Divided.

The effect of more complete returns on the Legislature from the doubtful States was to cut down the estimated Democratic majority in the Senate, but left no doubt that the President would have the support of at least forty-eight members of his own party, just half the membership, which with Gov. Marshall of Indiana in the chair as Vice President, with the casting vote, would mean the control of the upper house, even if there were no further gains from doubtful States.

One of the seats that were counted yesterday for the Democrats was from Massachusetts, where later returns indicate the election of a Republican. In Nevada, too, it is now practically assured that the Republicans will control the Legislature on joint ballot. The result in Delaware is close, but the Democrats claim it by a majority of 4 on joint

FOR AN EXTRA SESSION.

Underwood Wants Tariff Revised at Once to Keep Party Pledges.

By Telegraph to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 7.—The Democratic Party is pledged to a real revision of the tariff taxes downward.

In my judgment, to keep our pledges to the consumers and disturb business conditions as little as possible, an immediate revision of the customs laws should be made at an extra session of Congress next Spring. OSCAR UNDERWOOD,
Chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means.

By Telegraph to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, Va., Nov. 7.—In my judgment Congress should be called in extra session as soon after March 4 next as practicable for the purpose of carrying into effect the pledges of the Democratic Party in respect to the tariff and other important subjects. W. A. JONES,
Chairman of the House Committee on Insular Affairs.

By Telegraph to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6.—I do not care to discuss the subject at this time.
W. J. BRYAN.

Special to The New York Times.

STROUDSBURG, Penn., Nov. 7.—Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, one of the chief Wilson leaders in Pennsylvania in the ante-convention campaign, who was re-elected on Tuesday by nearly 4,000 majority over his opponent, F. A. March of Easton, is in favor of calling an extra session of Congress soon after the inauguration of President-elect Wilson.

Mr. Palmer believes that the party should commence with diligence to fulfill the pledges made to the American people, and says that the special session should be devoted exclusively to a consideration of tariff legislation in order that the new tariff schedule may go into operation as promptly as possible.

When asked whether a Cabinet position would be to his liking, Mr. Palmer only smiled.

CARNEGIE TAX PROTEST.

Says He Had Only $3,477,105 Cash on Oct. 1, When He Owed $8,399,923.

Andrew Carnegie will pay no taxes on personal property to the City of New York this year. Last year he was assessed for personal property to the amount of $10,000,000, paying thereon $183,000, and heading the tax roll. He made affidavit before Commissioner Charles T. White yesterday that his obligations exceed his personal holdings by nearly $5,000,000.

Under the law passed by the last Legislature, however, he will have to pay a State tax on all the bonds and mortgages he holds. The State tax on these securities, which have to be registered with the State Controller, is one-half of one per cent., while the city tax is 1.83 per cent.

Mr. Carnegie swore that on Oct. 1 his money on hand, notes and loans due, as well as household effects, did not exceed in value $3,477,105, while on that same date there were obligations eventually to be met by him in the shape of open accounts and contracts for gifts amounting to $8,399,923. He also swore that all his bonds had been registered under the secured debt tax law.

In taking the course he did, Mr. Carnegie simply avoids paying a double tax, but it will mean that the city will lose many thousands of dollars.

FEARS NO BUSINESS INJURY.

Big Company Tells Its 500 Salesmen to Avoid Calamity Howling.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—A letter of business good cheer has been sent out by the Simmons Hardware Company to its 500 salesmen throughout the United States. The letter was written by E. C. Simmons, Chairman of the company's Board of Directors, and was in effect a request to the salesmen to avoid "calamity howling" over the result of the election and to help keep up general business confidence. The letter in part follows:

"Now that the election is over, and it is a settled fact that Gov. Wilson is to be the next President of the United States, I feel it to be the duty of all the business men engaged in large enterprises—in fact, business men of all kinds—to quiet the public mind, and relieve all apprehension of injury to the business interests of this country by the fact of Mr. Wilson's election. I do not believe it will disturb business a particle. I do not believe Gov. Wilson intends to recommend, to influence, or to allow any legislation that will be injurious to the workingman, to the wage earner, or to the business interests of this country.

"The significant fact that so large a number of the American people have chosen Gov. Wilson for their Chief Executive officer should be in itself a convincing argument, even to those who may differ from Gov. Wilson politically, that these voters have faith in him as a leader, in his patriotism, his judgment, and his sanity."

RECEIVER FOLLOWS SUICIDE.

Boston Department Stores in Trouble Following Death of Treasurer.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Following the suicide of William E. Butler, Treasurer of the three companies, receivers were appointed to-day for the department stores controlled by William S. Butler & Co., the Gilchrist Company, and Everybody's Store Company. It is estimated that the liabilities of the three concerns amount to $1,500,000.

All the shares in the Butler and Everybody's Companies are owned by the Butler Companies, a voluntary holding association. The majority of the stock at the Gilchrist Company is held by the holding concern.

On petition of a firm dealing in fixtures, which has a claim of $25,000 against William S. Butler & Co., Judge Colt in the United States District Court appointed C. F. Weed and Milroy H. Gibson receivers. By request of Frederick H. Nash, representing Everybody's and the Gilchrist Company, the receivership was extended to those concerns. Mr. Nash said that after the death of Mr. Butler the accounts were found to be so mixed that it was impossible to straighten out the affairs of the three stores without resorting to the court. He said that Gilchrist & Co. and Everybody's store are solvent and that possibly Butler & Co. may be also.

It was announced that the liabilities of Butler & Co. amount to $700,000. The combined liabilities of the Gilchrist Company and Everybody's Store are estimated at $800,000. The merchandise of Gilchrist & Co. is valued at $500,000, that of Butler & Co. at $250,000, and the goods in Everybody's store at $125,000.

Receivers Weed and Gibson qualified in bonds of $155,000 each and were authorized to continue the business of all three concerns.

ALL EXCEPT WILSON ARE CABINETMAKING

He Says He's Open to Suggestions and He's the Best Listener in the United States.

NO CABINET TILL HE SAYS SO

And He Won't Say Till All His Plans Are Made—Going to Staunton for His Birthday.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 7.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson made the definite assertion to-night that he would not give the slightest intimation as to the make-up of his Cabinet or his plans to carry out the programme of reform for which the Democratic Party stands until he had it all worked out. For the next few months he has assigned to himself the task of being the best listener in the United States. He considered it his public duty, he said to-night, to hear any advice which might prove of value to him in serving the people. As to his Cabinet, there may not be a word from the Governor until a few days before he is inaugurated. When the announcement does come it will be over his own signature.

"You might as well go and ask the Sphinx," said the Governor when questioned about a story sent from Washington, D. C., speculating on some of the appointments he would make. It was plain that the Governor had not reached any conclusions yet himself. He said as much, too, when he heard that many speculative stories about the Cabinet were being printed.

"I mean to keep my mind entirely open with regard to appointments of the first importance until a final announcement is possible," said he. "It will be perfectly useless to resort to me for corroboration of any report. No announcement will have the least authority which is not made over my own signature. These are matters which must be determined by very deliberate council and not by gossip."

Gov. Wilson would not discuss the suggestion of an extra session of Congress, which it was understood Democratic Leader Underwood favors, intimating that it was not for him to think about now.

What purported to be an official statement in regard to his plans for a vacation was sent out to-day under a Princeton date line by a news association. The Governor quickly repudiated it. The dispatch was to the effect that it had been officially announced that Gov. Wilson, accompanied only by his wife, would sail from New York for Bermuda on Nov. 16, and that a private yacht had been placed at his disposal.

Gov. Wilson confirmed the report that he would take a short vacation, but again said that he had not come to a definite decision just where he would go.

Gov. Wilson has already received many invitations to go visiting, but he has accepted only one from two old friends, Col. Armistead Gordon and Peyton Cochran of Staunton, Va., where Gov. Wilson was born, 56 years ago. His birthday falls on Dec. 28, and Col. Gordon and Mr. Cochran personally brought the message that every one in the old town demanded that the President-elect go back there, so that everybody could join him in an old-fashioned jubilee. They wanted him to fix the date as close to the day on which he was born as possible. Gov. Wilson didn't hesitate a moment before accepting this invitation. The only other callers that the President-elect had during the day were President Edwin A. Alderman and Dean Richard Dabney of the University of Virginia.

The Governor was greatly pleased today when a correspondent of a Georgia newspaper told him that that State had given him the biggest vote ever polled for a Presidential candidate. "Bully," he exclaimed, and didn't even note the smile which his use of Col. Roosevelt's favorite exclamation provoked. "That's very pleasing to me," the Governor added.

Because of the steady rainfall Gov. Wilson did not venture out of the house to-day and spent his time catching up with his correspondence and reading some of the telegrams of congratulations which he had received. All of the telegrams he said would be answered by letter.

"The only picturesque message I remember," said he, "was from a man in Pennsylvania, who signed his initials. He said: 'Hearty congratulations, but for God's sake get an automobile that can run only ten miles an hour.'"

Just how long he will remain Governor of New Jersey he has not decided. He will probably send a message to the Legislature recommending the legislation which he deems advisable. He was asked if he had decided upon a programme for the session.

"No plans beyond the Democratic platform," he replied.

The sweeping victory in New Jersey has been a source of great pleasure to Gov. Wilson, as it means the election of his friend, Congressman William Hughes to the United States Senate. The New Jersey Legislature which will assemble on the second Tuesday in January will have a Democratic majority on a joint ballot even without the twelve Assemblymen from Essex County, the home of the Smith-Nugent machine.

PARIS WELCOMES WILSON.

Lower Duties, It Is Assumed, Will Aid French Industry and Exports.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The whole Paris press unanimously welcomes Gov. Wilson's election. The chief ground of the chorus of approval which his victory has called forth is that the latter is regarded as an event of enormous importance to French industry and export trade, for it is presumed that the tariff, which has hitherto been prohibitive on many classes of French goods, will be lowered.

In more than one quarter a steady return to free trade principles is even predicted. The result of the election is also hailed with great satisfaction in Bourse and financial circles generally, where the memories of the Taft and Roosevelt Administrations are not over pleasant.

As to the personal character of Gov. Wilson, all the editorials are most eulogistic.

New Color Named for Miss Wilson.

Collins, Doorly & Franc, 450 Fourth Avenue, have obtained permission from Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, daughter of the President-elect, to name a new color "Nell rose," in her honor. It is an American Beauty shade, and follows Alice blue and Helen pink.

RESCUER, DELIRIOUS, GOES AGAIN TO SAVE

HAD SAVED BOY FROM DEATH

Pneumonia Resulted from First Leap in the Shrewsbury and He Imagined Child Was Calling to Him.

HIGHLANDS, N. J., Nov. 7.—When little Frank Creighton tumbled into the Shrewsbury River from Creighton's Pavilion last week Felix Belford, a brother of Father John Belford of the Church of the Nativity in Brooklyn, heard the child's screams for help, and running down from his quarters in the Twilight Boat Club jumped to the rescue. Drenched and exhausted he managed to get the boy safe to shore, and the Highlands said he was a hero and made much of him.

That was why so many persons called every hour at the boat club all this week to ask after him, for that night he had a high fever, and the next day the doctors said it was pneumonia. His sudden plunge into the chill waters of the Shrewsbury had been too much for him. Then the neighbors would linger at the club to listen while the nurse or the doctor told the strange story of Belford's delirium. When the fever was on him he would start up from the bed and cry out:

"The boy's drowning! The boy's drowning! I'm coming!"

Then the doctor would struggle with him to keep him in bed, would try to soothe him and assure him that everything was all right and that there was nothing for him to do, but the words were not soothing.

"Man, man, the little fellow's drowning! Would you keep me here? the sick man would cry and groan in his impotence.

Again and again this delusion recurred, till Ed Doyle, the caretaker of the boat club, said it "fair gave a man the shivers" just to sit downstairs and listen to him. The days passed and then, yesterday morning, Belford's body was found floating in the Shrewsbury at the very spot where he had rescued the Creighton boy ten days before. He must have jumped from the boat club dock in the night in delirium and later floated down stream to the point where the Creighton Pavilion looks out over the river.

The window of his room had been unlocked and raised, though Doyle had not heard him steal out. The folks here won't listen to any theory that Belford merely walked from the club in his delirium, wandered to the river's edge and fell in. They know that Belford's sick room was revisited by the vision of the little boy drowning in the Shrewsbury, that he heard again the cry for help, and again hurried to the rescue.

TRY TO BLOW UP CHURCH.

Pastor's Crusade Against Gamblers Leads to Dynamiting in Ohio.

Special to The New York Times.

CANTON, Nov. 7.—An attempt was made early to-day to blow up Calvary Presbyterian Church with dynamite. Revenge is undoubtedly the motive, as the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Townsend, has been active for a year or more in a crusade against gamblers and keepers of dens of vice in the city.

Mr. Townsend has caused many arrests in his crusade, and numerous threats have been made against him.

The dynamite was discharged under a corner of the church and destroyed a small portion of the foundation, smashed all the windows in the residence of W. A. McRea, a wealthy manufacturer, adjoining the church, and some windows of the church.

Three unexploded sticks of dynamite were found near the boiler in the basement of the church.

Mr. Townsend is one of the most popular ministers in the city. He is about thirty-five years old, and is the head of the Anti-Vice Crusade Committee which has been active against saloonkeepers, gamblers, and keepers of disreputable places.

A HERRING IS A HERRING.

Sardines Cannot Be Brought In Under Cheap Disguise.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—"A herring is a herring."

This decision of Assistant Secretary Curtis to-day settles a qestion that has been before the Treasury Department for many months.

It was recently discovered that many importations of sardines were coming into the United States under the guise of herring, the duty on which is considerably lower than on other fish.

The Treasury Department made a deep study of the families and relationship of fish, deciding that anchovies, bristling, sardines, sprats, pilchards, and alewives are not herring, and should be assessed 30 per cent. ad valorem duty when shipped in tins and small packages, and three-fourths of one cent when shipped in casks, &c. The decision becomes effective in thirty days.

BRYAN SILENT ON CABINET.

Will Be in Washington Early Next Week and Then Go to Florida.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 7.—William J. Bryan to-day refused to make any comment on the gossip connecting his name with Cabinet positions.

Mr. Bryan left this afternoon for Omaha, where he addressed the school teachers of the State this evening. He left later for Chicago, and will go to Indianapolis Saturday. He will go to Washington, where he will spend a few days before leaving for his Winter home, at Miami, Fla.

FOUR GUNMEN ELECT TO BE TRIED IN GROUP

They Will Be Called Before Justice Goff and Work of Choosing Jury Begun To-day.

COUNSEL PROMISE SURPRISE

Change Pleases Whitman, Who Expects Speedy Conviction of the Slayers of Herman Rosenthal.

"Gyp the Blood" Horowitz, "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg, "Whitey" Lewis, and "Dago Frank" Cirofici, the four gunmen, accused of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, will go on trial together to-day before Justice Goff in the extraordinary term of the Supreme Court. Ex-Magistrate Charles G. F. Wahle of the firm of Whale & Kringel notified District Attorney Whitman yesterday that at the request of the gunmen he would withdraw his previous application for separate trials for his clients.

Mr. Wahle did not explain why he had come to this decision, except to say that the gunmen were following his advice in going to trial together, and that he had presented to them several good reasons for this course. Whatever Mr. Wahle may hope to gain from this combination trial, the District Attorney is quite satisfied with the plan. In fact, he feels that it will benefit him considerably.

Mr. Whitman has not the slightest doubt of what the verdict will be in the gunmen's cases, but no one of his witnesses, except William Shapiro, driver of the gray murder car, can identify all of the men. Thomas Coupe, brought here from Europe, can identify only one. Giovanni Stanish can identify another, and Louis Krause can identify two. In separate trials Mr. Whitman could not have introduced all of these witnesses, but with four defendants on trial together, all of these witnesses may testify, even though only one of them can identify all of the defendants. The District Attorney feels that this is a big point in his favor.

His determination to begin the gunmen's trial to-day led Justice Goff to consider a night session of his court yesterday to finish the trial of Joseph Conroy, who shot and killed Joseph Fettretch, a lawyer. At nightfall, however, it became apparent that even a night session of court would not see the completion of the trial, so the Conroy trial will go on the first thing this morning. Once Justice Goff has delivered his charge he can go ahead with the trial of the gunmen, prepared to suspend this for the necessary time to hear a verdict when the Conroy jury shall present one. Justice Goff expects to begin the gunmen's trial the first thing this afternoon.

Mr. Wahle would not reveal his defense yesterday. He said he had eighteen or twenty witnesses. It had been supposed generally that the defense of the slayers would be an alibi with an attempt to prove that Harry Vallon fired the shots that killed Rosenthal while Vallon was intoxicated. This theory seemed to be exploded yesterday when it became known that Messrs. Wahle & Kringel had investigated the stories of several witnesses who said they had seen Vallon drunk in the gray car on the night of the murder, and had established to their own satisfaction the fact that Vallon could not have been in the gray murder car when he was seen, as this car was known to have been elsewhere at the time. Apparently the gunmen's lawyers by their own efforts have exonorated Vallon of the charge of having been in the gray murder car. It may be, however, that an attempt will be made to show that Vallon did fire the shots, but fired them from some car other than the gray car in which the gunmen rode.

Mr. Kringel declared that the true story of Rosenthal's murder had never been told, but that it would be developed at the trial of the gunmen. He predicted it would prove more sensational even than the version of the killing developed at Becker's trial.

Should the trial of the gunmen start according to schedule this afternoon, it is possible that a jury may be selected before night. Mr. Whitman who, it will be recalled, contented himself with very slight examinations of the Becker talesmen, has said that he would be as brief in his examinations of talesmen in the gunmen's trial, and it is not likely that Mr. Wahle will try to delay matters.

Mr. Whitman does not expect that the trial will continue more than a week. The District Attorney is confident that he will not need many witnesses to insure a conviction, and believes that the testimony in the Becker trial practically convicted the gunmen.

As a result of other testimony in the Becker trial, Mr. Whitman brought about the release yesterday of Herbert Hull and Joseph Fleming, who had been arrested in the raid on Rosenthal's gambling house. Inasmuch as the testimony of the men who made this raid was badly shaken on cross-examination in the Becker trial the District Attorney concluded it would be of little value in cases against Hull or Fleming. Judge Malone in General Sessions agreed with Mr. Whitman, and discharged the bail bonds of the men as a preliminary to quashing the indictments.

Sam Schepps was arraigned in the West Side Court again yesterday, and once more his hearing on a charge of vagrancy was put over for a week.

CONDUCTOR IN ASSEMBLY.

Did His Electioneering on the Platform of His Car in Brooklyn.

Brooklynites riding on the Park Avenue trolley line have been paying their nickels to a conductor who is an Assemblyman-elect. He is Joseph J. Monahan, who was elected to the Assembly in the Twenty-second District in East New York.

While his opponents, two lawyers, Edward R. W. Karutz, Republican, and Jacob M. Kernfeld, Progressive, were doing their electioneering at night and resting by day, Monahan worked twelve hours a day—from 6 A. M. to 6 P. M.—on the Park Avenue line, handing out his "line of talk" as he says, as he took in nickels and distributed transfers.

His opponents figured he would be a bad third, but this was the vote: Monahan, (Dem.,) 8,066; Karutz, (Rep.,) 5,562; Kernfeld, (Prog.,) 4,839.

Monahan was Captain of his election district this year, when his "boys" came around and told him he must be their candidate for the Assembly. He is getting $18 a week as a conductor, and has a wife and three children and a cozy little home at 70 De Sales Place, East New York. Monahan was brought up in the old Fourth Ward of New York, where real politicians were bred of old, and his friends believe that he will develop into a real statesman.

LONGWORTH IS BEATEN.

Roosevelt's Son-in-Law Behind 85 on Late Returns.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—Congressman Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of Col. Roosevelt, has apparently been defeated for re-election by Stanley Bowdle, Democrat. The unofficial figures show the latter's lead to be 85 votes. Longworth will not admit his defeat, however, and the result will not be finally known until the Board of Election has made its official canvass.

DIX EXONERATES WINSLOW.

Dismisses Charges Filed Against Westchester County District Attorney

ALBANY, Nov. 7.—Gov. Dix to-day dismissed the charges recently filed with him against Frank A. Winslow, District Attorney of Westchester County. The charges were made by Homer Jones of Yonkers, who alleged that he and others had been "falsely indicted," and that men had been permitted to serve illegally as Grand Jurors.

After consultation with Attorney General Carmody the Governor decided that the charges were not worthy of consideration.

TO RECALL MAYOR COTTRELL.

Petition Asserts That Washington Executive Lacks Courage and Ability.

SEATTLE, Nov. 7.—A petition for the recall of Mayor George F. Cottrell, containing nearly 24,000 names, was filed in the Controller's office to-day.

It is alleged in the petition that Mayor Cottrell has shown himself lacking in executive ability and moral courage, that suffers certain persons and certain institutions to interfere on political matters, that he has failed, apparently because of obligations to "certain politicians and Socialist agitators," to protect citizens of Seattle in their constitutional rights, and to enforce proper respect for the American flag.

LOFTY LEAP FOR TAFT MAN.

Said He'd Jump Off House if President Lost—Keeps Promise.

WOODBURY, N. J., Nov. 7.—Thomas Taylor, a negro, recklessly announced some days ago that if Gov. Wilson beat Mr. Taft for the Presidency he would jump off a house. To-day he made good. Those with whom he had made the agreement offered to let him off, but he would have none of that. He was a man of his word, he said, and an agreement was an agreement.

He selected the eaves of his own home to jump from and in the presence of a hundred persons he dropped twenty-five feet to a grass plot. He was pretty well bruised and shaken up, but no bones were broken.

AUTO HITS MAN, FLEES.

Chauffeur Makes His Escape After Badly Injuring J. E. Poillon.

John E. Poillon, 64 years old, an insurance agent, living at 611 West 110th Street, while crossing the street in front of his home at 6:30 o'clock last night, was struck down by a large limousine, which bore down upon him without giving any warning, and then left him lying unconscious in the roadway while the chauffeur put on full speed and escaped, turning north into Riverside Drive.

The chauffeur of an automobile which was following close behind picked up the unconscious man and, learning his address from letters in his pocket, carried him into his home, where Dr. George Barrie of 601 West 110th Street, the family physician, attended him. The doctor found him suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries of a serious nature. The chauffeur, in leaving, reported the accident to Patrolman Delano of the Lenox Avenue Station, and gave the number of the limousine as 15,908 N. J., but refused to give his own name.

APPLETON MAY HEAD GUARD.

Colonel of the Seventh Refuses to Confirm or Deny the Rumor.

ALBANY, Nov. 7.—Col. Daniel Appleton of the Seventh Regiment, New York, may be named by Gov. Dix to succeed Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan, recently retired, according to reports current here to-night. The Governor declined to discuss the matter.

When Col. Daniel Appleton was asked last night at the Seventh Regiment Armory whether he knew of his reported appointment to the position in the National Guard, recently made vacant by the compulsory retirement of Maj. Gen. O'Ryan, he refused to make any statement, declaring that the strict rules of his organization prohibited any member of it from discussing official actions unless under a special dispensation. This led to the supposition that the appointment was official, but the Colonel would neither affirm nor deny the report. He was equally reticent when asked if he would consider the promotion were it to be made official.

CLERKS FLED TO BANK VAULT.

Breaking Trolley Sounded Like Earthquake in Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 7.—Half a dozen clerks were standing near the big vault in the Chelsea National Bank in this city this afternoon, discussing yesterday's earthquake. Their backs were turned toward the street. Suddenly there came a blinding flash, as though from a huge ball of fire, followed by a rumbling noise. The clerks, terror-stricken and without waiting to investigate, took it for granted that another earthquake had visited the city, and they considered the safest place was the big vault. Into this they jumped, and, pulling the door shut, awaited developments.

They waited a long while, but seemingly nothing happened. Then they tried to open the vault door, but could not. It was some time later when the cashier, missing the clerks and noticing that the vault door was closed, opened it, and found the young fellows nearly smothered.

A big Wilson banner, water soaked from the rain, had fallen across the trolley feed wire, breaking the wire and causing the flash and explosion which the clerks noticed. The breaking of the feed wire tied up trolley traffic on the lines for nearly two hours.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE BULGARIAN ARMY, Nov. 7, (Evening.)—A fresh battle has spread out all along the line before Tchatalja.

Europe may expect the fall of the famous positions guarding Constantinople at any moment.

Columns of the Third Bulgarian Army are advancing south of Lake Derkos, at the northern end of Tchatalja lines. They have captured the position of Delijunus, outside the fort of the same name, which is one of the Tchatalja defenses, twenty-six miles northwest of Constantinople, on the right wing of the Turkish position.

Columns of the First Bulgarian Army marching southward are also pushing forward successfully.

How the Bulgarians Advanced.

I have received the following information from General Headquarters regarding the disposition and execution of the Bulgarian main army's attack on the Tchatalja lines, the last defence of Constantinople.

After the three days' battle at Lule-Burgas, Bunar-Hissar, and Viza, and the two days' fighting which, after a day's pause in the operations, ensued at Viza on the east wing as a result of Turkish attacks and Bulgarian counter-attacks, the Third Army, forming the left wing of the Bulgarian battle front, advanced in strong columns from Sarai and Sultan-Bagtche on Istranja in order to cut the line of retreat behind the Tchatalja lines of the Turkish forces to the south.

Simultaneously in the centre and on the right wing the First Army, which had recently received reinforcements from troops released from before Adrianople, advanced in several columns along the railway and with a southerly outflanking column via [illegible] to the attack on the Turkish Army posted in a strong fortified position on both sides of Tcherkesskeui to cover the Turkish retreat behind the Tchatalja lines.

Fierce Three-Day Fight.

Fierce fighting round these positions lasted the whole of Nov. 3, 4 and 5.

With Nazim Pasha in supreme command the Turks fought with far greater stubbornness than had been anticipated from their precipitate retreat after the last battle.

When the Bulgarian outflanking column of the First Army got into touch from the south with the enemy the Turks made a desperate forward movement in strong force from Kapaklibunar, north of Tcherkesskeui, against Uzumhadzi in order to break through the Bulgarian centre. This attack, however, broke down completely under the fire of the Bulgarian infantry and artillery.

Fresh Army Routs Turks.

In addition to this, the Third Bulgarian Army advanced simultaneously from the region west of Istrandja to a decisive assault against the right centre of the Turks, north of Yenikeui, and drove it back on Tcherkesskeui.

This transformed the failure of the Turkish attack on Uzunhadzi into a complete catastrophe.

The divisions which here advanced were almost totally destroyed, and to this unfortunate episode are to be ascribed the appalling losses which the Turks suffered in this battle.

An immediate result of the destruction of the right of the Turkish centre was the prompt retreat of the whole southerly battle front of the Turks, although they were still in a strong position. This retreat, which began on the morning of Nov. 5, followed the general direction of the railway line to Sinekli, fifteen miles west-northwest of the town of Tchatalja. The extreme left wing retired by way of Tchanta, ten miles southeast of Sinekli.

Debacle for the Turks.

The hot pursuit of the First Bulgarian Army, and especially the pushing forward of the southerly outflanking column, transformed the Turkish retreat, orderly at its start, into a disorderly flight.

An attempt of Nazim Pasha to check the Bulgarian pursuit by taking up a rear-guard position at Seiman, eleven miles southwest of Tchorlu, ended on the evening of Nov. 5 with a total debacle.

The last Turkish reserves were brought into action here, who could not withstand the bayonet charges of the Bulgarians. From this time on masses of Turks poured in unrestrained flight toward Tchatalja, pursued with the greatest persistency by the Bulgarian troops.

REPORTS ADRIANOPLE'S FALL.

Charles E. Hands Says the Bulgarians Are Concealing the Fact.

By CHARLES E. HANDS.

Dispatch to The London Daily Mail.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 7.—I have just arrived from Sofia. I have grounds for believing that Adrianople has fallen, but that the Bulgarians are concealing the fact lest the powers, realizing that a decisive point has been reached in the war, should intervene before the capture of Constantinople.

Extraordinary endeavors have been made since Monday to prevent news from getting out. Nothing has been issued officially at Sofia except banalities.

The censorship is extended to all letters. At Rustchuk, on the frontier, the censorship is rigid.

I understand that the Adrianople garrison, hopelessly steel-encircled, having failed in its attempted sorties, offered to surrender on Monday on the condition that the garrison might march out with the honors of war. This was refused, and the bombardment continued. The entire garrison surrendered unconditionally on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, with the utmost energy and haste, an overwhelming force is being concentrated with the object of destroying the last Turkish Army and occupying Constantinople, so that intervention by the powers will follow the accomplished fact.

The Bulgarians are determined to possess the capital. All the available troops are being rushed to the front from Macedonia, including Servian troops.

The Bulgarian losses hitherto have been enormous. Trains throughout Bulgaria are filled with the least severely wounded, who are being sent to their homes, but all the sacrifices are well repaid by the great final coup.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Bulgar Victory at Tchatalja.

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 8.—Once more the situation in the Balkans is obscured. There has been heavy fighting, in which both the Turks and the Bulgarians have lost heavily. That much only is clear. The rest is so far from certain that the widest field is left open to speculation.

It is generally believed that the Bulgarians succeeded in part in their plan and effected an entrance into the Tchatalja lines at their eastern end, but the fact that no news of their complete victory has been received is taken to indicate that the Turkish resistance has been attended with greater success than might have been thought possible after the crushing defeat of Lule-Burgas.

The ultimate triumph of Gen. Savoff's forces is considered beyond doubt. In fact, at the moment of writing this dispatch a telegram from Sofia intimates that it is already attained, and that the Bulgarians are in full possession of the Tchatalja lines.

The Times's correspondent, who filed the telegram at 11:20 P. M. yesterday, says that the report is not officially confirmed, but this correspondent's dispatches have hitherto been so conservative that there is every reason to believe the correctness of this particular telegram.

Another dispatch, of a more surprising character, is that sent by Charles E. Hands to The Daily Mail, reporting the fall of Adrianople. Mr. Hands, who was stationed at Sofia, journeyed to Bucharest in order to send off his telegram without the interference of the censorship, and though the reasons he gives for the unwillingness of the Bulgarian authorities to permit the news to become known are somewhat unconvincing, it must be assumed that he has not sent the report without good reason.

On the whole, The Times's dispatch of the occupation of the Tchatalja lines appears more likely to be true at the present moment than The Daily Mail's report of the surrender of Adrianople. Both are eventual certainties.

Austria Vetoes Servian Plan.

The past twenty-four hours, which brought little definite news of the progress of the war, were prolific with reports, some of which, like that of the Turkish abandonment of Salonika, have been speedily shown to be false. Another, which appears based on more accurate information, is that Austria has definitely vetoed the opening of a port on the Adriatic to Servia.

The Servian Premier has declared that his country wants three Adriatic ports—San Giovanni di Medua, Alessio, and Durazzo. The acquisition of an Adriatic port was, with the freeing of Old Servia from the Turkish yoke, the chief object of Servia in going to war, and Russian sympathy is entirely with the Slav kingdom in this particular.

Austria's objections, which Vienna dispatches describe as definite and final, are likely to prove a stumbling block in the settlement of the territorial questions, which will keep Europe on tenterhooks long after the last shot has been fired in the present campaign.

Turks Deny Enemy Is Near.

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 8.—The past twenty-four hours have brought little official news from the seat of war. A report from Athens that Salonika had been evacuated was premature, and a similar report concerning Monastir is unconfirmed.

A Constantinople dispatch gives a Turkish assertion that there are no Bulgarians before Tchatalja, and that both armies are resting. The Turkish reports regarding the progress of the war, however, have been so consistently misleading as to have little value. According to a news agency dispatch from Sofia, the Bulgarian troops advancing on Constantinople yesterday occupied several villages in the vicinity of the line of Turkish forts at Tchatalja.

Between the Bulgarian Army and Constantinople now stand only the Tchatalja forts, which are held by an army that has suffered a series of crushing defeats and that has been rendered, it is believed in military circles, incapable of making any sustained defense against a vigorous assault.

The commanders of the Bulgarian invaders are said to have fixed next Sunday as the day on which they will enter the Turkish capital with their troops and hold a service of thanksgiving in the Mosque of St. Sophia.

The present lull in news may mean that some important action is proceeding.

Below Adrianople, says a Sofia dispatch to The Standard, the Bulgarians have dammed up the River Maritza so that the water has been forced back and has flooded the town. It is expected that this will compel an early surrender.

A Cettinje dispatch to The Standard says that King Nicholas is annoyed at the protracted siege of Scutari, as Montenegro has occupied much less Turkish territory than the other allies, and it is feared that this will have an unfavorable effect when the partition of Turkey is made.

The King has, therefore, ordered the commanders of the other Montenegrin columns to push forward and occupy as many places as possible before the Servians penetrate further west.

Another Cettinje dispatch says that the whole country is in the grip of Winter, the snow is two feet deep, and roads are impassable.

The report of the occupation of the port of San Giovanni di Medua, on the Adriatic Sea, as well as of the cities of Alessio and Jakova by Montenegrin troops is confirmed in a dispatch received by the Montenegrin Consul General here yesterday. Fighting is also taking place around Bonchan, to the south of Scutari.

The antagonism of the Malissori tribesmen to the Montenegrins is said to have checked the army of Crown Prince Danilo of Montenegro, which has made several attacks on Tarabosch.

The American High School for Girls at Scutari, on the Asia Minor side of the Bosphorus, has sent its scholars of Bulgarian nationality on board one of the British cruisers now at Constantinople owing to fears for their safety, according to a dispatch from the Turkish capital.

At the request of the Ambassadors in Constantinople intrenchments have been thrown up at San Stefano and at Kiatkane, so that if the rout that occurred after previous battles should be repeated the mob of fleeing soldiery can be checked.

Should matters become more threatening in the Turkish capital the fleets of the powers may force the Dardanelles, in which case there would be 6,000 men available for landing, with possible reinforcements from the Russian fleet in the Black Sea.

BELGRADE, Nov. 7.—Official reports describes the two days' heavy fighting which preceded the surrender of Prilip, twenty miles to the northeast of Monastir. The Servians outnumbered the Turks, but owing to the nature of the ground were unable to use their artillery. They could bring only one mountain battery into action against the vigorous fire of the Turkish artillery.

The Servians were not able to form up in fighting line, and were obliged to make big sacrifices, taking one position after another at the point of the bayonet. The Turks held such strong positions that they should have been able to annihilate the storming parties.

Only at the end of the second day did the Servian infantry succeed in driving the enemy from their stroghold and putting them to flight in the direction of Monastir. The Servian wounded numbered many more than the Turks.

Turkish Troops' Demoralization.

SOFIA, Nov. 7.—The Bulgarians occupied the town of Drama on Nov. 5. The Turkish troops in that region have been scattered in all directions. Most of them have surrendered their arms and are returning to their homes. Other remnants are so demoralized that the peasants terrorize them and compel them to disarm and flee.

Throughout the district the inhabitants have warmly welcomed the Bulgarians, and a Bulgarian administration has been established.

In the five days' fighting along the line between Lule-Burgas and Bunar-Hissar the Bulgarians, it was officially announced to-day, lost 15,000 men, killed or wounded. The Turkish casualties exceeded 40,000.

It is officially announced that the Port of Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora, and the City of Visa, to the southeast of Adrianople, were occupied by the Bulgarian troops on Nov. 5.

COLOGNE, Nov. 7.—The Turks are reported to have been decisively beaten by the Bulgarians and to have been driven in disorder from their positions at the Tchatalja forts in front of Constantinople, according to a dispatch from Sofia to the Cologne Gazette.

The fighting, it is added, was very severe, and lasted two days.

ATHENS, Nov. 7.—After a fierce engagement, in which the Turks lost more than 100 killed, the Greeks have occupied Pentepigadia, which commands the road to Janina.

The report that the Turks have evacuated Salonika is said to be unfounded.

TURKS WOULD CONTINUE WAR.

Get Reports of Successes—Refugees to be Sent to Asia Minor.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 7.—Public opinion in Constantinople is strongly opposed to the idea of seeking mediation or peace.

Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, has reported to the Government that the army is determined to fight until it is victorious or is absolutely defeated. He regards the reverses suffered as unfortunate, but says that the brave Ottoman army is confident of ultimate success, and that the whole corps of officers are unanimous in favor of continuing the war.

The principal officers in Constantinople have handed to the Grand Vizier, Kiamil Pasha, a signed declaration in the same spirit, and the Party of Union and Progress (Young Turks) promises to support the Government in the policy of prosecuting the war with energy.

These considerations are having weight with the Government.

The commander of the western Ottoman army telegraphs that Zerovitch, which is on the southernmost loop of the Salonika-Monastir Railway, has been recaptured from the Greeks. He also reports that a Servian cavalry detachment with machine guns has been routed at Perlepe.

Reconnaissances by the eastern army to-day beyond Tchorlu failed to encounter any Bulgarians, but Nazim Pasha reports that a Bulgarian reconnoitering party was repulsed about four miles from Rodosto.

So far as can be learned here, there has been very little change in the military situation in the past twenty-four hours. A sort of self-imposed armistice obtains on the Thracean plains. Both sides appear to require time to rest and reorganize after their recent exhaustive efforts.

Further heavy rains have transformed the plains into a morass. The roads are most difficult for transport, and it is believed by Turkish officials that probably a week will elapse before hostilities are resumed along the Tchatalja lines, which battle will, it is expected, decide the campaign unless peace comes to spare the belligerents further carnage.

The rumor that Salonika has fallen is not confirmed, but it is known that the town was hard pressed.

Abdullah Pasha, lately commanding the Eastern Army, has arrived at Constantinople.

The Vali of Adrianople has sent a dispatch briefly outlining recent operations. He says the latest sortie took place yesterday, with severe losses to the Bulgarians.

Mussulman refugees continue to arrive at the outskirts of the capital from practically the whole country south of the Bulgarian advance. The scene outside the city walls at the Adrianople gate is one of direful distress. Men, women, and children, carts, and cattle are huddled together. The authorities are trying to supply the immediate wants of the refugees, and have decided to send them to Asia Minor. Thousands have tramped the country during the last ten days and have undergone intense suffering. They say they feared that the invaders would burn their villages.

The Ambassadors of the five powers held a meeting this morning at the Porte, and there met the Grand Vizier and the Foreign Minister. It is understood that they discussed measures of public safety and the question of mediation, but nothing is known of the decisions reached. The powers as yet have made no move with reference to mediation.

SERVIA WANTS THREE PORTS.

She Asks Outlets on Adriatic—Constantinople's Fate Left to Powers.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Turkey has decided to give the powers complete liberty of action in arranging conditions of peace, according to a dispatch from Constantinople to The Journal des Débats.

The Balkan allies will ask for the partition of European Turkey, leaving the fate of Constantinople to the decision of the European powers, according to Premier Pachitch of Servia, in an interview to-day with the correspondent of The Temps in Belgrade. The Servian statesman continued:

"Servia wants the ports of San Giovanni di Medua, Alessio, and Durazzo on the Adriatic Sea, which the Servian Empire possessed in the middle ages, and by which she was territorially related to the rest of Europe."

Servia, the Premier added, had not received any proposal from Austria, but, assuming that Austria had no territorial designs, Servia was quite willing to favor economic and commercial expansion for Austria.

The Premier concluded by saying that the Balkan allies desired Turkey to treat directly with them concerning peace, and not through the powers.

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 8.—Diplomatic efforts to end the war in the Near East are making no progress, and the European press is busy discussing all the aspects of the situation.

Everything tends to show that almost irreconcilable antagonism will arise over the allocation of Turkish territory. Servia claims as her share a large part of Albania, including the Adriatic ports of Durazzo, Alessio, and San Giovanni di Medua.

According to the Servian Premier's statement to the Paris Temps, the allies desire the partition of European Turkey, leaving the fate of Constantinople to the decision of the powers. According to reports current in Berlin, the intention of the allies is to divide Albania between Servia and Greece, but an agreement already exists between Austria and Italy, which would be supported by Germany, guaranteeing the integrity and independence of Albania, and the Triple Alliance is determined to prevent Servia at all costs from reaching the Adriatic. It is even asserted that the Triple Alliance has agreed to make Albania independent, with the Duke of the Abruzzi as King.

Another important meeting took place at Bucharest yesterday between the Roumanian Premier and the Russian and Austrian Ministers.

It is reported that the powers will to-day communicate to the Balkan States Turkey's request for mediation, but the Balkan allies, as is well known, insist that Turkey deal direct with them, and it is thought among diplomats that they would like to see their once formidable foe, who only a few weeks ago sneered at their ultimatum, come on its knees to them.

PERIL OF MASSACRE IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Various Factors Which Make the Position of the Christians Very Unsafe.

THE THOUSANDS OF 'SOFTAS'

Theological Students Incite Others to Slay the Unbelievers—Average Turk's Ignorance.

Such is the sinister renown that the Turks have acquired for massacring Christians whenever their fanaticism has been aroused that the fate of the non-Moslem residents of Constantinople has naturally become the object of universal anxiety.

The capital boasts of a million and a quarter inhabitants, among whom the lawless element is as strong as in any city of the same size. Although the town is well policed, there have been instances when the whole force has discreetly abstained from going on duty for periods of two or three days at a time. On such occasions the unruly mob is in full control. The last occurrence of this nature was witnessed on Aug. 26 to 29, 1896, when about 8,000 Armenians were slaughtered in cold blood in the streets.

In those three days the city was literally turned over to murderous crowds. Bands of Turks, often led by some fanatical priest, marched on the ill-paved thoroughfares shouting that the Sultan had permitted the killing of all unbelievers and that they were going to free the country from the pollution of infidel citizens. Not a policeman was in sight, and it was plain that the details of the butchery had been carefully planned. For a while pandemonium reigned in the streets; every Armenian who was spotted was killed. The bloody work was done by means of stout sticks with which the populace had been armed, by the authorities themselves, according to some versions. The uniform size and appearance of the weapons lent much semblance of truth to the tale.

The Turkish Government has taken advantage of the fanaticism of its subjects, and occasionally endeavors to shelter its weakness by proclaiming its inability to control the mob. For instance, the plea is already made by the Turkish authorities that the approach of the Balkan allies to Constantinople may result in fanatical outbreaks which it cannot check. This may be a veiled threat that as a last resort the Turk's vengeance will be wreaked on the Christian community.

There is no telling the awful consequences of an outburst of Moslem fanaticism in Constantinople. The only way the Christians could effectively protect themselves in such case would be to take refuge on board the foreign vessels in the harbor. During the Armenian massacres of 1896 many Englishmen sought shelter on board English steamers, and the French did likewise on ships flying their country's flag.

Outside of taking shelter on ships, the schools, churches, and embassies afford a certain amount of protection on land. Such buildings are massively built, as a rule, and may be converted into temporary strongholds which may effectively stand the attacks of a crowd. Artillery alone will destroy them. In the massacres mentioned, instances occurred where such edifices were put to good use in this manner. In one case the doors were strongly barricaded with bags loaded with stones.

Every resident of Constantinople knows well that the greatest source of danger of a general massacre lies with the "softas." These are theological students drawn from all parts of the empire by the fame of the teachers of Islam dwelling in the capital. The militant spirit of Islamism is warmly cherished by their youthful imagination. Their studies and mode of life foster the development of fanatical intolerance. As these "softas" have the privilege of being exempt from military service, they are usually very numerous in every Mohammedan city of any importance. Needless to state, their vocation is often the result of the advantage to be derived by eluding onerous barrack duties. The rank and file of this class of Moslem social organization is made of a cowardly element. The Turks themselves speak of them with ill-concealed contempt, and the appellation of "softa" serves to indicate that one has shirked his military duties and smacks of lack of manliness. The mode of life these students lead is particularly suited to a lazy temperament. Hence many continue to learn all their lives, and it is a common sight to see gray-bearded individuals sit side by side with youths hardly beyond their first score years. About 10,000 of these would-be apostles of the Prophet's creed are known to attend courses and lectures in Constantinople. They can be seen hanging around every mosque in the city. They are the men who spit on the ground in token of repulsiveness at the sight of a foreign tourist strolling in the vicinity of their sanctuaries.

A general massacre of Christians was barely averted about three years ago by the timely entry into Constantinople of the revolutionary army which the Young Turks sent to dethrone the former Sultan. This tyrant, perceiving that his power had been completely destroyed, conceived a wholesale execution of Christians as a last resort to recover his ground in the hope that the event might be attributed to his loss of power and as a demonstration of the inability of his political opponents to control the unruly element among his people. On this occasion the "softas" played the rôle of inciters with considerable success. They inflamed the minds of a considerable portion of the capital's garrison to revolt. They mingled with the soldiers in and out of the barracks and, by ill-advised counsel and the distribution of hastily prepared anti-Christian pamphlets, aroused ignorant imaginations to such a pitch of excitement that carnage would have ensued in all likelihood had not the revolutionary army made its unexpected appearance at the city gates. Within twenty-four hours most of these "softas" had been gathered and penned under guard in military buildings. Some were publicly hanged, and it was rumored that many were quietly disposed of after a fashion well known in Turkey and sometimes in Mexico.

With the presence of a victorious Christian army at the door of Constantinople it is not unlikely that the "softas" will attempt once more to excite the populace to deeds of violence. It is a question whether the authorities will be able to frustrate their attempts, for the average Turk is exceedingly ignorant and hence very superstitious.

One of their traditions is that they will be compelled one day to retire to their land of origin in the Asiatic steppes. So strong is this belief among them that Moslem residents of European Turkey make it a point to have their bodies sent over to Asia for burial whenever they can afford it. In this way they believe that their graves will be undefiled by the infidel who they know will ultimately drive them out of Europe. The strength of this tradition is best exemplified in Constantinpole itself, where most Turks prefer being buried on the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus.

Still another source of danger for the Christian community of Constantinople in these days lies in the fact that the pernicious habit of attributing national calamities to the presence of the unbelievers in their midst is strongly rooted among Moslems. It is no uncommon occurrence to hear Turks remark that their Government is too lenient toward the Christians in general. Such is the faith of most Turks in themselves and their creed that the idea of attributing their own losses to their own failings never enters their minds. Any foreigner who knows them well will vouch for the statement that the bulk of the population in Constantinople or any other Turkish city will not believe to-day that their armies have stood the enormous losses inflicted by the Bulgarians.

When the allied Balkan soldiers march triumphantly in the streets of Constantinople, as is likely, there will be many Turks who will wonder why the Sultan has permitted such a desecration. The possibility of the destruction of their country's army is beyond their conception. They will think, however, that it is high time to dethrone the Sultan and get a beter ruler in his place.

This may seem impossible to Western minds not conversant with the extraordinary degree of ignorance of the average Turk. And yet this is what actually happened during the Turco-Russian war of 1878, which ended so disastrously for Turkey. To this day the ignorant peasant of Asia Minor can be heard speaking of the glorious war of 1878, when the Turkish Army meted out terrible punishment on presumptuous Russians who had dared to defy the wrath of the Sultan.

This lack of knowledge of affairs of the world is perhaps best shown by the remark made by a Turkish priest to an American traveler who had been asked by the prelate where his country was.

"Oh, yes, I know about that land," rejoined the turbaned Turk to the foreigner's relpy. "That's where one of our famous seamen lives, the well-known Capt. Colombus Pasha. By the way, has our Sultan built any mosques over there yet?"

OUR MISSIONARIES SAFE.

American Board Receives a Telegram from the Turkish Capital.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—At the office of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions to-day a telegram was received from Constantinople stating that all the missionaries there were safe so far. The message came from the mission headquarters in the Turkish capital.

So far as is known no formal application has been made by the board to the State Department at Washington for the protection of Americans. President Capen and Foreign Secretary Barton are out of the city.

MODERN RIFLES MERCIFUL.

Only Two Amputations Out of 670 Wounded Treated by Surgeon.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—Prof. Jedlicka of Prague University delivered to-day an interesting lecture on his experiences at Belgrade, where he is about to return. He has already treated 670 wounded, of whom only two suffered amputation. Very remarkable is the rapid, successful healing of wounds caused by contemporary firearms. Even an injury to the heart, occasioned by rifle-fire, has healed quickly and thoroughly.

On the strength of these observations he characterises the modern rifle as a weapon which disables but seldom kills. The Tagblatt publishes the following statement: "The Balkan States definitively refuse any interference on the part of the great powers, and insist upon the partition of European Turkey. King Ferdinand will take the title of Emperor of Bulgaria, King Nicholas will be King of Montenegro and Albania, and King Peter King of All the Serbs."

Turkey Wants Chilean Warships.

VALPARAISO, Nov. 7.—The Turkish Government has made a proposal to Chile to purchase the battleship and torpedo boat destroyers now being built in England for this country. The Chilean Government, it is reported, will decline to sell the warships.

TO STUDY TRANSPORTATION.

One New Department Among Others Planned for Merchants' Association.

Twenty-five representatives of New York business enterprises were guests yesterday at a luncheon given by Henry R. Towne, President of the Merchants' Association, at the Hardware Club. The gathering was one of a series which the directors of the association have planned for the purpose of discussing the work of the organization to broaden its scope, and at a dinner at the Hotel Astor on Nov. 14 between five and six hundred members will review the matters outlined at the luncheons.

Mr. Towne said yesterday that many important functions would be added soon to the association's program for bettering the city's commercial and industrial interests.

"In the past ten years," said Mr. Towne, "during which time I have served as a member of the Executive Committee, the Merchants' Association has spent more than $600,000 for the betterment of New York City. We are planning activities for the next ten years which will require an expenditure of $1,500,000.

"Our fight against the Ramapo water steal saved New York $100,000,000. The development of the Catskill aqueduct came as a direct result of our engineering investigations. Other results of our work were the voluntary re-arrangement of the rates of the New York Telephone Company, whereby a saving of $1,500,000 to the subscribers was effected; the securing of the franchise of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company which enabled them to build their great terminal on Eighth Avenue; the establishment of the Traffic Squad and the continuance of the same when there was danger of its being legislated out of existence.

"To our already important programme many functions will soon be added. We have organized a Traffic Bureau to assist in an analysis of the present freight schedules and to study the complex relationship between the railroads and the distributors. An Industrial Development Bureau to study manufacturing conditions in the city and to enlighten concerns contemplating locating here will be established. There will be a Foreign Trade Bureau also to promote the interests of the import and export trade."

The present membership includes five of the great railroads coming into the city, three express companies, telephone and telegraph companies, all kinds of manufacturing concerns and also many professional interests, lawyers, architects, etc. The headquarters, at present at 54-56 Lafayette Street, will be removed in February to the ninth floor of the Woolworth Building.

DAHLGREN SUIT TO REFEREE.

Noted Divorce Case Is Withdrawn from the Supreme Court Calendar.

The much-heralded Dahlgren divorce case will be sent to a referee whose name has not yet been disclosed. The suit for an absolute divorce which Mrs. Lucy Drexel Dahlgren of Philadelphia began last March against Eric B. Dahlgren of New York, whom she married in 1890, created a great stir in the native cities of both litigants. It was scheduled for trial originally last Monday, but on request of counsel Justice Gavegan in the Supreme Court put the action over until yesterday. When the case was called for a jury trial yesterday the attorneys requested that the action be withdrawn from the calendar and announced that they would apply to have it sent to a referee.

Mrs. Dahlgren is a daughter of Joseph Drexel of Philadelphia, formerly a member of the firm of Drexel, Morgan & Co. It is said that she inherited $20,000,000. She is a cousin of Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., who married Miss Marjorie Gould. Mr. Dahlgren is a broker and a member of the New York Stock Exchange. He is a Harvard graduate and belongs to the New York Yacht Club, the Riding Club, the University Club, the Metropolitan Club of Washington and the Loyal Legion of Manhattan.

Mr. and Mrs. Dahlgren were married on Dec. 11, 1890. They have eight children, Lucy, Madeleine, Catherine, Ulrica, Olga, Eric, Joseph and Eva, of whom Mrs. Dahlgren demands the complete custody.

ALLIES HAVE GIVEN WORLD A LESSON

Secrecy and Completeness of the Mobilization Unprecedented, Says Gen. Allison, U. S. A.

BIGGER FORCE THAN TURKEY'S

Bulgaria's Fighting Machine Built Up in Eight Years—Artillery Strong Factor in Allies' Triumph.

In the forthcoming issue of the Journal of the Military Service Institution of the United States, published on Governor's Island by officers of the army, a leading article will deal with the military organizations of Bulgaria, Servia, Greece, Montenegro, and Turkey. The author is Brig. Gen. John N. Allison, who has made a study of the Balkan question.

"Once again," writes Gen. Allison, "the eyes of the civilized world are turned anxiously toward the sick man of Southeastern Europe, who is surely and sorely in need of the services of a physician.

Gen. Allison takes up in order the armies of the contending nations, beginning with Turkey. The Turks, according to Gen. Allison's figures, assume to have an infantry total of 37,008 officers and 1,222,000 enlisted men, a cavalry strength of 1,580 officers and 26,800 enlisted men, an artillery strength of 1,032 officers and 29,380 men, and 245 officers and 10,470 enlisted men in the Engineer Corps, besides a Medical Corps and a transportation department.

"How much of this vast paper force actually exists," Gen. Allison writes, "what proportion of that actually existing can be made available for work in the Balkans, is a matter of pure conjecture. Col. Brose, late of the Information Department of the German General Staff, estimates such number as 600,000 men of all arms, and this estimate is thought to be liberal."

The war strength of the allies Gen. Allison places at 680,000 men, of whom Bulgaria furnishes 350,000, Servia 180,000, Greece 100,000, and Montenegro 50,000.

Writing of the Bulgarian Army, Gen. Allison points out that the present great fighting machine was organized less than eight years ago. The organization is divided into four parts: The field or active army, the active army reserve, the reserve army, and the militia. Prior to the present war the Bulgar Army was distributed in nine divisional areas, each with a headquarters, and these areas knew exactly how many men of all arms could be called upon in the event of war. The divisions were subdivided into districts, and from each district the organization was such as to produce at the earliest possible moment one fully equipped regiment of four battalions.

The Servian Army is singled out for praise by the army officer, as are also the fighting forces of Greece and Montenegro. Gen. Allison calls the Montenegrins an intrepid race of sharpshooters, with an organization so perfect that it can be concentrated within a few days, the army being accompanied, when it is in the field, by the wives and daughters of the soldiers, who carry the ammunition and cook all of the food.

The Greek Army, Gen. Allison points out, has learned the lesson of its defeat by Turkey in 1897, and since that time far-reaching administrative changes and disciplinary reforms have been adopted, and the present Greek force is the outgrowth of that transition.

Reports from the seat of war agree on the important part that the artillery has played in the present war. Gen. Allison gives much space to this arm of the service and shows what each of the allied States as well as Turkey has in the way of big guns. The Turkish artillery comprises field, horse, mountain artillery and howitzer batteries, fortress artillery and artillery depots. All of the organizations are part of the Turkish regular army and there is no second line of artillery. On a war footing each field battery has four officers and 100 to 120 enlisted men.

The latest available reports give the total Turkish artillery strength as 198 field batteries (1,188 guns,) eighteen horse batteries (108 guns,) forty mountain batteries (240 guns,) and twelve howitzer batteries (72 guns.) These guns are all of the various Krupp types. The artillery ammunition train consists of 1,254 wagons.

The Bulgarian artillery numbers about 13,000 officers and men. The artillery consists mainly of 8.7 and 7.5 centimeter Krupp guns, 6.5 centimeter Krupp mountain pieces, Krupp 12 centimeter and Schneider howitzers, Creuzot siege guns, and 7.5 centimeter Creuzot quick-firers. The number of guns is 1,154.

The Servian artillery comprises only Schneider-Canet quick-firing guns, while the Montenegrin artillery consists of eighteen siege, twenty-five field and thirty-eight mountain guns, four howitzers, fifteen mortars, and eighteen Gatling and Maxim-Nordenfeldt machine guns.

The Greek artillery consists of thirty-six batteries of 7.5 centimeter Schneider-Canet, three heavy and six mountain batteries of six guns each, 7.5 centimeter special barrel. The heavy guns are of 17, 15, and 10.5 centimeters, with two batteries of howitzers.

Commenting in general on the war, Gen. Allison says of the manner the Balkan States took the field:

"The movements of the widely separated allied armies, up to the present time, beginning with the probably somewhat premature dash of impetuous little Montenegro, would indicate the direction by one controlling mind of a skilfully conceived and thoroughly understood plan of campaign. And the expedition and complete secrecy with which the four armies were mobilized and actually put into the field with scarcely a suspicion in the minds of watchful European diplomats probably stands without precedent in history."

The article closes with a word of praise for the Servian cavalry, the work of which, Gen. Allison says, will give food for reflection to those military critics and essayists who have been busy composing dirges for the mounted troops of the allied armies.

Impressions

¶ First impressions are hardest to eradicate.

¶ One should not be too much governed by externals, though one nearly always is.

¶ From a ramshackle dwelling we get the idea of penury and squalor.

¶ From a trim, well-kept little dwelling we get the idea of well-ordered domesticity within.

¶ From an imposing structure we get the idea of unmargined plenty.

¶ From a man's Clothes and grooming we make a lightning deduction as to his character.

¶ If he is slovenly and in need of curry-combing, we instinctively avoid him.

¶ If he is only so-so in appearance, we put him down as a nondescript type.

¶ If he is smart, well dressed and well groomed, we are disposed to take for granted that he is a thoroughbred socially and mentally efficient.

¶ Indeed, in your business, in your social life, no less in the mart than in the drawing room, style in your clothes is a sort of silent backer of your ambitions.

¶ And once you are convinced of the truth of this, you will then understand our eternal insistence upon the need of style in your clothes, and you will inevitably turn to Saks' to get it.

$4,500,000 MELON FROM OVERCHARGES

Chicago Telephone Company Distributed Huge Sum to Stockholders.

IT PAID 10 PER CENT., TOO

Sum Was Carried on Books as Surplus, Prof. Bemis Testifies in Aldermanic Inquiry.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Overcharges to its patrons netted the Chicago Telephone Company $4,500,000, which was divided among its stockholders, who were drawing 10 per cent. dividends, according to assertions of E. W. Bemis, the city's public utility expert, before the Council Committee on Gas, Oil, and Electricity to-day.

How the Chicago Telephone Company "cut a melon" for its stockholders amounting to $4,500,000 in stock, paid for by the subscribers, and then "reduced" the annual dividend from 10 per cent. to 8 per cent., to make doubly sure that no one should discover its method, was explained by Mr. Bemis. He also said that the company could afford to cut its rates $700,000 a year.

Light on the disappearance of so large a block of surplus earnings in a manner not to excite suspicions of exorbitant profits came when Alderman T. K. Young started a series of questions. Mr. Bemis was explaining how his valuation of the company's property was about the same as its outstanding stocks and bonds, and Alderman Bowler wished to have him account for the difference of more than $5,000,000 in his estimate of the property value and that made by Prof. W. J. Hagenah in 1908.

"The Hagenah report places the valuation at about $20,000,000," replied Prof. Bemis. "I put it at $25,495,000. This includes construction of the last two years. Hagenah allowed an 8 per cent. earning on all property, while I have figured it at 7 per cent. In 1908 the company issued $4,500,000 of stock to its stockholders without the payment of a single dollar."

"Does your valuation include the $4,500,000 of watered stock that does not represent a cent of investment?" asked Alderman Long.

"Yes, but I don't agree that it does not represent an investment," replied Prof. Bemis. "It doesn't represent contributions by stockholders, but it represents contributions by subscribers. The company collected more than $4,000,000 in overcharges, which it put into extensions and improvements.

"They had been raising money to extend the plant and had been carrying it in the depreciation account until more than $4,000,000 was accumulated. Then they reached the conclusion that the plant had not depreciated to that extent and that they did not need the fund for that purpose, and changed it to surplus, and it was issued later in the shape of stock.

"I took account of these things when deciding 7 per cent. to be a fair rate of return. But the property was there even if the excess charges were made on subscribers to pay for it."

"Was that $4,500,000 in the company's possession at one time?" asked Alderman Jacob A. Hey.

"They changed the bookkeeping, and called it a surplus," replied Prof. Bemis. "Instead of selling more stock they then distributed this surplus in a stock dividend. To be fair to the company, it also reduced the dividend from 10 to 8 per cent., so it paid out about the same total. They may have foreseen the impending investigation. I don't know about that. It also figured that an 8 per cent. dividend would be less likely to attract attention to the company, and invite reduction of rates because it was making too much profit."

Prof. Bemis declared that the company was paying the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Bell parent company, too high a royalty—$1.76 a year on each instrument—while in Wisconsin the State Commission had fixed the rate at 50 cents.

ARBITRATORS SEEK HELP.

Running a Railroad Too Much of a Task for Justice Carter.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Problems involved in arranging the working conditions for 15,000 street railway employes were pronounced by Justice O. N. Carter of the Supreme Court of Illinois more complicated than any he had ever encountered in any lawsuit, either as a lawyer or a Judge.

Justice Carter, who is one of the arbiters in the street railway controversy here, asked that he and his associates be relieved of the task of making time schedules and fixing other details of working conditions, and suggested that the men and their employers get together and work out a plan themselves.

Neither Justice Carter nor Judge Kickham Scanlan, two of the three men on the Arbitration Committee, has ever had any experience in such work. They will confine themselves simply to the question of wages.

INDICTED FOR USING FRANK.

Cincinnati Man Charged with Mailing Letters in Henry George's Name.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 7.—Daniel Kiefer, treasurer of the Joseph Fels Single Tax Fund, was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury on Oct. 8, according to a report to-night by United States District Attorney McPherson.

He was charged with using the frank of Congressman Henry George, Jr., in sending out mail.

JOCKEY SHOT IN QUARREL.

Racing Club Detective's Bullet May Have Fatally Injured McCreary.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—Jenks McCreary, a prominent rider on the race tracks of the country for the last decade, was shot and probably fatally injured in the corridor of a hotel here to-night. Capt. James Jacobs of the Latonia Jockey Club detectives is under arrest, charged with shooting with intent to kill.

In a statement to the police Jacobs admitted shooting McCreary, but contended he only used his gun after having been assaulted by McCreary. Admission to the Latonia track was denied to the latter by the management at the beginning of the present season.

WATER METERS IN HOMES.

Mayor Fears They'd Lead to Economy in Water and Uncleanliness.

Mayor Gaynor wrote to Water Commissioner Thompson yesterday that he was opposed to metering the water supply for dwelling houses and tenements and gave his reasons in these words:

"I do not favor metering water in dwelling houses or tenements. It would lead to an economy of water which would be injurious to the health of the community. Members of the family would refrain from taking baths, for instance, for the sake of economy, or in fear of annoying the head of the house by adding to his expenses.

"I do not think that water should be restricted for household use. Every one in the family should feel free to take a bath at any time. There is no reason why this rule should not apply to dwellings in tenement houses and apartment houses, as well as to single houses."

The Mayor points out that in order to have the charge for water for family use uniform it will be necessary to have a new ordinance or charter amendment, as the present ordinance is old and crude.

MAY TEAR UP TRACKS.

Railway Company Threatens Detroit with Discontinuance of Service.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—The Detroit United Railways to-day replied to the demand of the city officials in regard to vacating the streets upon which franchises have expired by announcing that if the city insisted that the Supreme Court decree be lived up to it would tear up its tracks in Fort Street and let the residents of the Eighteenth Ward walk. Eighty per cent. of the stock of the company is owned in New York. General Manager Frank W. Brooks gave the word to the Aldermen himself.

The city has been charging the railway $300 a day rental for the use of Fort Street and sued to collect what was due. The Supreme Court ruled that the city had the right to control its streets. Recently the Common Council adopted a resolution to the effect that the railway must pay its rent or be evicted.

The railway officials believe that they have the whip hand. The Fort Street line is the only one running into the down-river section. It extends seven miles.

ROAD WINS TICKET CASE.

Service Board Upholds Pennsylvania's Right to Void Part of Coupon.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 7.—H. E. Meyer of Riverton, who some time ago made complaint against the Pennsylvania Railroad because a conductor on that road refused to accept his ticket, since it had been detached, had his case decided against him by the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners, who expressed the opinion that the provisions of transportation companies voiding part of a ticket, or coupon, if detached, was a reasonable rule and regulation and a guard against fraud.

Mr. Meyer bought a ten-day excursion ticket from Riverton to Philadelphia. He missed his train and went by trolley. Later he tendered the excursion ticket intact for his transportation from Philadelphia to Riverton. The conductor accepted the return or contract coupon of the ticket and returned the going coupon.

A few days later Meyer tendered this coupon for transportation from Riverton to Philadelphia and the refusal of the conductor to accept it formed the basis for his complaint.

NINETEEN BLUECOATS TRIED.

Fifteen Fined for Talking on Post—Decision Reserved on Others.

Nineteen policemen, charged with various offenses, were on trial yesterday before Fourth Deputy Commissioner Dillon and Third Deputy Commissioner Walsh at Police Headquarters. Fifteen of them, charged with talking on post by Chief Inspector Schmittberger, who made tours of the city on the nights of Oct. 18 and 26, were fined one and two days' pay by Deputy Commissioner Dillon. In other cases decision was reserved.

Policemen Edmund J. Blaney, Jr., James N. Nolan, and Joseph Henley of the Old Slip Station were charged by J. Arthur Joseph of 25 Bond Street with neglect in not interfering in a fight between four drunken policemen at Exchange Place and William Street between 3:30 and 4 A. M. on Oct. 21. Policeman Blaney, who was on a fixed post, testified that there was no disturbance, and his story was corroborated by janitors and night watchmen of buildings near by. Commissioner Walsh reserved decision.

AUDUBON BANK TRIAL STARTS

Ex-President Mills, Director and Lawyer, Face a Jury.

David S. Mills, President of the Audubon National Bank; Joseph E. Blackburn, a Director of the institution, and Charles Ridgway, a lawyer, of 100 Broadway, were put on trial yesterday in the Federal District Court, before Judge Hough and a jury, on the charge of having misapplied the funds of the bank. The case is unusual, as it is not contended that the Audubon Bank lost any money from the transactions which the Government is attempting to prove to have been illegal.

One of the indictments charges that Mills misapplied more than $49,000 of the bank's money which was paid out on discounted notes for $50,000. Two others involve Blackburn and Ridgway as well as Mills, and take up a transaction with the Keystone Guard Insurance Company, a fraternal organization of Athens, Penn. This company possessed securities of the value of $300,000, and the defendants, it is alleged, schemed to get hold of them.

According to the indictment, Blackburn found that by the payment of $100,000 to the nine Directors of the Keystone Guard Insurance Company, he could get control of the company, and it was arranged that the Directors should stand for re-election, and that Mills, Blackburn, and Ridgway should be placed on the board. To accomplish this, the Government charges, Mills made loans of $25,000 each to the stenographer and auditor of the Audubon Bank, and with this cash he with Blackburn and Ridgway went to Athens. There, it is alleged, the money was divided between the Directors of the Keystone Guard Company and on payment of an extra dollar $100,000 of the securities of that company was handed over to the defendants.

These, the indictments charge, were brought to this city by Ridgway, who sold them, and after paying off the $50,000 loan from the bank, shared the remainder with Mills and Blackburn. It is also alleged that at a later date Mills and his associates obtained another $50,000 of securities from the Athens company, with the result that it went into liquidation and some of its Directors were indicted.

Another charge against Mills is that on Nov. 10, 1910, he converted $7,000 of the Audubon Bank's funds to the use of himself, Blackburn, and Ridgway. Part of this sum, according to the indictment, represented securities held by the bank as collateral on a Blackburn note. They were valued at $12,000, and it is charged that there were substituted for them $20,000 of the bonds of the Montoursville Passenger Railway Company, which had no market value and were not worth more than $3,000.

The Government is represented by District Attorney Wise and Assistant District Attorney Levy. William M. Ivins defends Mills, Senator Edgar T. Brackett Blackburn, and Louis S. Posner Ridgway.

Thomas P. Merriles, auditor of the Audubon Bank, was the first witness, and testified concerning the $25,000 loans to himself and the stenographer and the method of their entry in the books of the bank. The case will continue this morning.

ALLEN JURY DISMISSED.

Had Discussed Case of Virginia Clansman Before Being Drawn.

WYTHEVILLE, Va., Nov. 7.—After a jury had been obtained in the Wythe County Circuit Court here to-day for the trial of Sidna Allen, the Carroll County clansman, charged with the murder of Thornton L. Massie, the defense moved that the jury be dismissed. The prosecution joined in the request, and the court so ordered. Another venire of fifty men will be summoned from Grayson County for examination Monday.

In the examination of prospective jurymen to-day it developed that one of them had discussed the case in the presence of the others, and this was apparently the reason for the motion of the defense to dismiss the jury.

Delegates to Charities Conference.

Mayor Gaynor appointed these delegates yesterday to represent the city at the thirteenth New York Conference of Charities and Correction to be held at Syracuse on Nov. 19, 20, and 21: Michael J. Drummond, Commissioner of Public Charities; Patrick A. Whitney, Commissioner of Correction; Frank S. Gannon, Dr. Leo K. Frankel, Miss Lillian D. Wald, Joseph P. Grace, William M. Rosendale, Dr. Daniel C. Potter, Angus P. Thorne, Mrs. William K. Draper, and Mrs. Walter Shaw Brewster.

JACK JOHNSON HELD IN $30,000 BONDS

Negro Pugilist Indicted in Chicago for Violating the White Slave Law.

MORE CHARGES TO COME

Last Indictment Was in Case of Belle Schreiber, and Lucile Cameron Was a Witness.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury this evening for violation of the Mann act, and he at once was arrested and held in bonds of $30,000 in real estate or $50,000 cash.

Johnson was unable to furnish the real estate bond, and as the banks were closed he could not get the $50,000 in cash.

Judge Landis, who had left court after having fixed the bonds, telephoned that Johnson could leave the money with court officials, and allowed him until midnight to raise the amount of the bond.

Accompanied by deputies Johnson scurried over the city endeavoring to raise the money, and finally succeeded in obtaining the necessary bondsmen.

The indictment against Johnson charges him with transporting Belle Schreiber of Pittsburgh from that city to Chicago for immoral purposes and causing her to be known as "Mrs. Jack Johnson."

That the Government plans several more indictments against the pugilist was confirmed by United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson to-night. Lucile Cameron, the nineteen-year-old Minneapolis girl, whose mother caused the arrest of Johnson several weeks ago, was a witness before the Grand Jury late this afternoon.

An effort was made by Johnson to obtain the release of the Cameron girl, but Judge Landis told Johnson's attorneys that she would not be released on any bail consideration. She is being held as a witness, and the Government fears that if she were released she might again come under the influence of Johnson. She was taken back to Rockford to-night and placed in jail there.

BOYS YEARN TO BE BURGLARS

Attack Safe with Crowbar, Steal Tobacco, and Leave Name Behind.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Nov. 7.—When the office force of the Glasser Grain Company arrived yesterday morning, they found that during the night the safe had been attacked with a crowbar, the knobs of the hinges, the handles and the combination had been pried off, a typewriter had been broken, while drawers and filing cabinets had been rifled. Yet the sum of things taken amounted to only four pipes and two packages of tobacco. One of the burglars had experimented with the typewriter to the extent of writing his name on a piece of paper and leaving it behind him, whether through the inadvertence of inexperience or out of imitative admiration for Arsène Lupin, could only be guessed until the burglars were actually run down in the small but reckless persons of Robert Wright, 10 years old, of 6 Railroad Place, and Herman Scott, 11, of 17 Mechanic Street.

They not only admit the burglary, but confess to three others the same night. They had read of such adventures, and thinking it would be rather nice to have $5,000, they decided to be yeggs. They knew that yeggs used nitro-glycerine or something like that, but they did not know where to get it.

The boys were arrested in school, and will be tried before Judge Swinburne next Wednesday.

TO INDIA FOR THE LORD.

Calls Herself the "Child of Jesus" and Sails on Her Mission.

Among the passengers who sailed yesterday on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie was Miss Anne H. Vreeland of 147 Grant Avenue, Jersey City, who calls herself the "Child of Jesus."

She said she had been designated by the Lord to go to India and found a home for missionaries. Some time ago she wanted to sell property valued at $50,000 in Jersey City to get funds to found this home, and her nephew, Raymond Baylor of 137 Grant Avenue, Jersey City, made an effort to have the courts declare her insane.

Finally her counsel and Baylor's lawyer referred the question of her sanity to Dr. Gordon K. Dickinson, who decided that while she was probably eccentric she was not insane.

About twenty of her friends and followers were at the ship to wish her farewell, and before the vessel sailed they held a prayer meeting in a corridor of the second cabin.

HOW 6,000 LOST THEIR VOTES

Buffalonians Failed to Pull Levers to Record Presidential Choice.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, Nov. 7.—For the first time since voting machines were used in this city they gave no trouble on Election Day because of mechanical defects or difficulties in manipulation, but there were more than 6,000 votes for President lost because of the forgetfulness of voters to pull down the additional pointers that were meant to record the Presidential vote.

Two separate ballots had to be voted, one for the Presidential candidates and the other for the State and county tickets. The first thing a voter did was to pull down his party lever that recorded his vote for the State and county ticket, but not for the Presidential ticket. To vote for President he had to reach below the party lever, but above the State and county ticket, and pull down an extra pointer. This pointer was enameled red, so as to attract attention, but there were 6,321 voters who forgot to do that, imagining that they had voted the entire National, State, and county tickets when they had pulled down the party lever.

That there were so many Presidential votes lost may be seen from the difference in the total vote cast for the Presidential candidates and that cast for the State and county candidates. Thus there were 26,210 votes cast for Wilson, whereas there were 29,736 votes cast for Sulzer; and there were 14,433 votes cast for Taft, whereas there were 17,088 votes cast for Hedges, and there were 20,763 votes cast for Roosevelt, whereas there were 20,908 vots cast for Straus. The total number of votes cast for Wilson, Taft, and Roosevelt was 61,406, and the total number cast for Sulzer, Hedges, and Straus was 67,727, making 6,321 more for the Gubernatorial candidates than for the Presidential candidates, and making each Gubernatorial candidate apparently run ahead of the National ticket.

Everything was done to post the voters as to the fact that pulling the party lever would not record the Presidential vote. The newspapers continually called attention to it, and bills bearing statements to that effect were posted in public places; but for all that more than 6,000 voters failed to express a Presidential choice. It is interesting to note, also, that the Progressives voted their ticket better than the Democrats and Republicans, for only 145 who voted for Straus failed to vote for Roosevelt. There were 2,650 who voted for Hedges who failed to vote for Taft, and there were 3,526 who voted for Sulzer who failed to vote for Wilson.

ROOSEVELT STUDIES RETURNS

Converses Freely with Headquarters by Telephone—A Statement Coming.

OYSTER BAY, Nov. 7.—Col. Roosevelt spent the day to-day quietly at home analyzing the election returns. When he has concluded he will issue a statement outlining the future plans of the Progressive Party and reviewing its accomplishments.

The Colonel holds frequent conversations by telephone with Bull Moose headquarters in New York.

Mail Vote for Kansas Governorship.

TOPEKA, Nov. 7.—The result of the contest for Governor between Arthur Capper, Republican, and George H. Hodges, Democrat, is still in doubt, and will probably be determined by the mail vote, which is expected to total at least 3,000 votes. Under a new law legal voters who are unable to vote at their voting places may cast a ballot in any precinct in which he happens to be on election day, and may have his vote mailed to the County Clerk. The mail votes are not counted until three days after the election.

Unofficial returns give Wilson a plurality of 20,000 and William H. Thompson, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, a lead of 15,000.

ARBITRATION REPORT SOON.

Sub-Committee to Meet in Chicago Nov. 10 to Announce Award.

The sub-committee appointed for that purpose by the Board of Arbitration on the demands of the railroad engineers, will meet in Chicago on Nov. 14, according to present plans, to promulgate the findings and report.

The report was completed at the recent meetings in this city and referred to the Secretary and statisticians to verify the facts and figures used. The sub-committee was named to receive the report of the statisticians, make any necessary corrections and announce the award. It consists of Chairman Charles R. Van Hise, President Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio, representing the railroads, and P. H. Morrissey, representing the engineers.

JURY FINDS FOR A. B. GRAY.

He Had Been Sued for Alienating the Affections of Mrs. Monhaupt.

After an hour's deliberation a jury before Supreme Court Justice McCall returned a verdict yesterday in favor of Augustus B. Gray, formerly Assemblyman from Dutchess County, and Progressive candidate for Congressman in the recent campaign, in the suit brought against him by William F. Monhaupt for alienation of Mrs. Monhaupt's affections.

Mr. Monhaupt, a decorator residing at 1,649 Webster Avenue, the Bronx, based his claim for $5,000 damages upon the allegation that Mr. Gray had induced his wife to leave him for two years, and that previous to her running away he had frequently found the couple drinking together in the basement of his house.

ballot. South Dakota has apparently elected a Republican Legislature, along with the Progressive victory on the Presidential ticket.

West Virginia, which was counted on for a Democratic Senator, has elected a Republican Legislature, and three candidates are already in the field, including Davis Elkins, son of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins, and grandson of Henry Gassaway Davis, a former Democratic Senator and Bryan's running mate in 1896.

New Hampshire shows a Republican majority in the Legislature of sixteen, and that body will elect the Governor, as well as a Senator, none of the candidates having received a majority at the polls.

In Nebraska a Democratic Legislature will elect Representative Norris, Progressive Republican, to the Senate. This result comes from the adoption of the Oregon plan for preferential voting on the Senatorship at the polls, under which Senator Chamberlain, a Democrat, was elected by a Republican Legislature in Oregon two years ago.

There is no longer any doubt of the defeat of Gov. Stubbs of Kansas for the Senate by Thompson, the Democratic candidate, whose plurality grew as the late returns came in.

Wyoming was also in the doubtful class on the Senatorship, but late returns assured the election of a Republican Legislature and the re-election of Senator Warren, as avowed standpatter.

In Minnesota the victory of Senator Knute Nelson continued to grow, and with only one-third of the precincts reported his lead was 110,000.

In Oregon, Lane, Democrat, has an indicated plurality of 2,000, and in North Dakota the Republican victory is confirmed.

Mixed Results in Tennessee.

In Tennessee the result is mixed and it is impossible to predict the result on the Senatorship. A majority is claimed by the "regular Democratic" faction, but there seems no doubt that there will be a majority against ex-Gov. Patterson, the Senatorial candidate of the "regular Democrats." On the other hand the "independent Democrats" and Republicans say they will jointly control the Legislature and that an "independent Democrat" will be chosen to the Senate.

Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Col. Roosevelt's son-in-law, who stuck to the Republican Party, has apparently been defeated by the presence of a Progressive candidate in the field in his district in Cincinnati. At first it was believed that he had managed to pull through, but returns last night showed his Democratic opponent, Stanley Bowdle, ahead by 85, with practically all the precincts accounted for. Mr. Longworth does not concede his defeat.

Cannon Evidently Beaten.

Ex-Speaker Cannon and W. B. McKinley, manager of Taft's pre-convention campaign, have apparently had the same experience, as they were at first thought to have been elected by small pluralities in their Illinois districts, but now are almost certainly beaten.

As the fag ends of the ballots are counted, fresh evidences of a great gain in the Socialist vote come to hand from scattered parts of the country. In San Francisco, where the labor element has long been strong in politics, the Socialist vote is trebled over 1908, and in Los Angeles, where the McNamara case has been a disturbing element, it is quadrupled. The total Socialist vote in California so far counted is 63,000 and will be increased by later returns. In 1908 the total was 28,000. The Socialist vote for members of Congress and the Legislature is greater in the aggregate than that for Debs.

In agricultural Iowa the count of the Socialist vote shows that it has nearly doubled in four years.

In Ohio the Socialist vote ran close to 100,000, and in Cuyahoga and Lucas counties the Socialists claim a greater vote for Debs than that cast for Taft. Four years ago Debs's total in the State was 33,000. Their gain in Cincinnati, President Taft's home, was 6,000 over 1908.

In this State the counting of the ballots has got around to the referendum authorizing the issue of $50,000,000 bonds for highway improvement, and the returns so far received indicate its adoption by a plurality of 350,000.

GEN. MENOCAL TO VISIT US.

President-elect of Cuba to be in Washington Before His Inauguration.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Gen. Menocal, the Conservative President-elect of Cuba, will visit the United States this Spring before taking his oath of office. This announcement was made to-day by John Barrett, the Director General of the Pan-American Union. Mr. Barrett added that the Pan-American Society of the United States, an organization including in its membership many prominent citizens of all the Republics in the Western Hemisphere, would probably give a dinner and reception in New York in honor of Gen. Menocal.

In making this announcement Mr. Barrett applied to the American people for fair consideration of Cuba's claims for international equality.

HAVANA, Nov. 7.—The leading Zayistas, at a conference to-day, decided to convene a National Liberal Assembly on Nov. 23 for the purpose of taking steps to dispute the legality of the election of Gen. Mario Menocal as President. The advisability of the resignation of all Liberals now holding elective offices or recently elected will also be considered.

THEY DON'T LIKE NEW YORK.

Little Runaways from Boston Say There's More to Eat at Home.

Two little boys were found by a policeman at daybreak yesterday shivering under some pipes in a trench at Chambers Street and Broadway. They confessed readily enough that they were runaways. They said they were Joseph Foley, 14 years old, and John Hoar, 13 years old, of Boston. The oldest boy said they had not had anything to eat since Tuesday morning. They had read a lot about New York and wanted to see the city. On Sunday they purchased tickets for Providence. They got there in time to spend their last few cents purchasing crackers and to stow away on the boat for this city. They arrived here Tuesday morning, and until they were found they had wandered, hungry and wretched, about the city.

They were turned over to the Children's Society, and in the Children's Court yesterday Justice Mayo held them in the care of the society until their parents can send for them.

"We want to go back, and we never want to see New York again," said Joe Foley as they were taken from the courtroom. "There's lots of big houses here, but there's more good things to eat at home."

QUICK TRIALS IN BROOKLYN.

Devlin Convicted of Manslaughter in a Few Hours.

In less than five minutes a jury was selected and the first witness called in a murder trial yesterday before Justice Crane in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. Patrick Devlin was the accused. He quarreled with Michael Tierney, Thomas Watson, and Harry Mayfield at 82 Adams Street on Sept. 12, and stabbed all three. Tierney died.

After the prosecution finished its side of the case, Justice Crane ordered the indictment charging the prisoner with murder in the first degree changed to a charge of murder in the second degree. Mrs. Devlin, who lived apart from her husband, was in the company of the three men when her husband called to visit her at the Adams Street address. She testified that he fought in self-defense.

The trial began in the morning session, and took up less time than that of George Bishop, a colored chauffeur, whose trial was regarded as a record for speed in Kings County. He was tried and convicted of murder in the first degree on Monday for killing Mrs. Margaret Ball, 80 years old. In the case of Devlin, the jury after deliberating an hour returned a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree with a recommendation for clemency.

Nine of the jurors in this case were on the Bishop jury. They are part of a panel of talesmen called for jury duty for one week in Part VII., Criminal Term of the Supreme Court, where Justice Crane is sitting this month.

POLICEMAN SHOOTS HIS WIFE.

Revolver Goes Off Accidentally While He Is Cleaning It.

Apparently unaccustomed to handling firearms, Policeman John L. Sullivan of the West Forty-seventh Street Station, a recruit on the force and still attending the Police School of Instruction, was cleaning his revolver in the kitchen of his home, 1,672 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, yesterday, when the gun went off, and the bullet hit his wife, Florence, who was standing beside him.

Mrs. Sullivan was shot in the stomach. She was removed to St. Mary's Hospital. In an ante-mortem statement to Coroner Edward Glinnon she exonerated her husband of all blame.

"It was all an accident," she said. "Please don't blame John for this. He didn't mean it. I was standing near him when the gun went off."

Notwithstanding Mrs. Sullivan's plea for her husband, Capt. Wohlfarth of the Atlantic Avenue Station decided to arrest him on a charge of felonious assault. Sullivan was overcome with grief, and kept asking for his wife. She is 23 years old.

ARE you paying "retail rent" for a wholesale location? There are few things more wasteful in business—a machine shop on upper Fifth Avenue would begin to lose money the day its wheels commenced to turn.

The retailer buys accessibility to his consumers, and landlords haven't overlooked his necessity.

The manufacturer or the wholesaler can wander far afield, providing he has a supply of labor and adequate shipping facilities.

BUSH TERMINAL has solved the problem for the manufacturer and the wholesaler by providing a model industrial city on New York Harbor—where there are cars enough and ships enough to handle the biggest transportation demand that might arise in any business.

The Man in the Tower on What Jones Has

Jones's clothes always look better than your own. Have you noticed it?

His hat, his cravat and his shoes seem to fit his personality right down to the ground—you admire them.

Why?

Because they DO fit his personality. After all, it is Jones's personality that you admire.

If his apparel did not fit his personality like a glove he would not be Jones.

You have your Jones—who is he?

If he is one of those New York men whose good judgment follows him home from the office—

If he is the Jones who knows clothes and haberdashery and hats like he knows New York real estate—

If he is the same Jones whose outward appearance is a reflection of his inner regard for the best things on Manhattan Island—

Then he is OUR friend Jones. Let's get acquainted.

Weber and Heilbroner's clothes are made particularly for Jones—of New York.

They are made as nearly like the best custom-made clothes of New York as it is possible to make them—in both material and tailoring.

Suits, $20 to $40.

ILLINOIS SWITCHES TO WILSON COLUMN

Plurality of the Democratic Candidate Over Roosevelt Is Already More Than 15,000.

TALK OF SENATORSHIP DEAL

Democratic and Republican Leaders Have Plan to Elect One of Each Party, Baffling Progressives.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Illinois has landed safely in the Wilson column and the plurality for the Democratic candidate is already at 15,042, an increase of over 5,000 from early evening.

The vote, with 130 precincts missing, stood: Wilson, 396,208; Roosevelt, 386,591, and Taft, 248,702.

The vote in Cook County was: Roosevelt, 176,480; Wilson, 138,223, and Taft, 79,924. In the 2,658 precincts out of 2,788 outside of Cook, the vote was: Wilson, 261,265; Roosevelt, 213,511, and Taft, 170,373.

Edward F. Dunne, (Dem.,) leads for Governor by a plurality of 110,654, with 202 precincts to hear from. The counties outside of Cook gave Dunne, 245,181; Deneen, 188,543, and Funk, 169,451. Cook County totals were; Dunne, 161,112; Deneen, 107,096, and Funk, 108,435.

That the Democratic and Republican leaders will make a deal whereby James H. Lewis (Dem.) will be elected to the United States Senate for the long term, succeeding Cullom, and Lawrence Y. Sherman, Republican, to the short term, succeeding Lorimer, is the talk in political circles here to-night.

This scheme is built on the assumption that the Republicans and Democrats must combine on a legislative programme if anything is to be accomplished, in view of the strategic position occupied by the Progressives.

The latter seem to think the Republicans and Democrats cannot get together and that one or the other of the old parties will be forced to accept their terms, if two United States Senators are to be elected. It is to defeat this obstructive programme that the Democratic and Republican leaders are planning an alliance.

Should the agreement be made the Democrats would take the long-term Senatorship and the Republicans the short-term. In electing Lewis and Sherman they would be carrying out the will of the people, as registered in direct primary last April.

California Is Still Very Close.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—The vote of Wilson and Roosevelt is running very close in the State, so far as the actual returns received are concerned, and the result is still in doubt, although, as the 135 missing precincts are in Northern California, they are expected to be favorable to Wilson.

A late correction in the Los Angeles figures by County Clerk Leland at 11 o'clock to-night again wiped out Wilson's narrow lead in California and put Roosevelt ahead by 130 votes.

The figures are: Precincts heard from, 4,237 out of 4,372; Wilson, 280,125; Roosevelt, 280,255. Roosevelt's lead, 130. It is now believed that the vote will be so close that California may send a split Electoral vote to Washington.

A discrepancy in the Los Angeles County tallies led both Democratic and Progressive leaders to appeal to-day to the County Clerk for a recount. It resulted in adding nearly 6,000 votes to the Roosevelt column, giving Roosevelt a temporary lead of about 500 in the State.

The large gains made by the Socialists in the State is one of the striking features of the election. The San Francisco Socialist vote is about treble that of four years ago. The Los Angeles vote has nearly quadrupled.

With the vote of the State only about nine-tenths in, the Socialist total thus far reported is 63,000 for President, as against 28,659 in 1908.

Kent has been re-elected to Congress in the First District, thus giving the Progressives five, the Democrats two, and the Republicans four.

Oregon for Wilson by 12,000.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 7.—Wilson's plurality over Roosevelt in Oregon will be about 12,000. Lane, (Dem.,) for Senator, will win by 2,000 votes.

Woman suffrage is carried by about 5,000.

Wilson's Nebraska Lead 31,000.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 7.—With returns from three-fourths of the counties, Wilson's plurality in Nebraska is 31,000. The remaining counties should make it nearly 40,000. The Republican State Committee claims both branches of the Legislature, but returns on the House are too incomplete to justify assertions either way.

The Democratic Legislature will be called upon to elect a Republican for United States Senator. Ninety-five per cent. of the candidates for the Legislature, in accordance with the Oregon plan, signed "Statement No. 1," which provides that, in the event of election, they will vote for the candidate for United States Senator who obtains the preference vote of the people.

Although Congressman Norris, a Progressive Republican, has won the preference vote, returns indicate that a Democratic Legislature has been elected.

Roosevelt Gains in Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Roosevelt's plurality over Wilson in Pennsylvania took another jump to-night upon the completion of the count in additional counties. Including estimates from 116 missing districts in Allegheny County, Roosevelt's plurality now stands 44,311. The official count, it is believed, will send the Roosevelt plurality to about 50,000. The complete vote, so far as computed is: Roosevelt, 428,570; Wilson, 384,259; Taft, 269,166.

Wilson's Lead in Iowa Grows.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 7.—Practically complete returns from all but five of the 99 counties continue to increase the plurality of Woodrow Wilson. The figures are: Wilson, 169,162; Roosevelt, 149,540; Taft, 111,084. Wilson's plurality, 19,622. The Legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican, assuring the re-election of United States Senator Kenyon.

Leads for Governorship by 49.

Special to The New York Times.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 7.—Taft is now running about 500 behind Wilson, who has probably carried the State by 250 to 300. The Republicans now claim a majority of three in the State Senate and one in the House, insuring the re-election of Senator Francis E. Warren. Two doubtful counties may change this lead.

Official count will be necessary to determine the Governorship. Unofficial returns from 98 of the 99 counties give Clarke, Republican, 176,182, and E. G. Dunn, Democrat, 176,099. A reported Dunn plurality of 37 in the missing (Harrison) County reduces the Clarke plurality to 49 votes.

Michigan for Suffrage by 6,000.

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—State officials have given up hope of knowing before Tuesday the fate of the State ticket as a whole. Many districts have reported that the election boxes were sealed before the returns for State officials below Governor were computed. For the same reason the Wilson-Taft fight for second place may not be decided until the vote is officially canvassed.

The equal suffrage amendment was adopted by upward of 6,000.

Wisconsin Re-elects McGovern.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 7.—Gov. Francis E. McGovern, Republican, will have a plurality of at least 5,000 votes over John C. Karel, Democrat, according to returns received by the Republican State Chairman. The few additional returns received to-day do not alter Wilson's lead in Wisconsin. His estimated plurality is 20,000 to 30,000.

N. H. Legislature Republican.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7.—Complete returns give the Republicans 21 majority on join ballot in the Legislature, which will elect a Governor and a United States Senator. The vote for President was: Taft, 32,964; Wilson, 34,743; Roosevelt, 17,802; Chafin, 1,351; Debs, 1,640.

West Virginia Adopts Prohibition.

WHEELING, West Va., Nov. 7.—Wilson's plurality over Roosevelt will be about 30,000 in West Virginia, and Hatfield, Republican, is elected Governor by about 15,000 plurality over Thompson, Democrat. The Republican legislative majority will be twenty, which insures the election of a Republican United States Senator.

The prohibition amendment was carried by 65,000 to 75,000. This stops the liquor traffic in West Virginia on July 1, 1914.

HADLEY EXPECTED TO RUN WITH TAFT

Meets President—Gives Washington Impression He Will Take Second Place.

MIGHT BE GOOD POLITICS

12 Votes for Republican Candidates—President Sees Much Work Ahead.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Gov. Hadley of Missouri arrived in Washington this morning on the same train with the President, talked with him in the afternoon for an hour, and departed early this evening, leaving the impression that he would accept the Republican Vice Presidential nomination if it were tendered. Gov. Hadley, like the White House attachés, denied that he had discussed the Vice Presidential situation with the President, insisting that he came to the capital on legal business. But as he prepared to go to his train this evening he declared his unbroken faith in the Republican Party as an instrument of public good, and that is taken as practically committing him to accept the party's nomination if it comes to him.

Gov. Hadley boarded the President's train at Harrisburg without knowing, he said, that Mr. Taft was aboard. They met this morning, however, on leaving the train at the Union Station, and President Taft invited the Governor to call. When the call was made, late this afternoon at the White House, it was said that it was simply a call of respect. Meanwhile the Governor had breakfasted with Secretary Nagel, who is from Missouri, and lunched with Huntington Wilson, Assistant Secretary of State, whose family he knows socially.

While the Governor's declaration of faith in the Republican Party is construed as an unmistakable sign that he will accept the nomination if the National Committee gives it to him when it meets in Chicago on Nov. 12, it was evident to those who talked with him that he is still troubled as to the possible effect of his acceptance upon his political career. When in Chicago Gov. Hadley was, next to Col. Roosevelt, the dominating Progressive. He seems now still uncertain as to how his acceptance of a nomination on President Taft's ticket will be regarded by his friends.

The Governor is only 40 years old, and the impression here is that his acceptance of the Vice Presidential nomination in the hour of the party's distress would put him in line for serious consideration four years hence. That reasoning has also apparently influenced Senator La Follette of Wisconsin in remaining with the party, while his friends were allowed to vote for Gov. Wilson. Gov. Hadley never had any affiliations with the Wisconsin radical, and it is suggested that he counts upon Mr. La Follette's unpopularity with the leaders of the party should it come to a fight between them for the nomination in 1916.

Indications are that the Republican candidates for President and Vice President will receive the twelve Electoral votes of Idaho, Utah and Vermont.

Mops and pails were in evidence in and about the White House early to-day, and the finishing touches were put upon the historic building in readiness for the return of President and Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft. The President came in from Cincinnati before the arrival of the others of his family, and his coming was the signal for the disappearance of the cleaning squad. Everything was in readiness for his reception.

With the return of Mrs. and Miss Taft the official social season soon will be under way. Mrs. Taft has been absent from the White House since June, with the exception of a brief visit in August. Coincidental with the reopening of the White House, the members of President Taft's official family are also returning to the capital.

Mr. Taft found a grist of routine waiting his return and some special things to look after. There was a Thanksgiving proclamation to be issued, a commission on industrial relations, authorized by the last session of Congress, to be appointed; a successor to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, as Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, to be chosen, and a new Commissioner of Indian Affairs to be appointed to succeed Robert G. Valentine.

Most important of all the work waiting for the President is his annual message to Congress. This will probably be sent as one document, instead of in sections, as last year. Possibilities of an extra session are discussed with animation every where in Washington. Many Democrats are convinced that there will be one.

Special to The New York Times.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 7.—It became known late to-night that there is a movement on foot to place Senator Newell Sanders of Chattanooga on the ticket with President Taft as the successor to the late Vice President Sherman. It is believed that a large number of the members of the National Committee favor him for the honor.

Senator Sanders could not be reached to-night, and his attitude in the matter is not known. It is stated that the Southern members of the committee are solid for the Senator, and that Senator Bradley of Kentucky is urging his selection.

Friends of Senator Sanders in this city state that he would accept the nomination in case Gov. Hadley of Missouri should decline and it should be offered to him.

RAILROAD BAITERS ELECTED.

Kindel of Colorado and Manahan of Minnesota Are Vigorous Fighters.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Among the interesting characters elected to the new House of Representatives are two who have already won fame of a kind for their unique methods in fighting the transportation lines. One is George J. Kindel (Dem.) of Colorado, the other is James Manahan of Minnesota.

Mr. Kindel's campaign issue was his assertion that he had practically put Denver on the commercial map by his fight for better railroad rates. He used cartoons as a feature of his campaign literature. These for the most part pictured him in the act of "swatting" railroads, kicking high rates, and pulling prosperity out of secret places.

Mr. Manahan, who was indorsed by the Republicans and Progressives, has been conspicuous as an attorney in battles against the railroads. He represented the Minnesota shippers before the Minnesota Railway and Warehouse Commission in a case which became the famous "commodity rate" suit before the Federal Supreme Court.

$25,000 POLICY FOR COLONEL.

And The Outlook Took Out $100,000 Accident Insurance on Roosevelt.

That Col. Roosevelt carried an accident policy for $25,000 at the time he was shot in Milwaukee and that it was still in force became known yesterday when The Outlook Company issued a statement denying a story in The New York Commercial that an accident insurance company had reduced a $25,000 policy which the Colonel carried to $2,500, when the political campaign became too warm and the Colonel was being attacked on all sides. According to the statement. The Outlook Company took out an accident policy for $100,000 for the Colonel, but it was soon after canceled by the company. On June 14, 1912, according to the statement, a policy of $25,000 was issued, and it is still in force. This is the statement:

"The facts relative to the accident policy for Mr. Roosevelt referred to in The New York Commercial of Nov. 7 are very simple, but not in accord with the statement in that paper. On April 20, 1912, on its own responsibility, but with the purpose of protecting Mr. Roosevelt and his family, The Outlook took out an accident policy of $100,000 for Mr. Roosevelt, paying the premium for one year. On May 2 the full premium was returned by the company, and the policy was canceled by the company in accordance with the provision recorded in the policy itself. The reason for the cancellation stated by the company was that they found it impracticable to reinsure the risk, as is customary in policies of this size. A little later, namely, on June 14, a policy of $25,000 was issued by the Casualty Company of America, which policy is still in force. No indemnity has so far been paid."

CONGRATULATE SULZER.

Telegrams of congratulation upon his election from prominent men in all walks of life, from all sections of the country, and from men of different political belief have been pouring in upon Gov.-elect Sulzer for the past two days.

Among those who sent messages were Justice Charles E. Hughes, Champ Clark, W. J. Bryan, Eugene N. Foss, Oscar W. Underwood, Norman E. Mack, Ollie M. James, United States Senator James A. O'Gorman, George Foster Peabody, Alton B. Parker, Chauncey M. Depew, Thomas M. Osborne, and Elbridge T. Gerry.

WILSON PLEASES MEXICO.

Madero Ministers Expect Him to Continue Policy of Non-Intervention.

From a Special Correspondent of the Central News Ltd., London.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7.—The election of Woodrow Wilson as President of the United States is viewed with keen satisfaction in Government circles, where he is looked upon as a man of conservative type who will continue the policy of non-intervention pursued by President Taft. Mexicans in both official and private life are particularly well pleased with the defeat of Roosevelt, as they feared that his aggressive policies might disturb the relations now existing between Mexico and the United States.

Ernesto Madero, Minister of Finance, last night dictated the following comment upon the election of Mr. Wilson:

"Woodrow Wilson is regarded as one of your most conspicuous Democrats. He is a man of strong convictions, cultured and upright. It is natural to infer that his administration, inspired by the principles of the party he represents, will continue existing relations with all friendly nations, especially Mexico. If he cultivates the relations of mutual cordiality and respect now existing, he cannot fail to augment materially the harmony already reigning between our two Republics.

"The American people have always distinguished themselves by their discretion in choosing their executive head. I am justified, therefore, in inferring that Mr. Wilson, their choice for the Presidency by such an overwhelming vote, is a statesman possessed of the highest qualifications, and that he will discharge his important obligations satisfactorily.

"As for my country, the indubitable election of Mr. Wilson is viewed with pleasure. He is regarded as a man of democratic ideas, who will respect the rights of others."

Pedro Lascurain, Foreign Minister, expressed similar gratification over the outcome of the election. He said:

"The Government of Mexico views with genuine satisfaction the results of the Presidential election, and feels assured that the newly chosen President will prove another such friend of Mexico as Mr. Taft unmistakably has been. Mr. Wilson's poise and his high reputation as an author of works on the theory of Government and political economy augur well for the future relations between the United States and Mexico."

Herman Ridder Spent $7,010 as Elector; James Shevlin $2,625.

ALBANY, Nov. 7.—Herman Ridder of New York, a Democratic Presidential Elector at Large, to-day certified to the Secretary of State that he spent $7,010 in the course of the campaign. He contributed $1,248 to the Democratic National Committee.

The following Democratic Presidential Electors also filed statements of expenses: James Shevlin, Kings, $2,625; Henry P. Burgard, Erie, $1,250; John P. Bowman, Monroe, $400; Bernard Suydam, Queens, $535.

Former Assemblyman Beverly R. Robinson of New York, a Republican Presidential Elector, certified that he spent $25.

Ernest Cawcroft of Chautauqua, the National Progressive candidate for State Treasurer, filed a statement showing that he spent $525.52.

CANAL ZONE FOR ROOSEVELT.

Colonel Led the Poll, with Wilson Second, Debs Third, Taft Fourth.

COLON, Panama, Nov. 7.—The Progressives came out well on top of the poll for the Presidential elections in the Canal Zone.

The figures were: Roosevelt, 1,026; Wilson, 782; Debs, 440; Taft, 106; Chafin, 71.

Restricted Sale of Men's Winter Overcoats

Only a limited number of them because, as is obvious, such things as Profits are rather microscopic with direct Reductions from $30 and $35 to $22.50.

A cut in price which means to YOU actual Savings of $7.50 to $12.50.

As to the coats, the strongest recommendation we can give them is to say that they are the very same coats that made the bigness of our Election Day business a real surprise to us.

They're overcoats appealing most of all to those men whose preference it is to appear a bit different from the other chap. Fancy coats—all of them. Strikingly handsome Scotch Raglans with silk lined sleeves. Distinguished looking single-breasted Chesterfields. Double-breasted belted coats. Each and every one lined and trimmed as becomes their worth, and although sufficiently thick and warm for the coldest day, yet light enough in weight to insure ease and solid comfort.

No man who knows Clothes and the Values thereof can attend this sale and find himself disappointed.

BULL MOOSERS FEEL JUBILANT AT RESULT

Democrats, However, Are to Keep Pace with Progressive Plans of Continued Agitation.

COMMITTEES TO KEEP GOING

McCombs Is Said to be Assured a Cabinet Place, but He Won't Say —Republican Wreck.

It has now been decided definitely that the Democratic campaign of education will go on, even though a Democratic landslide has given such abundant evidence that a large majority of the voters have turned from their old Republican ways.

William F. McCombs, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, announced yesterday that the committee would maintain permanent headquarters in this city and in Washington during the four years intervening before another Presidential election. J. C. Hammond, who has had charge of the publicity work in the Wilson campaign, is being discussed for a supervisory position at the important New York headquarters.

Chairman McCombs said yesterday that in all probability he would call a meeting of the Democratic National Committee within the next two weeks for the purpose of having the committee pass on the plan for a permanent headquarters.

Mr. McCombs, according to recent reports from Washington, is being considered for a place in President Wilson's cabinet.

"I am not at liberty at the present time to say anything on the subject," said Mr. McCombs.

The National Progressive Party within a few days will open permanent headquarters for its State and National Committees in an office building uptown. This was decided by United States Senator Joseph M. Dixon of Montana, National Bull Moose Chairman, after a conference with Col. Roosevelt, and some of the other Progressive leaders.

In the midst of disaster the Colonel's friends yesterday were putting on a cheerful countenance. The mere fact that the Progressive propaganda was instrumental in making out of Republican defeat a veritable rout seems to fill the Bull Moose managers with more glee than the Democrats display as a result of their overwhelming victory. One vital consequence of the Republican wreck will be the entry in the field political of the Progresives as a full-fledged party, second in the size of its vote, in every State in the Union except Utah, Wyoming, New Hampshire, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts. In all other States the Republicans will be the third party.

"It is my belief," said Senator Dixon, "that we have elected as many members to the next House as the Republicans. The four Congressmen at large in Pennsylvania, for instance, while they were running as Republicans, are pronounced Progressives. The same is true in North Dakota, Kansas, and other States of the Middle West. We will have a complete and separate organization in the next House of Representatives."

Senator Dixon will submit to the National Progressive Committee, when it meets in Chicago on Dec. 10, complete plans for a permanent Progressive propaganda during the coming four years."

HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE WINS.

Proposition to Spend $50,000,000 Carried by at Least 350,000.

ALBANY, Nov. 7.—Scattering unofficial returns from up-State counties received in Albany indicate that the proposal to bond the State for an additional $50,000,000 to continue the work of improving the highways was adopted at Tuesday's election. Frank D. Lyon, Secretary of the New York State Automobile Association, estimates that the proposition was carried by at least 350,000.

Monroe County is reported to have favored the bond issue by more than 10,000. In Franklin the majority was 7,000, in Broome 4,000, Chemung 4,000, Yates 1,200.

The official returns will not be filed with the Secretary of State until the ballots have been tabulated by the canvassing boards in the various counties.

ELKINS MAY BE U. S. SENATOR

Covets Father's Old Seat and Seems to Have Earned Reward.

Friends of Davis Elkins in New York hailed the late returns from West Virginia with joy, as they showed that the twenty-three-day United States Senator had a good chance of attaining the ambition he made known several months ago of getting back to Washington for a full term in the seat his father, Stephen B. Elkins, occupied so long. While West Virginia went for Wilson, the amended returns showed that the Legislature had gone Republican by a comfortable majority.

Senator Elkins has been in New York this Fall very little, whereas he usually is to be found here every week or so. According to politicians who have been dropping in at the Waldorf from time to time, the election result was such a foregone conclusion that the older Republicans, men like ex-Senator Nathan B. Scott, believed it was useless to put up a stiff fight, and the men who had been in the habit of putting up handsomely for the Republican local campaign were a little slack in furnishing the usual sinews of war.

"It's no use, Dave," some of them said to Senator Elkins, who is only about thirty-seven, "this is a Democratic year. You can't win, and we had just as well take the licking, for it's coming."

But Senator Elkins's grandfather, ex-Senator Henry Gassaway Davis, though now 87 and a Democrat, was greatly interested in the candidacy of his grandson. Then the latter's sister, Miss Katharine Elkins, happened to be just as ambitious for her brother as he was for himself, and they lent their active support. Since he got out of the Senate Mr. Elkins has been sticking hard at business, and had enlarged his local acquaintance. Then, as President of the Morgantown & Kingwood Railroad, he has been traveling about actively, and when the campaign started he got active in that.

Of course, Senator Clarence Watson, who was elected for a short two-year term, has been a candidate to succeed himself, and has taken an active part in the Democratic campaign. He has not only plenty of money, but he is said to have manifested considerable political skill, and to old stagers in the Republican camp it looked a sure thing that the Legislature would be Democratic up to the very eve of the election. But Senator Elkins and Virgil Highland, the Chairman of the Advisory Committee to the State Committee, had hopes. Money was scarce. The National Committee could do nothing adequate to meet the situation, and the day before election things looked dark for Mr. Elkins's aspirations.

But he and Mr. Highland wouldn't give up, and the story told by one close to them yesterday was that the two determined to make a concentrated effort upon certain counties in the State that were known to be close on the day before the election. Means were not wanting, and on that day speakers and spellbinders, armed with eloquence and literature, descended in an avalanche upon centres of population in those counties, and then went to the mines and harangued the men.

The first news seemed to indicate that the Legislature had followed the way of the National election, but later returns showed a majority for the Republican ticket, which increased until it proved to be of fair size. Then his friends hailed Davis Elkins as the probable choice on a joint ballot to succeed Senator Watson.

TAFT SEES PROSPERITY.

President in Thanksgiving Proclamation Says We Have Cause for Gratitude.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Taft to-day issued this Thanksgiving proclamation, setting aside Nov. 28 for the observance of the day:

> A God-fearing Nation, like ours, owes it to its inborn and sincere sense of moral duty to testify its devout gratitude to the All-giver for the countless benefits it has enjoyed. For many years it has been customary at the close of the year for the National Executive to call upon his fellow-countrymen to offer praise and thanks to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed to them in the past, and to unite in earnest suppliance for their continuance.
>
> The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortunate land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamities that have afflicted other peoples, rich in harvests so abundant, and in industries so productive, that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world; strong in the steadfast conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers, and firm in the resolve to transmit that heritage unimpaired, but rather improved by good use, to our children and our children's children for all time to come, the people of this country have abounding cause for contented gratitude.
>
> Wherefore I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, in pursuance of long-established usage, and in response to the wish of the American people, invite my countrymen, wheresoever they may sojourn, to join on Thursday, the 28th day of this month of November, in appropriate ascription of praise and thanks to God for the good gifts that have been our portion, and in humble prayer that His great mercies toward us may endure.

The proclamation was signed by the President "in the one hundred and thirty-seventh year of the Independence of the United States of America."

PROGRESSIVE PARTY CAN'T CLAIM OFFICES

Wilson, Following Usual Rule, Will Determine Minority Members of Non-Partisan Boards.

CLASSIFIED SERVICE SECURE

Government Clerks Confident That There Will Be No Sweep — Many Changes Certain in House

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—That there will be comparatively few changes in the personnel of the Government service as the result of Wilson's election, is the general belief here.

Incidentally, the assumptions of Progressive Party leaders, as expressed in certain statements, that the Roosevelt contingent will get the minority representation on non-partisan boards and commissions, seem to have no basis.

Examination of the laws and precedents bearing on such appointments shows that the lawmakers, in creating non-partisan boards and commissions, usually make no provision for the selection of members from minority parties. The general rule has been simply to direct that not more than a majority of these boards and commissions shall be selected from one party, nothing being said from what party or parties the minority shall be chosen. In accordance with this, President Wilson would be free in most cases to select minority members from any of the minority parties.

With reference to places in the classified service and those to which the President appoints, Government clerks here express confidence that they will not be molested. The feeling seems to be that the country is firmly committed to the principle of security in office for employes.

Changes in House Committees.

Although Democratic control of the House of Representatives by an increased majority is assured, many changes in the important House committees in the next Congress will be necessary.

The Ways and Means Committee, which will shape into bills the tariff policies of the Wilson administration, was riddled by the election. Of the fourteen Democrats on the committee four will not return. Hughes of New Jersey and James of Kentucky go to the Senate. Randell of Texas and Brantley of Georgia are retired. Of the seven Republicans on the committee John Dalzell of Pennsylvania and Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts were not candidates at the polls, and Ebenezer Hill of Connecticut, James C. Needham of California, and Nicholas Longworth of Ohio were beaten. Sereno E. Payne of New York and Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan are the only Republicans left.

The election of Representative Sulzer as Governor of New York leaves the Chairmanship of the Foreign Affairs Committee vacant. Flood of Virginia is ranking member, but he declined the Chairmanship two years ago to accept the Territories Committee. Either he or Garner of Texas is expected to get the place.

The Banking and Currency Committee, investigating the so-called Money Trust, will be without a head, Representative Pujo of Louisiana having retired. Representative Carter Glass of Virginia is the ranking member.

WEST NOT SURPRISED.

And Election Hubbub Didn't Affect Business, Says Missouri Pacific Head.

B. F. Bush, President of the Missouri Pacific and of the Denver & Rio Grande, said yesterday at the Plaza that he did not believe the result of the election had surprised anybody in the Southwest and Middle West.

"It does not seem to me that the election has had any effect on business this Fall, or will have soon," said Mr. Bush. "The markets are good, and crops have been excellent from the time of last Spring's early fruits and vegetables to the grain crops, which are enormous. This has meant a lot of money in the pockets of the producers, and the money has to be spent. There has not been a great surplus of stock in the stores, and, of course, the merchants must buy before they can sell. I look forward to the future with great confidence. We shall go right along steadily, and there will be no upheaval. I have never seen an election that had so little effect on business as the one just over."

FORESAW WILSON'S ELECTION

His Teacher Predicted It When He Was Ten Years Old.

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 7.—John C. Baker of Manhattan was the happiest man in Will County over the election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency because of a prediction made by his sister, Mrs. Mary Russell, more than forty years ago.

Mrs. Russell was Wilson's teacher when he was ten years old in Tileston School in Wilmington, S. C., and at that time predicted that the boy would some day be President. She did not live to see her prophecy fulfilled, dying three years ago at Leesville, N. C., at the age of 84.

As a token of his esteem Wilson gave his teacher a little fretwork picture frame which is now in the Baker home. Mrs. Russell watched Dr. Wilson grow to fame, and with each advance changed the picture in the frame. When she gave the frame to her brother, she remarked: "You will want to keep this, for when he gets to be President you will be very proud of it."

Mr. Baker says that Gov. Wilson's father, the Rev. Joseph Wilson, visited him at Manhattan when his son published his first book, and said: "Well, I don't see where Woodrow gets his smartness."

DETERMINED TO BEAT MOOSE.

So Republicans Voted for Wilson, Says Francis B. Gessner.

Frances B. Gessner, who is said to know Ohio and West Virginia politics better than anybody who ever talked on the subject in the Waldorf or the Willard in Washington, reappeared in his familiar haunts at the Waldorf yesterday after a long absence. He has been working for the Republican National Committee in the two States, and he had a theory as to what had taken place in them.

"It was the fear of Roosevelt," said Mr. Gessner, who was formerly a Washington correspondent, in stating the cause. "There was no sentiment in those States for Wilson. It was just a Roosevelt hoodoo that was working. I heard lots of Republicans announce publicly that they were going to vote for the Democratic candidate just because they wanted to be sure of knocking Roosevelt out, and predict this will be found to be the case everywhere when the vote is analyzed.

"In Ohio the Republicans started badly. There was the mix-up with regard to the State ticket. Judge Dillon would not stand after being nominated, and Gen. R. B. Brown was put forward. There was a hitch of some kind or other coming up all through the campaign. The State campaign was well conducted by Harry Dougherty, the Chairman, but the hoodoo was too strong to overcome."

GLAD STUBBS STUBBED TOE.

Dr. John Wesley Hill Finds in Kansas His Election Consolation.

The Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill, formerly of the Metropolitan Temple, who left the pulpit to widen his activities as President of the International Peace Forum, was at the Wolcott yesterday, telling a group of friends about the election. Dr. Hill worked in the interests of President Taft's candidacy in Ohio, Illinois, and Michigan.

"I have done the proudest work of my life," said Dr. Hill, "working for the maintenance of the Constitution, the upholding of our judiciary, and the general furthering of the cause of peace, whose champion is William H. Taft.

"Whatever may be the verdict of the people of the country now, William H. Taft will find his true appreciation in history. At the same time, I find a human satisfaction in noting that Roosevelt was repudiated in his own State and in Mr. Taft's State, and that in bleeding Kansas Gov. Stubbs had a misfortune with his toe."

AID CLOTHING SALES
Lower Temperature Increases Call for Heavyweight Merchandise

The coming of more seasonable weather has renewed activity in the clothing trade, and the demand for heavyweight merchandise for immediate delivery has increased perceptibly. Overcoats in rough effects and fancy backs are selling well, and there are few left on the market. Blue chinchilla overcoats are especially strong and practically all the mills making chinchilla have contracted ahead for deliveries as late as the clothiers will accept the goods.

As men will see from the annexed clipping from the "Times," blue Chinchilla, as material for men's Winter Overcoats, is scarce.

But, as one of the chief reasons for the success of this Gimbel Clothing business is that we make a point of giving men what they want in styles and materials, we have secured, and are adding today to this remarkable collection of Men's Winter Overcoats at $17.50, just seventy of these Chinchilla Overcoats that are so much in demand. Not a great many, mind you, but enough to prove a bonanza to the first seventy men to come for them.

Other fine Overcoats at this price include three-quarter length Chesterfields, also Coats of rough materials, with patch pockets, split or Raglan sleeves, and other good styles.

The WINTER SUITS also present a great variety of handsome fabrics, in dark brown and gray mixtures, and plain blue.

All at $17.50 each, for our regular $22.50, $25 and $27.50.

Youths' $15 and $16.50 Suits and Overcoats at $12

Here is a good saving on a group of very handsome warm, all-wool clothing for young men requiring Overcoats from 32 to 40-inch chest measure, or Suits in sizes 32 to 38.

The Overcoats are in stylish double-breasted models, with belted backs and convertible storm collars.

The Suits are in plain blue serge, and a variety of smart mixtures. Fourth Floor

FAVORS A POLICEMAN FOR HEAD OF FORCE

Dillon Tells Curran Committee Only Business Details Should Be Handled by Civilians.

TAKE UP THE CASE OF NIKLY

Aldermen Hear Policeman Was Dismissed Because He Refused to Drop Appeal from a Fine.

Fourth Deputy Police Commissioner Dillon told the Curran Committee of the Aldermen yesterday, which is investigating the Police Department, that in his opinion, the force should be under the command of a trained policeman. A civilian might be employed, he said, to look after the business details of the department, but he declared the executive head of the department should be a uniformed member of the force. This statement came in the course of the examination of Mr. Dillon as to the facts in the case of Patrolman Otto Nikly. Mr. Dillon explained how he happened to be a police inspector on leave and a Deputy Commissioner at the same time. He blushed, he said, to tell it, but under the coaxing of Alderman Downing he admitted that he suspected he was selected by Commissioner Waldo as a trial commissioner because Mr. Waldo believed he was an excellent man for the job. Mr. Dillon's present pay is $6,000 a year, $2,500 more than when he was merely an Inspector.

Emory R. Buckner, counsel for the committee, questioned Mr. Dillon about events in the Spring and Summer of 1911. Mr. Waldo had been Commissioner then only a short time. Mr. Dillon said there had been complaints at that time of policemen who neglected to patrol their posts. The Commissioner, the witness said, ordered Chief Inspector Schmittberger to look after this matter. Mr. Dillon testified that Schmittberger on a trip through the city found many policemen off post and preferred charges against them. Nikly was one of those put on trial.

He was tried before Inspector Dillon, who recommended a fine of fifteen days. Mr. Dillon told the committee some days ago that this punishment was very severe. Commissioner Waldo sustained the fine. Nikly declared that he had not been off post and that his punishment was contrary to the evidence and was a great injustice.

The testimony showed yesterday that Nikly had retained a lawyer to begin court proceedings to have the fine remitted. The necessary papers were served on the Commissioner and the case dragged along. Nikly's lawyer kept on fighting until the case finally came up in court a few weeks ago. It looked as if Nikly would win because, it was said, Commissioner Waldo had sustained the recommendation of a fine without having read the minutes of the trial. When the case came into court Nikly's lawyer was told that there was no use in going on with the hearing as Mr. Waldo had remitted the fine and Nikly had been ordered back to duty.

Lawyer Murphy, who represented Nikly, was not satisfied. He insisted that Mr. Waldo should make a return in the case. Mr. Murphy seemed to feel that the restoration of Nikly to his previous standing was due to a disinclination on the part of Mr. Waldo to make a return rather than to the justice of his client's cause. Two days later Nikly was dismissed from the department. Mr. Buckner said yesterday that it looked as though the fine had been imposed to punish Nikly for being off post and that he had been dismissed because Mr. Murphy refused to drop the legal proceedings.

Mr. Buckner tried to get Mr. Dillon to talk about the punishment inflicted upon Nikly by Mr. Waldo and the Commissioner's restoration to the force of policemen who had been dismissed by other Commissioners for much more serious offenses than the one charged against Nikly. Mr. Dillon said he would not discuss the acts of his superiors. After the hearing of the day was over it was said that Nikly would be reinstated and that this would close the matter. Within a short time, Mr. Buckner said yesterday, he intended to take up the remittance of fines by the Commissioner. It was said that in every case where a fine was remitted the Commissioner exceeded his power. One of the lawyers connected with the investigation said:

"There may be some question as to the legal right of the Commissioner to reinstate men who were dismissed for certain other offenses besides the generic one of 'conduct unbecoming an officer,' but the Commissioner certainly has no power to remit a fine. There is no doubt about that."

Before Mr. Dillon left the witness chair Alderman Downing asked:

"Do you think there is much politics in the department now?"

"There is less politics now," replied Mr. Dillon, "than ever before. Politics has been pretty well weeded out of it.",

"Do you think the department should have a uniformed head—that the Commissioner should be a policeman?"

"I think the executive head should be a man who knows the members of the force," the witness replied, "the needs of the public and the best way of apportioning the men. There might be a civilian head of the administrative end of the department."

This has been the reply that has been made almost every time the question has been asked by members of the committee. It is considered certain that the committee will recommend a change in the law so that there may be two heads of the department. The Democratic members of the committee are said to agree that such a change would make for greater efficiency.

One of the first witnesses heard yesterday was Policeman George F. Frey, who, with Policemen Brady and Walsh, was dismissed by Commissioner Cropsey for telling what he regarded as untruths about a warning given by Capt. Tappin to the men under him not to complain to Headquarters. Later the Captain and the three patrolmen were put back by Mr. Waldo. Frey said his reinstatement had not cost him a cent. Other witnesses testified that he had been working part of the time when he was off duty in the automobile repair shop of William L. Stokes in the Bronx. Frey declared that he worked for Stokes for nothing and this statement was sustained by Stokes. The two men were old friends and Frey, it was explained, was so anxious to advance himself in a knowledge of mechanics that he did not demand pay from Stokes for his services.

Tillie M. Stokes, wife of the automobile repairer, had been subpoenaed to bring the account books of her husband's business to the hearing. She was his bookkeeper. When Mrs. Stokes came to the witness chair she had only a small cash book and a check book. Mr. Buckner tried to show through her that Stokes had paid Frey for his services but he did not succeed. There were items in the cash book showing that Frey had received money, but both Mrs. Stokes and her husband declared that these sums were given to Frey to pay for articles which he had purchased for the business. Other payments to Frey were because the men sometimes took short vacations together and divided the expenses afterward, Mrs. Stokes said.

Junior Corporation Counsel Crone occupied the witness chair long enough yesterday to deny much of the testimony given last week by Clerk Green of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. Green had said that he worked hard for the restoration to duty of Patrolmen Brady, Frey and Walsh and that Crone had helped him. But Crone said that Green has only called upon him once in reference to the matter. There was no suspicion on the part of the committee that anything improper occurred at any of the alleged talks. Green, it was shown, sought information as to the best way of handling the police cases. The hearing will be resumed at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

DIDN'T LOSE HIS JEWELS.

But I. N. Morris Thought They Were Gone and Offered $1,500 Reward.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Ira Nelson Morris sailed for New York to-day on the Baltic after having given Scotland Yard no end of trouble.

Mr. Morris was staying at Claridge's, and at the beginning of the week paid a visit to Rugby. On returning to Claridge's he reported the loss of a small pigskin jewel wallet containing diamond pins, buttons, studs, and cuff buttons, and a scarfpin which was a present from the late King Leopold of Belgium. It was this scarfpin which is of lapis lazuli with the initial "L" in diamonds, that Mr. Morris wanted particularly to recover. He thought he had lost the case either in the luncheon car of the train or between Euston and Claridge's.

Mr. Morris offered a reward of $1,500 for the recovery of his valuables, and London was pretty well ransacked. Early to-day, while Mr. Morris was packing up, he found the case among his baggage.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 7.—Ira Nelson Morris, the packer, left here in May last year with his wife and children for a tour of the world. He made a hurried business trip to Chicago last June and remained there three weeks and then rejoined his family abroad.

A FRENCH WIRELESS GIRDLE.

Government Decides on Plan to Connect Paris with the Colonies.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The French Government has decided to establish a series of wireless stations, connecting Paris with the various French colonies, and with North and South America.

The project, as laid before the Chamber of Deputies, contemplates the expenditure of $4,000,000, about a third of it in 1913.

The point of connection in North America has not yet been specified, but the South American-Pacific girdle includes stations in Morocco, St. Louis, (Senegal,) Martinique, the Marquesas Islands, Tahiti, Noumea, (Capital of New Caledonia,) and thence to Saigon, Indo-China.

EARTHQUAKES FAR APART.

One in Nicaragua, the Other in Alaska —No Damage Done.

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Nov. 7.—Two earthquake shocks were felt here this morning. Both were strong. They were separated by an interval of an hour. No damage has been reported.

SEWARD, Alaska, Nov. 7.—A sharp earthquake shock of two and a half minutes' duration was felt here at 10 o'clock last night. No damage was done, but many persons fled into the streets.

EX-MAYOR SOHIER FREED.

Returned from Detroit to France to Face Charge of Embezzlement.

LILLE, Nov. 7.—Emil Sohier, formerly Mayor of Houplines, in the Department of the Nord, who recently returned to France from Detroit, Mich., to face a charge of embezzlement, was acquitted here to-day and discharged from custody.

President Fallières signed a decree last March, removing Mayor Sohier, the alleged embezzlement of the town's funds being given as the ground for the dismissal.

BRITISH TRADE INCREASE.

October Statement Shows Big Gains in Exports and Imports.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The October statement of the Board of Trade shows increases of $51,608,500 in imports and $23,938,000 in exports.

The imports of food, raw materials, and manufactured goods each increased about $16,000,000, and manufactured goods and coal made the largest gains in the exports.

French Battleship Launched.

ST. NAZAIRE, Nov. 7.—France's new battleship, La France, was launched here to-day and was named by Minister of Marine Delcassè. The vessel is a sister-ship of the Paris, but will be equipped with heavier guns. The two warships of this class were provided for in the 1911 estimates, and the keel of the France was laid down in August of last year.

STORM HOLDS 500 ON STRANDED SHIP

More Than Half the Passengers of Royal George Safely Removed to Shore.

BUT GALE CHECKS RESCUE

Impossible to Approach Vessel, Although She Is Believed to be Safely Fixed in Rocks.

Special to The New York Times.

QUEBEC, Nov. 7.—Nearly 500 passengers are still aboard the stranded steamer Royal George, ten miles below Quebec. All efforts to take them off have proved unavailing, because of the gale which is blowing. Although the disabled ship is only a hundred feet from the Island of Orleans, no boat can approach her without risk of being dashed to pieces.

Awaiting an opportunity for salvage are a score of tugs and steamers of all descriptions lying near the steamer.

Meanwhile the safety of the passengers on the Royal George is assured. All danger of the ship toppling over has passed since the last low tide, when the hull showed over forty feet above water, with only seven feet below the surface, proving how hard and fast it is grounded on the rocks.

At 3 o'clock this morning, when the first 450 passengers from the stranded steamer were landed in Quebec by the steamer North, the gale became so violent that it was impossible for any other vessel to approach the steamer.

Capt. Belanger of the steamer Savoy, which passed the Royal George to-day, does not think that the liner is in a dangerous position. She went ashore on a bottom of sand and gravel, and there is no fear that she will break in two, like the ill-fated Bavarian did some years ago.

The North, an old ferryboat, which brought the load of passengers to this city, returned to the steamer, but a strong wind from the south prevented her getting near the wrecked liner to take off the remaining passengers. The Cruiser, the big tug of the Canadian Pacific Railway, also failed to reach the Royal George.

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—A wireless message from the Royal George confirmed earlier news that 450 of the vessel's passengers had been taken off. The transfer, according to this message, was made at 1:15 A. M. by the first tender that reached the steamer. Four other tugs were standing by at that time.

The Royal George was bound from Avonmouth, England, and was due here to-day.

STOVER BLOCKS STREET BILL

Central Park West Widening Resolution Goes Over for Fortnight.

The question of widening the roadway of Central Park West came up before the Board of Estimate yesterday, and a resolution fixing the width of the thoroughfare at sixty feet, with a twenty-five foot sidewalk on the west and a fifteen-foot sidewalk on the east, would have been passed but for the opposition of Park Commissioner Stover. The existing roadway is fifty feet wide, with street car tracks close to the easterly curbing, making it necessary for both north and south bound vehicular traffic to use the westerly side of the street.

The plan outlined by the engineers of the Borough President's office made it necessary to destroy a number of large shade trees. Commissioner Stover thought that the property owners on the west side of the street should be required to surrender some portion of the sidewalk, and that the railway company should also make some sacrifice in the way of paying for the removal of its tracks. The matter went over for two weeks.

BOYS STRAY INTO LAKE.

Five-Year-Old Lad Drowned and Younger Brother Found Unconscious.

BRANDON, Vt., Nov. 7.—An all-night search for two small boys, Joseph and Herbert Clark, was ended to-day by the finding of Joseph dead in Lake Gunmore and Herbert unconscious on the shore near by. The brothers strayed away and became lost in the woods. It was thought that Joseph, who was only 5 years old, walked into the lake. His brother, 3 years old, went to sleep on the shore.

Although suffering from exposure, Herbert is not in a serious condition.

Miss Adams to Act Barrie's 'Rosalind'

J. M. Barrie's one-act play, "Rosalind," which was produced as a part of a triple bill in London recently, and which has been continued, is now the property of Maude Adams for her use in America, according to an announcement from Charles Frohman. In fact, the play has belonged to Miss Adams since she appeared in "As You Like It" at the Greek Theatre at Beverley, Cal., in 1910. On the night of her appearance she received the manuscript from Mr. Barrie, and this year, when it was found that Barrie and Pinero had each hit upon the same device when they furnished one-act plays to Mr. Frohman, Miss Adams agreed to lend "Rosalind" for the London production, but she will play the piece herself in America, probably at the Empire Theatre next season.

ADMITS DYNAMITE STORY.

Judge Allows Ettor Defense to Refer to "Planting" of Explosive.

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 7.—That Gov. Foss found it necessary during the Lawrence textile strike to increase the militia forces on guard there to preserve the peace was the burden of testimony to-day by Dudley M. Holman, former secretary to the Governor, in the Ettor-Giovannitti-Caruso trial for the Lopizzo murder.

Mr. Holman on cross-examination declared that he heard Col. Sweetser, who was in command of the militia, order the soldiers to clear the streets of the strikers on the morning of Jan. 29, when the street car riots occurred. "I heard the Colonel give the order, and I saw the soldiers carry it out," said Mr. Holman.

Testimony relating to the "planting" of dynamite in Lawrence was admitted in limited form by Judge Quinn, attorneys for the defense being permitted to ask witnesses if the strikers believed the dynamite was "planted" at the instigation of the mill owners to prejudice the cause of the strikers.

Mrs. Josephine Mika, who until recently was Josephine Liss, one of the girl strikers who took the Lawrence children to Washington to appear before the House Rules Committee during the strike, testified that Ettor continually told the strikers to be peaceful and not to provoke trouble. She said the mill workers believed that the owners "planted" dynamite in Lawrence.

"When the dynamite was found," she said, "Mr. Ettor told the people not to believe that the strikers had anything to do with it. He said that it was a job of the capitalists."

"Don't provoke the militia; don't give the soldiers any chance to warm up; let the kids freeze," was another remark attributed to Ettor in the testimony of Frank Reider, a mill worker.

Faterizio Pitocchelli, an Italian banker of Lawrence, who is on W. D. Haywood's bond, testified that he heard Ettor and Giovannitti speak, but never heard them urge violence.

TWO STRIKES IN COAL FIELD.

Shortage Made Worse by Trouble in the Wilkesbarre Country.

A representative of the coal dealers said yesterday that the shortage here was due principally to improper distribution. It also was pointed out that a loss of 5,000 tons a day was due to a strike now on in the Wilkesbarre country.

The strikes are at South Wilkesbarre and at Maxwell, both in the Wilkesbarre field. The strike at South Wilkesbarre started on Saturday and that at Maxwell yesterday. The Conciliation Board, composed of three representatives of the mine workers and three representatives of the operators, have ordered the men back to work, but the strikers have refused to obey.

"The whole situation," said a dealer yesterday, "is one of weather. Give us a fair and warm November, and we will be in good shape. But bad weather will bring the worst shortage in ten years."

Whether prices would go still higher was a question that none of the coal men were willing to answer yesterday.

Falls to Death from Hotel Window.

MARSEILLES, Nov. 7.—Miss Kate Sayer, an Englishwoman who came here from New York, was killed last night by falling from the fourth floor window of a hotel here. It is believed that the occurrence was accidental. Miss Sayer was not dead when picked up from the sidewalk, but expired shortly afterward. She was 24 years old.

BISSELL FOR SUPREME COURT

Dix Names Buffalo Lawyer in Defiance of Charles F. Murphy.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Nov. 7.—Gov. Dix to-day showed his loyalty to Herbert P. Bissell of Buffalo, and incidenthally his disregard for the wishes of Charles F. Murphy, when he named Mr. Bissell as Justice of the Supreme Court for the Eighth Judicial District, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Alfred Spring of Franklinville.

Gov. Dix appointed Mr. Bissell a State Hospital Commissioner on March 22, 1911. Last Winter, at the close of the term of John B. Olmsted of Buffalo, as Public Service Commissioner, the Governor sent to the Senate Mr. Bissell's name for confirmation as Mr. Olmsted's successor. The nomination was opposed by W. H. Fitzpatrick, the Erie County Democratic leader and Charles F. Murphy, and after a bitter fight Mr. Bissell's name was withdrawn, and Mr. Olmsted was allowed to fill the office as a holdover.

Shortly thereafter Mr. Bissell handed in his resignation as State Hospital Commissioner, but was induced to withdraw it. He has continued to fill the $6,200 position until to-day, when the Governor accepted his resignation, which he said had been in his hands for several days. The position of Supreme Court Justice in the up-State counties pays $10,000 a year. The appointment of Mr. Bissell is good until Dec. 31, 1913, and puts the incumbent in a position to receive the party nomination at the next general election.

Mr Bissell came to Albany from Buffalo to-day and had a talk with the Governor this evening. He has been working with Commissioner Sanger in the reorganization of the State Hospital Department under the law of last Winter, and, the work having been completed, the Governor says, Mr. Bissell felt free to retire from the commission. How Mr. Fitzpatrick and Mr. Murphy will view the appointment remains to be seen.

Mr. Bissell was born in New London, Oneida County, in 1856. He studied in Germany, was graduated from Harvard University in 1880, and was admitted to the Buffalo bar three years later. He has been active in politics since 1884, and was his party's candidate for Mayor of Buffalo in 1904.

BALDWIN WILL CONTESTED.

Nephews and Niece He Cut Off Seek Share of Estate.

It became known yesterday that two nephews and one niece who were ignored in the will of Aaron Stockholm Baldwin, the New Jersey politician, would contest its validity on the grounds that Mr. Baldwin was not of sound mind when the instrument was executed in March, 1912, and that the nephews who were beneficiaries exercised undue influence upon him

Mr. Baldwin, who died on Aug. 21, at his residence at 296 West Ninety-second Street, divided his estate of $100,000 between several friends, Clarence E. Baldwin, a nephew, and Alberta C. White, a niece. He expressly stated that his other nephews and nieces were to receive nothing.

The contest is being brought by Edgar R Baldwin, Daniel W. Baldwin, and Emma V. Wright.

BURGLARS BOLD IN FLUSHING.

Switch On Electric Lights While Robbing Home of Bank Cashier.

The homes of William H. D. Nimmo, Cashier of the Flushing Bank of Long Island, at 506 Myrtle Avenue, and of T. Whitney Powell, a well-known real estate man, at 300 Lincoln Street, Flushing, were entered by burglars early yesterday morning. Aroused by the noise they made, Mrs. Powell encountered two of the men in the hall. As they escaped from the house and ran across the lawn Mr. Powell opened fire on them with his revolver.

At the Nimmo home the burglars boldly switched on the electric lights and went about looting the house in such reckless fashion that the noise aroused Miss Nimmo, who saw two men going down the stairs. She called her brother, who started after them with a revolver, but they easily escaped in the darkness.

The thieves took a diamond breast pin and other articles of value from the Powell house, and a gold watch, some cash, and an overcoat from Mr. Nimmo's, leaving behind a gold medal presented to Mr. Nimmo by the State of New York in recognition of his twenty-five years' service in the National Guard.

TORCHES IN HAIR TO GUIDE PARADE

Electric Novelties Planned for To-morrow's Big Suffrage Demonstration.

EXPECT 20,000 IN LINE

Everybody Who Favors Votes for Women Invited to March—Carnegie Hall Meeting Nov. 13.

"Woman suffrage may have lost in Wisconsin, but we are going to impress upon the people that it passed in the other four States in which it was submitted. As for New York, we want that quadruple victory so impressed that the new Democratic Legislature, when it meets, will not hesitate to pass immediately a bill designed to submit the same great question of the right of women to vote to the voters of this State."

That is what Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch said yesterday when she explained how the woman suffrage victories would be celebrated in this city. The celebrations, to consist of a parade on Fifth Avenue and a rally in Carnegie Hall, have been planned not only as joyous events of thanksgiving, but as warnings to Senators and Assemblymen that they must make good the pledges of the Democratic Party.

The parade will start to-morrow evening at 7:30 from Fifty-eighth Street and Fifth Avenue, and every man, woman, or child in favor of woman suffrage, whether enrolled in any suffrage organization or not, will be welcome to fall into line at that hour between Fifty-eighth and Fifty-fourth Streets. The May parade, according to the estimate of the leaders, will be surpassed both in numbers and display, and more than 20,000 are expected to be in line with torchlights and transparencies blazoning forth the new victories in Michigan, Arizona, Oregon, and Kansas.

Heading the parade will be Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, Grand Marshal, and a company of women trumpeters, who will play the triumphal march from "Aida" all the way to Union Square, the terminus of the march. Following these will be four victory floats, driven by suffragists from the respective States in which "the cause" won, and drawn by snow-white horses. The floats will carry transparencies heralding the pluralities by which woman suffrage became the law in these States. Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of the United States Senator, will ride in the Michigan float in honor of her services in that State.

Next in line will be a triumphal chorus of 200 men and women, who will sing a stirring suffrage ballad, accompanied by a brass band. The members of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, led by Dr. Anna Shaw, chief organizer of the successful campaigns in the Western States, will follow the chorus.

Golden Chariots Not Forgotten.

Then six golden chariots will be "manned" by women drivers from each of the "old" suffrage States—Wyoming, Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Washington, and California. The last chariot will carry Mrs. Frank Deering, the California orator who helped to swing her State into the woman suffrage column. On one side of each chariot will walk a woman with a lighted torch, and on the other a man with suffrage convictions. Mrs. Deering will hold aloft a banner reading:

"Six hundred thousand women vote wisely and well in California. Why not in New York?"

The torches which will add to the spectacle will be neither the old-fashioned red light suffocators nor the dirty swinging oil bucket variety, but will be the latest delicate Parisian novelty for night parades. These torches consist of an electric light incased in a globe which resembles a moon or a ripe pumpkin, and have a battery attached which can easily be concealed in the pocket of a coat. The marshals will carry miners' electric lights in their headdress, and by turning the lights on and off will signal to the marchers.

Suffrage organizations will fall into line under their various organization heads, and, with the hordes of unenrolled suffragists, are expected to swell the number of paraders to the 20,000 mark. If the expectations of the leaders are fulfilled the parade will last until midnight.

Each suffrage organization will have its own marshal, banner bearer, and speaker. They will be as follows:

Collegiate Equal Suffrage League—Miss Mary Howe, marshal; Miss Helen Potter, banner-bearer; Mrs. Walter L. Hervey, speaker.

Equal Franchise League—Miss Elizabeth Burchenal, marshal; Miss Amy Grant, banner-bearer; Mrs. Frederick Nathan, speaker.

American National Woman Suffrage Association—Mrs. Bjorkman, marshal; Mrs. Bennet, banner-bearer; Dr. Anna H. Shaw, speaker.

Woman Suffrage Party—Mrs. A. C. Hugheston, marshal; Mrs. F. L. Stratton, banner-bearer; Mrs. J. L. Laidlaw, speaker.

New York State Suffrage Association—Mrs. Herbert Parsons, marshal; Mrs. Walter MacDougal, banner-bearer; Mrs. Marie Jenney Howe, speaker.

Wage-Earners' League—Mrs. James E. Childs, marshal; Miss Josie Hoffman, banner-bearer; Miss Leonora O'Reilly, speaker.

The parade arrangements are in charge of Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw.

Speakers for Broadway.

Several hours before midnight, however, a number of automobiles will convey women speakers to fourteen different speaking stands on Broadway between Fourteenth Street and Columbus Circle, the suffragists being determined not to lose an opportunity to convince with argument as well as with a demostration.

The Carnegie Hall meeting has been planned for the night of Nov. 13, and has been termed by its promoters a "celebration of citizenship." All partisan lines will be forgotten at this meeting, the various organizations within the suffrage party being especially asked to come without their colors or banners. Dr. Shaw, who has just returned from her campaign in the West, will be the leading speaker and will tell how the four victories were won. Other speakers are on their way from the four States to give graphic accounts of the election.

"We have asked President-elect Wilson to be present at this meeting," said Mrs. Blatch last night. "If he cannot be present we hope he will send us a message, incorporating those splendid views on citizenship which he uttered when notified of his nomination as candidate of the Democratic Party. We have invited all the other candidates also, and we hope they will come to further this great cause, which, by Tuesday's election, received such a wonderful impetus. We also hoped to have Miss Jane Addams present, but I received a telegram this morning informing us that she would not be able to be in the East at that time."

OFF TO STUDY CANAL NEEDS.

Ex-Speaker Cannon Not with House Committee on Appropriations.

The Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives, headed by Chairman John J. Fitzgerald, sailed yesterday for Panama on the steamship Cristobal on the annual trip to the canal with the object of taking testimony regarding the progress of the work and the amount of money needed for the ensuing year. It is estimated that about $30,000,000 will be asked for by Col. Goethals for the work to be done during the coming fiscal year and there will be only one more appropriation needed before the opening of the canal in 1915.

It was the unanimous opinion of the committee that under the incoming administration there would be no change in the attitude of the Government in respect to the management of the canal's affairs. Ex-Speaker Cannon, a member of the committee, was expected to sail on the Cristobal yesterday, but he sent a telegram to the Chairman stating that urgent business prevented his leaving at this time.

Those of the committee who went, included Swager Shirley of Kentucky, C. L. Bartlett of Georgia, E. W. Saunders of Virginia, E. L. Taylor of Ohio, and H. H. Goldfogle of New York. Others in the party, all members of various House committees, were Joseph R. Mann of Illinois, leader of the House Republicans; D. J. Riordan of New York, John N. Garner of Texas, Joseph J. Sinnott of Virginia, E. K. Luseure of Illinois, and R. J. McBryde of Kentucky. W. A. Ryan went as clerk of the committee. M. R. Blumenberg and V. H. Barto, House stenographers, will record the testimony to be taken at the hearings in Colon and other places where the committee will sit.

HID MRS. RYCROFT'S LOSSES.

Pierce, Answering Her Suit, Says He Wished to Spare Her.

Ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, counsel for Henry Clay Pierce, President of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, who is being sued in the Supreme Court for $171,000 by Mrs. Alice G. Rycroft, obtained permission yesterday from Justice Seabury to introduce into the records the reason why Mr. Pierce had kept from Mrs. Rycroft the losses which she suffered in the period of depression in 1903.

In his answer to Mrs. Rycroft's suit, which the Appellate Division gave Mr. Pierce permission to submit last week after opening his default, Mr. Pierce alleged that Mrs. Rycroft, far from being his creditor, owed him $44,000 for losses on her investments, which Mr. Pierce handled for her under his account with the brokerage firm of Post & Flagg. In his declaration yesterday Mr. Pierce said:

"As it now appears, most unwisely, to save the plaintiff from the distress which would have been caused at that time by the knowledge of the true state of affairs, I failed to disclose to her that her remaining stocks had been sold out, and I determined myself to pay the debit balance remaining in her account."

Mr. Pierce explained that the 700 shares of Southern Pacific Railway stock, which Mrs. Rycroft declared in her suit he converted to his own use, were never listed in his name at all.

"The plain fact is," the declaration continues, "that the plaintiff bought her stock when prices were at their highest—in January, 1902—and that the margins were obliterated by the panic of 1903, notwithstanding my assistance in placing an additional $10,000 to her credit on May 29, 1903."

SEVEN SISTERS IN COURT.

Plenty of Family Spectators at Dorflinger Divorce Hearing.

The trial of the divorce suit brought by Isaac Dorflinger, a hide and leather dealer, of 81 Fulton Street, against his young wife, Mrs. Mary Dorflinger, was continued yesterday in the Supreme Court before Justice Gavegan and a jury.

The contention of the husband is that Mrs. Dorflinger, with several of her sisters, of whom she has seven, visited the apartments of four young men who kept bachelors' quarters at 57 West 111th Street. One of these four men, Louis Sluss, is named as co-respondent. Bertrand Hirschberg and Harry A. Posasky appeared as witnesses against Mrs. Dorflinger.

Prior to the filing of the suit against her, Mrs. Dorflinger had commenced an action for separation against her husband, but the case never came to trial.

At yesterday's trial seven women, all gayly dressed, occupied adjoining seats in the rear of the courtroom. It was learned that they were the sisters of the defendant. The effort of Abraham Levy of counsel for Mrs. Dorflinger to have them removed was successfully opposed by Charles L. Hoffman, attorney for Mr. Dorflinger. The case will be continued to-day.

AT WORK ON NEW BOOK.

Kauffman Comes to New York "to Get Proper Atmosphere."

Reginald Wright Kauffman, author of "The House of Bondage," was a passenger on the American liner New York which arrived yesterday. He said he was hard at work on a new book entitled "Judith Kent; Free Woman." Mr. Kauffman said he had been living in England for some time, but as the scene of his new work was laid in New York he had to come over to get the proper atmosphere.

Another passenger was Prof. K. Okakura of the Chair of Archaeology of Tokio University. He is on his way to Boston to classify the Japanese art objects in the Museum of Arts. The professor said that during his stay in Boston he would lecture in Harvard University on Japanese art and archaeology.

Helen Gould Gives Waffle Luncheon.

Miss Helen Miller Gould motored down from her country home, at Irvington-on-Hudson, yesterday, to give a waffle luncheon party at the Woman's Exchange, Forty-third Street and Madison Avenue, and help the exchange, of which she is one of the patrons, celebrate the opening of waffle week. Waffles made from a 100-year-old recipe on the 201-year-old waffle iron completed the simple meal.

FAKE WIRETAPPERS GOT HIS $22,000

Charles Gondorf and "Sir John Gray" Arrested for Swindle of Southerner.

GANG LAID ELABORATE TRAP

North Carolinans Lured Here to Play Races—Dentist Dropped $3,000—Two Other Men Held.

Charles Gondorf, who was arrested in 1907 on the charge of having in his possession part of the securities included in the $565,000 worth of cash and bonds stolen from the New Britain, Conn., Savings Bank by its defaulting Treasurer, William F. Walker, was picked out of a line-up in Police Headquarters yesterday by Kirby Cleveland Sidbury, an attorney of Wilmington, N. C., and accused of being associated with a gang of wiretappers that had got $22,000 from him. Passing along the line the attorney picked out a man of more important bearing than Gondorf as one whom he had met with the gang in an alleged poolroom in West Eighty-second Street; Joseph Krakolski, alias "Sir John Gray," and alias "Paper Collar Joe," an American confidence man, with an international reputation and known to the police of every important capital of Europe.

"I do not know how you mix me up in this case," protested Gray. "I never saw this man before, and I don't know anything about this case. I'm an art dealer and a connoisseur."

"That will do for you, Sir John," interposed Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty. "We have your photograph and record in the gallery."

"Sir John" subsided and reflectively stroked his smartly trimmed and pointed gray beard. Gray was arrested yesterday in the Southern Hotel, at Broadway and Fifty-fourth Street, by Detectives McKenna, Wilbur and Cassasa. At about the same time Detectives Murphy and Griffith took Gondorf into custody in a saloon at Amsterdam Avenue and Eighty-second Street, of which he is the reputed proprietor. Later the police rounded up two other alleged members of the gang, including Fred Gondorf, brother of Charles, all of whom were arraigned in the West Side Court and held in $10,000 bail each by Magistrate Murphy.

According to Attorney Sidbury, he was induced to go to a house in West Eighty-second Street, near Central Park West, and under the guise of having exclusive information from a man named McDonald, who was introduced to him as the head of the "racing department of the Western Union Telegraph Company," and being assured he could not lose, he lost the money, while his friend, Dr. J. W. Powell, a dentist of Second and Princess Streets, Wilmington, N. C., lost $3,000. Sidbury accused Gondorf of representing himself as McDonald. Gray was the proprietor, he said.

A woman with a handsome wardrobe, and her husband, who sometimes said he was a New York banker, appeared in Wilmington, N. C., and ingratiated themselves into the confidence of Dr. Powell, and his freind, Mr. Sidbury, and carefully laid the trap which finally netted the gang $25,000. Mr. Dougherty is now looking for these accomplices, and believes he will get them. The "steerer" and his supposed wife gave their names to the Southerners as Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dawsing.

Dawsing told Sidbury of his influence with a former telegraph operator, through whom he got advance information of races and was enabled to get his money wagered on a horse that had already won, before the poolroom keepers had received the racing results.

"Don't tell my wife a word about this," advised Dawsing, "for she is opposed to horse racing, and I have promised her not to bet again. We are simply here for our health."

The Dawsings appeared in the Southern city on May 19. By September they were regarded as desirable additions to the town of Wilmington, and when Dawsing told Dr. Powell that all could add to their fortunes the latter told Sidbury, and with $3,000 each they showed sufficient confidence in Dawsing to accompany him here and wager the money. In the Hotel Seville's lobby, says Sidbury, they were introduced to Charles Gondorf as McDonald, the man who would hold back the racing information from the poolrooms until the bets could be placed.

Both lost their money. Dawsing told them that a mistake had been made, that they should have placed the money for second or third, as Flying Fairy, the horse picked for them, had run second, and the doctor and attorney had spoiled their chances by betting to win. Dr. Powell, Sidbury, and Dawsing returned home. A little later Dawsing told them that everything had been fixed to get all their money back, with a great deal more. Powell said he had enough of the game, but Sidbury drew $7,000, and returned to New York and lost that, and again received the information from Dawsing that he had misunderstood the betting signals.

Twice afterward Sidbury returned to the fake poolroom, losing $7,000 and then dropping $5,000. When he returned home, this time alone, as Dawsing had made an excuse for not accompanying him, he found that the Dawsings had given up their cottage and had disappeared without leaving their address. Then he sought Mr. Dougherty and told his misfortune. From the description Dougherty says he recognized Charles Gondorf as one of the men.

Frederick Gondorf, who was arrested in his home, 200 West 181st Street, gave his name as Frank Graham, 41 years old, a commercial traveler. He was arrested in 1908 on the charge of being implicated in a swindle that deprived a Scranton (Penn.) hotelkeeper of $15,000 on a fake fight. Charles Gondorf, who, the police say, has been identified with the fake poolroom or wire tapping form of swindle for ten years, is three years older than his brother. He described himself as Charles Daly, and said he lived at 17 Manhattan Avenue. Charles Gondorf, though held in $50,000 bail in the Walker case in 1907, finally went free because Walker, who was captured at Ensenada, Mexico, refused to give testimony against any of the persons who got the stolen funds from him.

The fourth man arrested in the case, Charles Carbonell of 147 West Sixty-third Street, a speculator, 37 years old, was arraigned on the technical charge of being implicated in another swindle alleged to have taken place in the same house in West Eighty-second Street, by which Simon Jones of Pittsburgh, Penn., lost $20,000.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 7.—Kirby C. Sidbury, a young lawyer, and Dr. J. W. Powell are both well known here, and they have been associated together in a number of business deals recently. Sidbury has no great amount of money himself, but his father is well to do, and the son has had the use of his means.

For three or four months he has been spending much of his time in New York, where he married about two years ago.

Powell is a young dentist and has a large practice, but recently on account of his health he has done but little dental work, and has paid more attention to real estate deals and business enterprises. Powell was here to-day. He said that he knew absolutely nothing about the affair in New York.

Adirondack Guide a Suicide.

PATCHOGUE, L. I., Nov. 7.—Arthur McFalls, an Adirondack guide, was found dead yesterday on the road near Brookhaven, six miles east of this place. His head had been blown to pieces by a shotgun which lay at his side, and a forked stick which he grasped in his hand had evidently been used to discharge the gun.

CONROY TRIAL NEARS END.

Witnesses Tell of Strange Actions by Man Who Killed Lawyer.

The defense in the case of Joseph Conroy of 144 First Place, Brooklyn, who has been on trial before Justice Goff in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court for the murder of Joseph Fettretch, a lawyer, in his office at 41 Park Row on July 24, closed its case yesterday after several witnesses had been called to testify as to the mental condition of the defendant.

Conroy was tried for the crime once before, but the jury failed to agree, standing eight to four for murder in the second degree. Conroy forced his way into Fettrech's office and shot him because, he said, the lawyer had not handled a suit properly which Conroy brought through him against his sister.

Mrs. Lillian Benjamin of 100 First Place, Brooklyn, Conroy's sister, testified yesterday that the defendant had acted strangely for nearly a year before the shooting. He would hang kettles and fryingpans upon the windows and doors of his home, she said, explaining that if anyone entered he would be awakened by the rattle of the pans. She also said that on the day before the murder he came to her and said:

"Now I am going away and I want you to take good care of mother."

She said that this was the first time he had spoken to her since he lost his suit.

Edward A. Dickson, who worked in a machine shop with Conroy, testified that two years ago a hammer fell upon Conroy's head and that he had acted strangely ever since. At the close of Dickson's testimony the trial was adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, when the case will be given to the jury.

DIED TO ESCAPE SEASICKNESS

Allan W. Gernert, Passenger on the New York, Jumped Into the Sea.

Allen W. Gernert, a passenger on the American liner New York, which arrived from Southampton yesterday, jumped overboard last Saturday afternoon.

When Gernert boarded the steamer he was in such a nervous state that he was put under the care of William Stump, the ship's surgeon, who gave him medicine to calm him, and he appeared to improve a little.

On Saturday afternoon Gernert was on the upper promenade deck aft, and told R. R. Matthews, the purser, that he felt miserable. The purser, accustomed to hear victims of seasickness bemoan their fate, did not take the complaint seriously.

Without any warning, after leaving the purser, Gernert ran to the port side of the ship and sprang into the sea. The ship was stopped and a boat lowered, but although a sailor ran up the main rigging directly after the cry, "Man overboard," rang out, nothing could be seen. It was discovered that Gernert had two brothers living at Bridgeport, but he was not a resident of that city himself.

Klaw & Erlanger Get an Injunction.

Klaw & Erlanger received an injunction from the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania yesterday restraining William Schilling from presenting a play called "The Vampire's Fool." It is alleged that this piece is an infringement upon "A Fool There Was," in which Robert Hilliard appeared last season. Klaw & Erlanger had Schilling indicted in Toledo recently for producing what they assert is his version of the play, and the trial is set for this month.

LONDON-MADE OVERCOATS

From "Burberry" of 17 to 29 Golden Square, London.

The world's foremost maker of walking and motoring coats. "Burberry" coats are famous for their style. The materials are of unusual quality, in that even the warmest of them are not heavy, and in that the patterns are distinctive without being conspicuous. The finish is unusual, for all "Burberry" coats are subjected to a process making them proof against wind and weather. But, after all, the chief characteristic of "Burberry" coats—what distinguishes them from all other overcoats, English and American—is their Style. The only store in New York that shows a complete range and assortment of "Burberry" coats is R. H. Macy & Co.

In our Fifth Floor Men's Clothing Department we show the lighter "Burberry" Coats for walking and the out-of-doors, in Balmacaan, Chesterfield, Ulster and Raglan styles, priced from $29.75 to $64.50. All are half-lined in heavy, pure silk.

"Burberry" Coats in Two Departments

Those best suited for Motoring:	Those best suited for Walking:
Motoring Goods Dept., 4th Floor.	Men's Clothing Dept., 5th Floor.

In our Motoring Goods Department on the Fourth Floor are heavier "Burberry" Coats suited to hard weather and adapted to motoring use. The medium-weight Coats, priced $17.74 to $34.74, are in two lengths—mid-leg and lower—have regulation collar or are in single-breasted, button-to-neck style.

The heavy Coats, priced $39.74 to $59.75, are in the same models as the medium-weights, and also in double-breasted Ulster style. One model has the smart new belted back. Every "Burberry" Coat has lined sleeves and a yoke lining of rich silk.

"Burberry" Gabardine Raincoats range from $14.74 for a supple and full-fitting Coat with wool serge lining, up to $38.50 for a Raincoat "de luxe," lined throughout with rich, heavy silk. The last named obtainable on the Fifth Floor, and all the rest on the Fourth Floor.

RIGHT TO FORTIFY CANAL, SAYS STIMSON

War Secretary Also Shows That Panama Defenses Are a National Necessity.

NO VIOLATION OF TREATY

American and British Statesmen Who Negotiated It Recognized Our Intentions, He Says.

In an article in the current number of The Scientific American, Secretary of War Stimson takes strong ground not only on the absolute right of the United States to fortify the Panama Canal, but on the need for such defenses as a matter of great National expediency.

Secretary Stimson denies that the fortification of the canal would be a violation of this country's obligations to Great Britain under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. He thus summarizes the legal situation:

"In the Clayton-Bulwer treaty of 1850 the United States and Great Britain expressly agreed not to fortify or assume any dominion over any part of Central America where the canal might be made. The first draft of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty of Feb. 5, 1900, contained a similar prohibition to the effect that "no fortification shall be erected commanding the canal or the waters adjacent.". This proposed treaty in this form was rejected by the Senate for the very reason that it did not give the United States sufficient liberty of action in regard to the canal. The present Hay-Pauncefote treaty was then negotiated, which in its first article entirely abrogated the old Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and also omitted the restrictions against fortification which had been contained in the first proposed Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

"The memorandum which Mr. Hay sent to the Senate with the second Hay-Pauncefote treaty, containing the correspondence between himself and Lords Pauncefote and Lansdowne, shows that these changes were made for the express purpose of permitting the United States to fortify and defend the canal, and that Lord Lansdowne fully understood and recognized this right on our part. As to this, Lord Lansdowne expressly said:

> It is most important that no doubt should exist as to the intention of the contracting parties. As to this, I understand that by the omission of all reference to the matter of defense the United States Government desires to reserve the power of taking measures to protect the canal at any time when the United States may be at war from destruction or damage at the hands of an enemy or enemies.

"The Congress of the United States then proceeded the following year in the Spooner act (Section 5) to authorize the President to enter into the contracts for the construction of the canal and its 'defenses.' And in the following year, 1903, Mr. Hay, the same statesman who had negotiated the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, negotiated a treaty with the Republic of Panama by which Panama granted to the United States for the purpose of the canal the use, occupation and control of the present Panama Canal Zone, and also granted to the United States, for the protection of such canal, the right to use its land and naval forces and to establish fortifications. (Bunau Varilla treaty, Article XXIII.)

"The Hay-Pauncefote treaty and the Bunau Varilla treaties are the only existing treaties entered into by the United States which affect its rights over the Panama Canal. It is perfectly clear, therefore, from the foregoing facts, that none of the statesmen, either of Great Britain or Panama or the United States, who were concerned at the time in the negotiation of these treaties or the enactment of legislation to make them effective, had any doubt as to the right or purpose of the United States to defend and fortify the canal."

As to the necessity for the fortification of the canal for the protection of the United States in time of war, Secretary Stimson is fully convinced. He says:

"It has been earnestly argued that the safety of the canal can be better and more cheaply assured by an agreement between the leading nations, making it a neutral waterway and forbidding it from ever being blockaded or seized in time of war. It is argued that such a course will relieve us from the expense and burden of defending the canal, and that it will at the same time accomplish every result which we could accomplish by defending it ourselves.

"This is an entire misconception. It loses sight of the vital difference between an American canal and an international canal. It loses sight of the fact that it is of vital importance to this country not only that the canal shall be open to our fleet in case of war, but that it shall be closed to the fleet of our enemy. An international canal, kept open and defended by agreement between the powers, from its very nature would have to be open to our opponent as well as to ourselves."

Secretary Wilson finally gives an outline of the character of fortifications he deems necessary for the proper defense of the canal.

"The defenses of the canal," he says, "are divided into two general heads:

> 1. A seacoast armament with submarine mines at the termini of the canal, for protection against a sea attack and to secure a safe exit for our fleet in the face of a hostile fleet.
> 2. The construction of field works and a mobile force of troops to protect the locks and assure important utilities against an attack by land.

"The seacoast fortifications will include 16-inch, 14-inch, and 6-inch rifles, and 12-inch mortars. This armament will be of more powerful and effective types than that installed in any other locality in the world. At the Atlantic end of the canal the armament will be located on both sides of Limon Bay. At the Pacific end the greater part of the armament will be located on several small islands, Flamenco, Perico, and Naos, which lie abreast of the terminus. Submarine mines will complete the seacoast armament and will prevent actual entry into the canal and harbors by hostile vessels.

"In addition to these fortifications, and the necessary coast artillery and garrison to man them, the defensive plans provide for the erection of field works, and for the maintenance at all times on the Panama Canal Zone of a mobile force consisting of three regiments of infantry, at a war strength of nearly 2,000 men for each regiment; a squadron of cavalry, and a battalion of field artillery. A portion of the mobile garrison is also on the Isthmus, and the remainder will be sent there as soon as provision is made for its being housed."

NO BIDS FOR CANAL ROUTES.

Vain Post Office Calls Under Mail Subsidy Act—Plan to be Dropped.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—For the second time in two years Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock has called for bids for the establishment of new steamship lines from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States to the termini of the Panama Canal, under authority of the ocean mail subsidy act of 1891, without obtaining a single offer. Why there have been no bids puzzles the postal authorities, who were confident that there would be at least one bid submitted by the prospective Atlantic and Pacific Transport Company of New Jersey, which was being organized by Bernard N. Baker of Baltimore and some of his associates. But the fact remains that no bids were filed in the competition which closed on Nov. 25, 1911. Although Mr. Baker told a committee of the Senate last Winter that he felt confident he would be able to bid if allowed six months in which to finance his project, a year has elapsed without Mr. Baker or anybody else coming forward with a proposal in the competition which closed on Oct. 15 last. Announcement that the second offer for bids, which cost the Government several thousand dollars in advertising, was fruitless, was withheld until to-day.

The plans of the department contemplated the establishment on Jan. 1, 1915, after the completion of the canal, for a period of ten years, of eight steamship routes, linking up the principal Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf coast ports with Colon and Panama, at the eastern and western terminals of the canal, by means of a series of independent lines, radiating from the canal entrances to New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle, with intermediate ports of call at Key West, Norfolk, Charleston, Brunswick, San Pedro, and San Diego. If successful, the scheme would have called into being a new American fleet of second and third-class steamers, ranging in speed from fourteen to sixteen knots an hour in ordinary sea weather, and in displacement from minimums of 2,500 to 5,000 tons. The least valuable of the routes would have been worth nearly $25,000, and, including mail subsidies, the most valuable of them nearly $340,000 annually. The maximum value of all eight routes, on the basis of the official mileage tables, would have been about $702,000 annually.

It is not probable that similar advertisements will again be issued by the present Administration, and it is questionable whether a Democratic Administration will repeat the attempt. Recently Democrats in Congress have opposed the granting of subsidies. The Ocean Mail act dates from Republican control.

The interest and activities of Bernard N. Baker and certain of his associates in Baltimore in the establishment of an independent mail and freight line from coast to coast throughout the canal had much to do with the action of Postmaster General Hitchcock in calling for these proposals.

Mr. Baker was quoted as having declared that obstacles had been thrown in his way by financial, railroad, and other interests preventing him from completing the necessary subscription list for an independent steamship company. The failure of the Atlantic and Pacific Transport Company, Mr. Baker's proposed line, to obtain the requisite subscriptions to its stock at that time involved, according to all accounts, a rather remarkable story, to the effect that at every turn in the promoter's negotiations, what seemed to be an underground hostility was encountered. According to the story then widely circulated, many individual subscriptions, which had been made in good faith, were afterward withdrawn on the ground that "certain interests" could not be recognized by the subscriber. However, when Mr. Baker appeared before a Senate committee early last Winter, he failed to demonstrate that transcontinental railway interests were placing obstacles in his way.

IN THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Adverse Report on Resolution Indorsing President's Stand on Tolls.

But for a motion to delay a vote upon the matter until next month's meeting, it is likely that the Chamber of Commerce would have gone on record yesterday as being out of sympathy with President Taft for his approval of the Panama Canal bill.

At the previous meeting Lewis Nixon, the shipbuilder, introduced a resolution saying that "Whereas, The approval by the President of the United States of the Panama Canal bill has been criticised by the foreign press and foreign commercial bodies as an act in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, be it resolved that the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York approves and indorses the statement of the President that there is no provision in the treaty that forbids the United States from regulating its commerce by remitting tolls on American ships using the canal."

This resolution was referred to Welding Ring, Howard C. Smith, Edward D. Page, George G. Ward, William E. Peck, Silas D. Webb, and George A. Zabriskie, composing the Committee on Foreign Commerce, who unanimously reported against it yesterday and recommended that it be rejected by the Chamber.

When the adverse report was read, Mr. Nixon jumped to his feet and protested against the failure of the committee to cite any reasons for asking the Chamber to vote down the resolution.

"The Hay-Pauncefote treaty was negotiated," he said, "because the Clayton-Bulwer treaty gave Great Britain a certain measure of control of the canal in Central America. While that treaty was violated in spirit and in letter by Great Britain, we never challenged that particular question and have not asked for its abrogation, but have proceeded in good faith, realizing that if we were to build this canal with our money and on our territory, we should do it with our hands free.

"Here is the clause upon which all those who are opposed to the American idea, who through the dissemination of Tory ideas in this country wish to reflect upon the good faith of our Nation: 'That the canal shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and of war of all nations observing these rules on terms of entire equality, so that there shall be no discrimination against any of such nations.'

"There they stop, and say that the United States, although havin~ the right and power under this treaty to enjoy all the rights incident to such construction and make the rules and regulations, must treat itself exactly as every other country is treated.

"I do not think the United States should either in spirit or in law violate any idea of either of these treaties; but since there is a difference of opinion and since international lawyers of admitted standing of our own country and many of Europe define this treaty just as I have and tell you that we should treat the vessels of war of all other nations upon terms of entire equality and we have the right to make such rules as we care for our own, I think we should place ourselves squarely upon the reading of this treaty by the President, and we, as American citizens, should indorse him in the stand which he has taken."

Mr. Nixon's remarks brought a sharp retort from Edward D. Page, who said that they were not discussing so much an American, as a moral and international question. Regarding a reference by the speaker to the firm position taken by the President, Mr. Page said:

"I think it is within the recollection of every gentleman here that the President's position on this question was very wabbly indeed, and that he did not for a time think that he was going to sign the bill. He even stated as much."

The sentiment of most of the members seemed to favor the rejection of Mr. Nixon's resolution, but the matter was put over to the December meeting to allow the Secretary to distribute copies of the two treaties and other State papers involved in the dispute.

STEEL FOR CANAL PLANT.

Commission Orders 7,000,000 Pounds Costing $410,000 for Buildings.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The Canal Commission has awarded a contract to the United States Steel Products Company for 7,000,000 pounds of structural steelwork, to cost about $410,000, for Panama Canal buildings.

The commission's plans include work entirely separate from the canal construction,, especially provision for the repair of ships, the up-keep of the canal machinery, handling coal and liquid fuel for shipping, and office buildings, and accommodations for canal employes.

The present contract covers building equipment for machine shops, forge shops, steel storage sheds, paint and car shops, planing mills, foundries, coke sheds, boiler houses, roundhouses, and gashouses. Among other facilities to be provided are 1,000-foot piers for commercial use at Balboa, two wharves and one pier at Christobal, besides a mole and breakwater, to be followed by four other piers should the traffic justify such an extension. There will be a great drydock at Balboa 1,000 feet long, capable of accommodating any vessel that could pass through the canal locks. This will be on a rock foundation built of concrete. A smaller drydock at Balboa will be for vessels up to 350 feet in length.

As the Government is going into the business of supplying merchant vessels with fuel, water, and other supplies, the commission, according to The Canal Record, plans to locate the main coaling plant on the Atlantic side, capable of handling and storing 200,000 tons of coal, half of which will be kept under water, where it has been found to retain its gaseous contents better. There will be a lesser coaling plant on the Pacific side at Balboa, capable of storing 100,000 tons of coal under and above water. In view of the rapid substitution of oil for coal as a marine fuel, the commission has planned to erect four steel oil tanks of 40,000 barrels capacity each.

The main repair shops for merchant vessels will be located at Balboa. They will be on a large scale, covering a ground space of 525,000 square feet. As far as possible, the present machinery will be utilized in the new shops. One item of equipment peculiar to the canal will be one or two powerful floating cranes, capable of handling the giant steel lock gates of the canal when repairs are needed.

Church Bequests in Rankin Will

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 7.—Surrogate Bullock admitted to probate to-day the will of William Rankin of Princeton, who died several weeks ago. He left $1,000 each to the American Bible Society, the Church Extension Committee of the Newark Presbytery, the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterion Church, and the German Theological Seminary at Haddonfield. The High Street Presbyterian Church of Newark will get $500 and the Wickliffe Presbyterian Church receives a plot of ground in Newark. The balance of the estate goes to his family.

POLICE WITNESSES ABSENT.

Magistrate Herbert Issues Subpoenas for Four in Gang Case.

Magistrate Herbert in the Tombs Court yesterday ordered Assistant District Attorney Nolan to issue subpoenas for four policemen who failed to appear in court to testify in the case of Patrick Lupo of 109 Mott Street, who was arrested at Mulberry and Kenmare Streets yesterday morning on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Lupo was arrested after Policemen Reilly and Reich of the Mulberry Street Station had heard a fussilade of shots fired in front of the New Saloon, which is on the corner. They ran up and saw four men, supposed to be members of the Chick Tricker gang, with smoking revolvers in their hands, running toward an automobile standing in the street opposite the saloon. Lupo was seated in the car, and Policeman Reich at once placed him under arrest. The other gangmen fled when they saw Reich. So far as known, no one was hurt by the shots, which were evidently fired in a gang feud. A revolver with five chambers empty was found lying in the seat in front of Lupo, and he was charged with violating the Sullivan law.

Yesterday afternoon Reich was the only policeman to appear in court, and after Lupo had been held in default of $2,000 bail for further examination to-day, Magistrate Herbert learned that four other policemen had been on the scene after the shots were fired. After hearing that he said to Reich:

"Do you want this court to understand that a gang shooting is of so little importance that the police consider it proper to fail to appear and give testimony? You testify that you were two blocks away when you heard the first shot. Those four policemen, who were on the scene, must have arrived before you and should be able to give a more complete account. Why are they not here? I will direct Mr. Nolan to issue subpoenas for them at once."

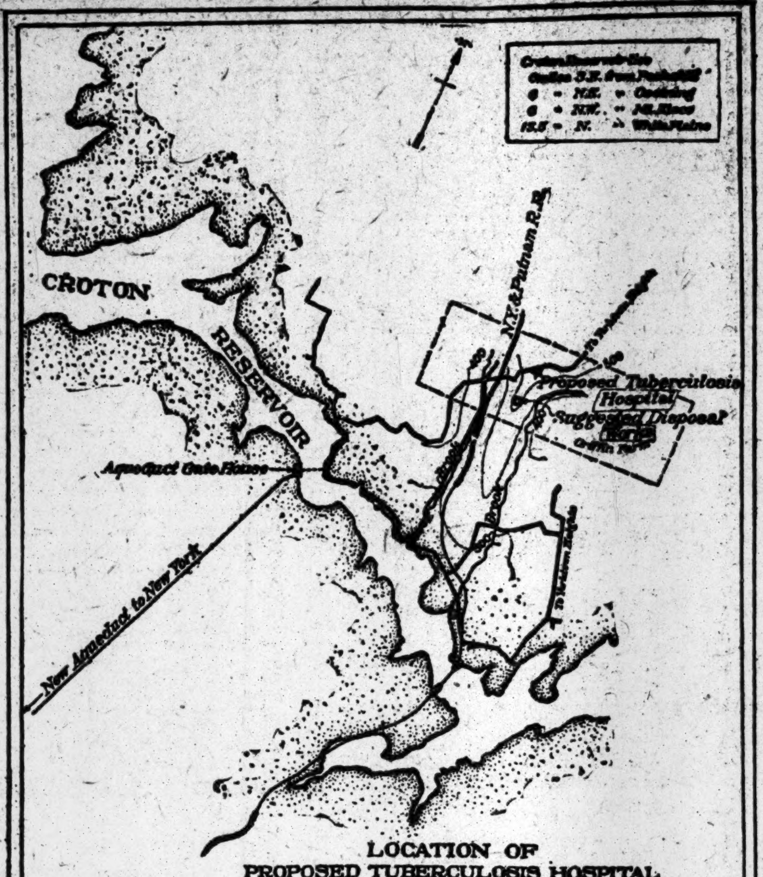
FIGHT HOSPITAL PLAN FOR THE WATERSHED

State Health Commissioner and City Authorities Inspect Site for Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

MENACES NEW YORK'S WATER

Drainage from Farm on Which Institution Is to Stand Is Directly Into Croton Lake.



LOCATION OF
NEAR CROTON RESERVOIR

Dr. Eugene H. Porter, State Commissioner of Health, and a party of municipal authorities from this city, inspected the region of the Croton Reservoir, near Yorktown Heights, yesterday, where the Westchester County Board of Supervisors had voted to erect a sanitarium for tuberculosis patients, a project that aroused widespread opposition not only among the dwellers of the district, but especially from persons and civic organizations in this city. Those opposed to the project maintain that to build a sanitarium just off the bank of the Croton Reservoir would endanger the water supply of New York City through infection.

The trip was made yesterday in a terrific downpour of rain that sent rivulets from the Croton hills, racing into the reservoir far below. The party thus had a graphic illustration of what, according to the opponents of the proposed sanitarium would happen to the water supply of 5,000,000 persons in New York City every time rain fell on the grounds used by the patients of the sanitarium.

In the party that inspected the site yesterday were Dr. Porter, Dr. Charles H. Ridge, Health Officer of Yorktown Heights; A. H. Seymour, Secretary of the State Board of Health; Theodore Horton, Chief Engineer of the State Department of Health; Edward Hatch, Jr., Chairman of the Committee Against Pollution of Water Supply of the Merchants' Association; Dr. W. J. O'Sullivan, Assistant Corporation Counsel of New York City; George W. Fuller, Consulting Engineer of the Department of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity; Thurston C. Culyer, engineer in charge of the watersheds division of New York City; H. A. Thornton, a lawyer, representing the town of Yorktown, and Eugene K. Moses, a lawyer, representing some of the property owners near the site of the proposed hospital.

The site of the proposed tuberculosis sanitarium is an abandoned farm of 277 acres, known as the George J. Griffen farm, worth little for agricultural purposes, but bought conditionally on option for the proposed hospital at $140 an acre. It is on a hill some 500 feet high, north of Croton Lake, and some three-quarters of a mile from the reservoir flow line and less than a mile easterly from the gate house. Upon the farm there are several springs, a swamp, and two brooks tributary to Croton Lake. These brooks run directly through the farm, at the bottom of and at each side of the hill, only 850 and 950 feet from where the proposed hospital is to be erected. The topography is very rugged, rock outcrops are frequent and stratified; the soil is stony, and from the site the drainage is directly to the Croton Lake, into which sewage and surface washings from this site would be discharged. It has been proposed, by those fathering the project, to build a sewage disposal plant just south of the hospital itself, between the two brooks, which, at that point, are only 1,300 feet apart.

The uselessness of such a sewage disposal plant, however, as far as destroying or warding off tuberculosis germs was concerned, was pointed out by Dr. O'Sullivan in a brief submitted yesterday to the State Health Commissioner, and replete with the latest expert medical and bacteriological opinions on the subject. In this brief he set forth that the sewage disposal system advocated for the proposed hospital by Rudolph Hering contemplates biological processes for the disintegration of the sewage solids which in their operations will consume a period of time estimated by Mr. Hering at from three to six months. All sewage liquids are to be discharged into either of the tributary streams emptying into the Croton Lake. A. J. Provost's proposed system of sewage purification embraces an incineration plant for solids; the laundry wastes and sewage liquids are to be discharged into the Croton Lake or Reservoir. In both plans the efficiency of the sewage disposal systems are made dependent upon the vigilance and skill of the person in charge of the operation of the plants.

Dr. O'Sullivan goes on to cite many medical authorities to show that the sputum from patients at the sanitarium would be a source of danger to New York's water supply months after the patient had expectorated it. In his brief Dr. O'Sullivan says:

> It is respectfully submitted that the Griffen Farm, chosen as a site for a tuberculosis hospital, is in dangerous proximity to the Croton Lake, the reservoir of New York City's water supply; that the danger of contaminating this water supply with infective material from this hospital discharged with the sewage effluents into the Croton Lake, would be an ever present menace, and in view of our present knowledge of the practical operation of sewage disposal plants would be an assured fact. That millions of dollars have been expended by the citizens of New York City in securing and maintaining this water supply and that many more millions will be expended to secure a fair standard of purity for the water consumed by the large population of the City of New York.

Thurston C. Cuyler, the engineer in charge of the watershed division, strongly condemned the proposal to put the sanitarium on the watershed. He pointed out that $50,000 was spent annually by the city for a sanitary patrol of twenty-four men, whose duty it was to keep the watershed region clean, burying dead animals found there, and otherwise guarding against every source of infection of the water supply however slight. All their precautions, he said, would fail to prevent the tubercular patients from wandering over the grounds of Griffen farm and spreading infection there which could not, according to Dr. O'Sullivan, be stamped out.

Only Mr. Crane, Chairman of the committee which selected the site, spoke in favor of the proposal yesterday. He favored it because of its accessibility, as it is on a State road and on the railroad, and thus convenient for conveying patients, doctors, and supplies to the hospital.

WOMEN FOR VIVISECTION.

Debates Won Clubs Over, Medicine Academy Hears—Jacobi Quits.

At the meeting of the New York Academy of Medicine, held last evening for the nomination of officers, Dr. Abraham Jacobi's letter of resignation from the Trusteeship, which he has held since 1885, was read and regretfully accepted. The noted physician in spite of his repeated protests was forced to listen while four fellow-academicians paid splendid tribute to him.

"I feel that I can hardly respond to this reception," said he in response. "I will tell you why I have resigned a number of times, though you would never accept my resignation before; I will tell you why I am positively resigning this time. I thought that there was a large number of younger men who could do the work just as well as I could, and who should be broken in. Every man must die; I shall probably be the first to go. But the academy must live on forever."

After nominations for various offices had been made, the balance of the evening was devoted to the reading and discussion of five papers on the general topic: "Work in Preventive Medicine of the Division of Laboratories, Health Department, New York." Two of the five Health Department doctors reading papers were women.

Of greatest popular interest was the almost constant reference in the papers on serums and anti-toxins by Drs. M. Nicholl, Jr., Phebe L. Du Bois, and William H. Park, to "trying it on the guinea pig" or "trying it on the rabbit." When after the meeting Dr. Park was asked his opinion of the anti-vivisection propaganda he said:

"I notice they let us come and treat their children. We aren't fiends then. As to supervision, how can an outsider come into my laboratory and tell me whether an experiment is going to be worth while or not? We don't do it for fun.

"Dr. Flexner, Dr. Lee, and several others, with myself, have appeared before a number of the most important women's clubs in the city and informally debated the question with speakers opposed to vivisection, and every time without exception, after we had put our case clearly before them, the women voted in favor of vivisection."

Elevator Weights Kill Engineer.

While working at the foot of an elevator shaft in the basement of 25 Broad Street yesterday Charles A. Carlsten, of 2402 Cornelia Street, Brooklyn, chief engineer of the building, was struck on the head by one of the counterbalance weights and instantly killed. Other workers in the building found the body.

LEGAL AID CONVENTION.

Delegates from All Important Cities to Meet at the Waldorf.

The Legal Aid Society of New York helped last year some 35,000 poor persons to obtain free of charge legal redress against persons who tried to wrong them. A convention of Legal Aid Societies of all important American Cities will be held this month. It will end with a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on the evening of Saturday, Nov. 16. Louis Windmuller of 20 Reade Street is Treasurer. Joseph H. Choate, Andrew Carnegie, and other eminent men have agreed to address the meeting and explain the desirability of extending the legal aid principle of assistance to all the oppressed poor of the country.

Among the patronesses of the dinner are Mrs. H. Fairfield Osborn, Chairman; Mrs. J. Stewart Barney, Mrs. William Allen Butler, Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Robert J. Collier, Mrs. Lewis L. VIVISECTION FOES ALLIED FOR BATTLE

Two Dozen "Antis" Use Up Thirteen Words in Naming Their Conference.

HINT AT HORRIBLE CRUELTIES

And Draft a "Please-All" Platform for International Animal Defense Congress Next Year.

Five elderly men and nineteen matronly women waded through the rain to the Hotel Savoy at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and called themselves the fourth "Conference of Societies Opposed to Vivisection or to Cruelty in the Practice Thereof."

"And please get the name straight," said Mrs. William Vaname, whose habitat is Newburgh on the Hudson, to the reporters. "If the name were anything else, some of us could not possibly be here."

The earnest champions of the faithful dog, and the gentle-souled guinea pig, the snub-nosed chimpanzee and the white rat of science, gathered in the blue and gold Louis XIV parlor on the first floor, sitting gingerly on spindle-legged gilded chairs, while six chubby little Cupids looked down from the painted clouds on the ceiling.

"It is a 'get-together' meeting of people who are broadminded, who have agreed to sink their prejudices and individual differences in order to work on broad lines," Mrs. Clinton Pinkney Farrell, president of the Vivisection Investigation League of New York, announced.

"Yes," chimed in Mrs. A. F. Lauterbach, "we are an assemblage of broadminded people who have been drawn together by a common cause."

Mrs. Lauterbach wore a conservative black silk dress, a big yellow chrysanthemum pinned to her corsage and a gold lorgnette hanging from a pearl-set gold chain about her neck.

"Now this is not for publication without the consent of this assemblage," interrupted Gen. Rush C. Hawkins, who has a kindly face and some gray hair. "Would it be—ah—detrimental to our cause if I were to say that we do not believe everything that emanates from these vivisection laboratories, the Rockefeller laboratory, for example, to be strictly true?" he asked of his fellow crusaders.

"I believe a very great deal is true," put in Mrs. Lauterbach. "I know all the horrible things they do to those poor creatures to be true. I do say, however, that they are not for the advancement of humanity."

After luncheon in the banquet hall, the conference of twenty-four resumed its session. It was decided to hold the next International Animal Defense Congress in Washington in December, 1913, and committees were appointed. The members also successfully agreed not to disagree and drafted a platform which they hoped would be broad enough for all the "antis" to stand on harmoniously.

But still a young lady from the suburbs, who asked that her name be suppressed, showed signs of feeling as she caught the departing reporters in the hall.

"I was perfectly wild," she said, "when I heard Gen. Hawkins talking to you, for I knew just what he was saying. My society believed in vivisection. We are not opposed to it. Only we want it brought under proper official control. We are not fighting to abolish it, and many of us could not be here on any other basis. Of course, you mustn't print a word of what I say. Promise me."

The societies represented made up in length of name what they lacked in numbers. They were the New England Anti-Vivisection Society of Boston, the Society for the Prevention of Abuse in Animal Experimentation of Brooklyn, the National Society for the Humane Regulation of Vivisection of Boston, the Theosophical Anti-Vivisection League of New York, the American Anti-Vivisection Society of Philadelphia, and the Vivisection Investigation League of New York.

The Greatest Overcoat Sale---
& the Greatest Suit Values---
New York Has Ever Known

There are two tremendously powerful magnets at each one of the Hackett-Carhart stores today.

One of these—and perhaps the greatest—is the rare variety of suits and overcoats being shown.

The other is the remarkable saving afforded each purchaser—a saving that easily averages one-half.

The reason for this lies in the recent Receivership—when the creditors accepted 50 cents on the dollar.

In this instance, the creditors' loss proves to be the customers' gain.

For more than 56 years Hackett-Carhart clothes have been irreproachable—in quality, in style, and in fabric.

Some of the best dressed men in New York have been patrons of these stores for more than two generations.

Today sees Hackett-Carhart clothes at their best—and selling for one-half the price intended when being made.

More than this: Hackett-Carhart suits and overcoats today represent absolutely the latest decrees of good fashion.

They are more recently from the tailors' hands than the stocks in any other New York store.

It is your positive duty to investigate these unique values:

EVALENKO ABANDONS SUIT FOR SLANDER

Withdraws $100,000 Action Against Bourtzeff, Who Called Him a Russian Spy.

ASKS FOR A COURT OF HONOR

Says He Quits Because Accuser Is Out of Country—Latter's Counsel Tells Story of a Photograph.

Alexander M. Evalenko, President of the International Publishing Company, withdrew yesterday, before Judge Mayer in the Federal District Court, his hundred-thousand-dollar slander suit against Vladimir L. Bourtzeff, a well-known revolutionary, who is now publishing a paper in Paris.

Bourtzeff declared Evalenko was an agent of the Russian Secret Police. This the publisher still denies. He declared in statement which he had prepared that his withdrawal of the suit was on the ground that through the absence of the defendant he would have won it on a technicality only, and that in any case he doubted the financial responsibility of Bourtzeff.

However, he declared, he still wants his honor cleared, and he suggested that a court of honor be set up, composed of such men as Jacob H. Schiff, Judge Sulzberger, Louis Marshall, and Congressman Goldfogle, which could decide the matter without being hampered by the technical rules of evidence. Bourtzeff's counsel, Herbert H. Parsons, asked it to be understood that he did not in any way agree to this court of honor idea.

In withdrawing the suit for Evalenko, Elias B. Goodman presented to the court the statement signed by his client, relating the delays he had experienced on account of Bourtzeff's absence. The trial was first set for May 6, and was postponed to May 12 on the understanding that Bourtzeff was then on the high seas. On May 12 his lawyers informed the court that he would be surely present the next day, says the statement. Next came the rumor that Bourtzeff's assistant in Paris was ill, and so he could not leave, and then came another that it was Bourtzeff himself who was ill. Similar delays in the October term were cited, and then Evalenko declared:

"I am convinced that Mr. Bourtzeff does not want to try the case in an American court of justice. He holds himself above courts. In fact, it is asserted on his behalf that he is a party and a law unto himself.

"My attorneys advise me that a trial without Mr. Bourtzeff will be a hollow victory to me, because my traducers will claim that I took advantage of a technicality. I refuse to take either an advantage of Mr. Bourtzeff or further press the suit which will not stop forever the mouths of my traducers.

"Accordingly, I authorize my attorneys to discontinue the lawsuit. Whatever money damages may be awarded to me by a jury will be uncollectible, for Mr. Bourtzeff is financially irresponsible. But vindication I must have."

Evalenko went on to propound his suggestion about a court of honor, and concluded with this address to Bourtzeff:

"Now, Mr. Bourtzeff, I will give you no rest until you make good your outrageous charges or else in manly fashion withdraw them."

The friends of Bourtzeff declared yesterday that the sudden abandonment of the suit by Evalenko was due not so much to the absence of the defendant as to their possession of a certain photograph. Speaking of this yesterday, Simon O. Pollock of 320 Broadway, also of counsel for Bourtzeff, said:

"Only a few months ago I obtained a tintype photograph, twenty years old, which made all the difference in Mr. Evalenko's plans. It represents him with Egor Lazareff, a well-known Russian revolutionary, and Janoff and Irmasof, two other members of the revolutionary party, sitting by a cannon on Bedlow's Island, underneath the Statue of Liberty. Lazareff is a revolutionary of such prominence that even to know him is considered an offense by the Secret Police. He was sent to Siberia four times, but escaped and came here to live.

"The explanation of the photograph is that every secret agent of the Russian Government is expected to secure, whenever possible, photographs of the men he is watching to send to St. Petersburg. Evalenko was unable to get a photograph of Lazareff in any other way than by having a tintype taken at the Statue of Liberty.

"A little while after the picture was taken, Janoff and Irmasof returned to Russia and were arrested at the frontier, thus proving that their movements were closely watched and reported to the secret police. They were questioned about their friendship with Lazareff and confronted with the Statue of Liberty photograph.

"As soon as I obtained this tintype I informed a friend of Evalenko of the fact, and in a few days I received from Evalenko a proposal to drop the action on certain conditions. I absolutely refused."

When Mr. Pollock was asked about the court of honor that Evalenko proposed, he replied that the suggestion was absurd, as the publisher had been investigated already by a committee in this city. They adjudged the charges against him proved, Mr. Pollock said, and when, at his own request, a second committee of investigation was named, Evalenko refused to appear before it.

In May hearings were held in the libel suit in the Federal Building to take the evidence of L. Menschikoff, who had been a chief in the Russian Secret Service. He testified that Evalenko's name appeared in the secret records of the St. Petersburg department, and that he himself had published it in a list of spies in a revolutionary publication known as Revolutionary Thought, No. 6.

BLOWN UP IN POLICE STATION.

Capt. Wakefield Was Examining Plant Taken from Burglars.

Capt. Wakefield of the West Seventeenth Street Police Station was in one of the station rooms yesterday afternoon with two detectives examining a collection of burglars' tools, batteries, wires, fulminating caps, and the like, which had been found on the roof of 134 West Twenty-sixth Street one evening in October, when the police surprised some burglars in the act of blowing their way in. The Captain was handling one of the caps, which was attached to a wire, when Lieut. Manchester called from the desk:

"Better be careful there or something will go off and blow you up."

Just at that moment the wire must have connected with one of the batteries, for there was a violent report, which shook the station house and filled it with smoke. The Captain's uniform was torn from his body, and he was badly cut. He is now in the New York Hospital. The men standing near him received only minor hurts.

Mrs. Almind Sues B. R. T. for Displaying Poster with Her Picture.

Suit to recover $30,000 from the allied roads of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company was brought before Jusitce Kapper in Special Term, Brooklyn, yesterday, by Mrs. Mary C. Almind of 114 West Street, Bay Ridge, because, she alleges, the company displayed her photograph without her permission on posters in all its cars to show the proper way to board and get off a car. The company entered a general denial to the allegations of the complaint, the attorney for defendant asserting that Mrs. Almind knew the purpose for which the picture was taken. Justice Kapper reserved decision.

Mrs. Almind charges the railroad company with violating her right of privacy, which is defined in a statute under which she brings suit.

ANOTHER LANDMARK GOING.

Old Keteltas Home on Second Avenue to be Moving-Picture Theatre.

In the old four-story residence on the northwest corner of Second Avenue and Eighth Street where, in 1869, Senator George Peabody Wetmore of Rhode Island was married to Miss Edith Malvina Keteltas, a moving-picture show and stores are to be installed. Plans for the alteration at a cost of $20,000 were filed in the Building Bureau yesterday. When the change is made lower Second Avenue will have lost the last remaining home of fashionable days which, up to a few weeks ago, remained as a private residence.

Ever since 1847, when her father, Eugene Keteltas, bought the property, Miss Alice Keteltas, a sister of Mrs. Wetmore, has occupied the fine old mansion. It has a large frontage on the avenue and a good-sized garden in the rear. With its red brick walls set off with white marble trimmings and wide marble steps leading up to the door at Eighth Street, formerly St. Mark's Place, the house has for many years been an interesting landmark, contrasting oddly in its dignified and aristocratic appearance with the tenements which have sprung up all around it.

Of late years Miss Keteltas has lived there alone with her servants. Formerly her two brothers lived there with her, but they died several years ago. Miss Keteltas was the only resident in the neighborhood who kept a private coach.

Miss Keteltas last month bade adieu to the old place and moved to her new home in Seventy-ninth Street, just off Fifth Avenue. The old furniture, the carved marble mantels, imported from Italy, and many other of the rich furnishings of the old home were taken to the new home. She could not bring herself to sell the old home, but rented it for a period of years, and it is now controlled by a syndicate known as the Samuel Augenbloch Company.

SEES LAWYER; TAKES POISON.

Closing of His Picture Show the Last Straw—He Dies.

Sigmund Moses of 201 West 118th Street used to be a pretty prosperous business man, but a succession of real estate investments went wrong, and of late he found himself in a state of constant financial uncertainty. He placed great hopes in the returns from a moving picture house established in Forty-second Street between Second and Third Avenues, but the officers of St. Bartholomew's Church objected to the proximity of the show and the license was revoked a few days ago.

It was the last straw for Moses. Yesterday afternoon he went down to see his lawyers, Morris & Schiff of 320 Broadway, and while he was waiting to see Mr. Schiff he suddenly made up his mind. Stepping to the water cooler, he filled a glass and went out into the hall. Then he swallowed strychnine. He died within an hour at the House of Relief.

HARVARD DRILLS ON WET AND MUDDY FIELD

First Hard Practice in Stadium Since Crimson's Victory Over Princeton.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 7.—On a wet and muddy field to-day the Harvard Varsity football players held their first hard practice since last Saturday's game against Princeton. The coaches lined the regulars against the first substitutes and both teams did some hard football playing. The Varsity worked specially on the formations for the backfield which are being worked out for the Dartmouth as well as the Yale game and, while there was no scoring by rushing, the play was steady and fierce.

The regulars made a field goal and so did the substitutes. Brickley and Hollister doing the successful drop-kicking and each making his goal from the 25 yard line.

The Varsity team lined up as it did in the Princeton game, except that Wigglesworth was at centre in Parmenter's place and Trumbull was displaced at right guard by Driscoll. Trumbull was out on the field, but did not get into the line-up, while Parmenter still is under weight. However, Parmenter may play part of the game against Vanderbilt on Saturday, but Trumbull will be kept on the side lines until next week.

Captain Wendell was back in his old place for a short time and showed his usual form while working with Hardwick and Brickley. Wendell ran without any perceptible limp but did not reman in the scrimmage long, Bradley taking his place. Hitchcock, the tackle, got a blow on the leg which made it necessary for Beebe to go to right tackle, but in the locker building nothing was found to be the matter with Hitchcock and he will play Saturday if Coach Percy Haughton decides to use his regular team. This seems fairly certain now, as the Varsity men are coming back to form fast and they can start the Vanderbilt game as well as the substitutes. It is not probable, however, that the first string men will be subjected to much hard football until the last scrimmage before the Dartmouth game, which will not come until a week from to-day. Willetts, one of the backs recently placed on probation, joined the squad again to-day, while McGuire continued to play good football at guard for the substitutes. Bradley, the quarter back injured yesterday, will not be able to play before the Harvard-Yale game.

RAIN RETARDS YALE TEAM.

Long Scrimmage Drill Spoiled by Inclement Weather Conditions.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 7.—Yale foot ball was set back badly to-day by the rain. The coaches wished for a long afternoon's scrimmage because of the preparation for the Brown game, and especially because of the inactivity which was unavoidable nearly all of last week. Scrimmaging was impossible to-day because of the heavy storm, which raged here during the stay of the team on Yale Field. Plans for the afternoon called for a meeting between the freshmen and the 'Varsity, and both teams were keen for the clash. The 'Varsity because of the backwardness of their condition, due to lack of work, and the freshmen because they leave town tomorrow to tackle the Princeton freshmen on Saturday in Jungletown, and wished a rough-and-ready tussle as a final preparation.

When the squads started for the field, rain was falling lightly and they indulged in signal drill, but the downpour came while they were in the midst of their practice and they were ordered by Coaches Howe, of the regulars and Greg Smith of the freshmen to seek shelter. Both teams remained in the new baseball cage until late in the afternoon, perfecting formations through signal work and trying play and drop kicks. "Lefty" Flynn was in all the signal drills and worked with Nate Wheeler for an hour kicking goals.

Carl Gallauer returned to the team at left end. Tommy Cornell ran the eleven and is the coaches' choice to begin the Brown game on Saturday. Wheeler will also get a trial.

Russell Cooney has been relegated to the scrubs and "Dutch" Arnold given his place at left guard. Pendleton will be stationed at right guard as Harbison is out of the game for the present. The coaches will call themselves lucky if Harbison is ready for the Princeton bout. The only coaches here to-day were Walter Camp, Ted Coy, Cochrane, Scully, McDevitt, Howe and Vaughan.

Foss, the Freshman Captain two years ago and later 'Varsity substitute quarter back, has left the squad. Head Coach Howe said to-night that the team would engage in signal practice tomorrow.

CORNELL TEAM CHANGES.

O'Connor Will Direct Ithacans in Game Against Dartmouth.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 7.—On account of the poor weather conditions a heavy rain and heavy gridiron that was so rain-soaked that it was treacherous, Coach Sharpe decided that it was not advisable to risk any of the 'Varsity players in a scrimmage. While the scrubs and freshmen played for an hour the 'Varsity ran through signals and later held an hour's signal drill in the armory in which the new players for the Dartmouth game were rehearsed.

Having learned definitely from the doctor that Captain Butler will not be able to play against Dartmouth, Coach Sharpe has made his plans accordingly, and O'Connor is the man to be picked to run the team. He will give the signals from the left half back position, Sharpe deciding that there was no need to place him at quarter back. So Tabor will act as receiver of the ball and snapper back, but O'Connor is to run the team. Bennett is to play right half back. He is in better condition than Fritz and faster than either Fritz or Whyte. As a defensive back he is something of an unknown quantity, but Sharpe probably figures that he can be no worse than the others who are available. With Hill at full back the back field is completed, though there is a chance that Miller may replace Hill if the latter falls down in backing up the line.

The line is still causing Coach Sharpe some trouble. He has definitely placed Munns at left guard, but neither Williamson nor Lahr are acceptable as tackles. Mallery is promising but inexperienced. Sharpe frankly admitted today that he was unable to say who he would use in the tackle positions. On account of Eyrich's poor condition Rees has been chosen to play left end.

Commerce to Play Stuyvesant.

The football teams of the High School of Commerce and Stuyvesant High School will clash to-morrow at American League Park. The return of Capt. Reichert to the back field will add more speed to Stuyvesant's attack. Commerce's defeat of Morris on Election Day has increased the former's confidence of repeating against Stuyvesant, but the latter also defeated Morris, and in practice shows improved form. The advance sale of tickets indicates a big crowd.

TIGERS PLAY IN STORM.

Rain Has No Terrors for Princeton in Football Scrimmaging.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 7.—The worst storm that has struck Tiger Town this Fall was no ban on Princeton's scrimmage to-day and for more than an hour the Tiger gridiron squad fought through the rain and mud. Osborne Field has been covered with straw for the past two nights, but the caution was fruitless today after the terrific downpour. The Tigers scrimmaged at the south end of the field and did not go on the gridiron. The zone was fifty by twenty yards and it was covered many times, with the players emerging each time in a terribly bespattered condition. Prior to the heavy work the men were forced to go to the cage for signal drill, where they remained for an hour, the two teams participating in the work. It was the first work indoors this season.

Most of the 'Varsity forwards were converted into long-distance men, according to Keen Fitzpatrick's order. Phillips, Bluethenthal, Shenk, Logan, Andrews, Dunlap and De Witt ran three times around the Princeton field, a total distance of about a mile, and there was some hard puffing at the end of their journey. De Witt was the only back man to lay off, and Pendleton and Baker at the halves, Waller at full back, and Stewart Baker at quarter back were busy for the entire hour. The limited practice area made scoring impossible, but the 'Varsity showed lots of dash on both the offensive and defensive. Goldie Wight and Streit had the call at the end positions and the former showed flashes that indicate he is regaining his old-time form.

Garry Cochran, '98, and Jigs Lytle, '91, both Tiger ends that rank high with the best in the history of Old Nassau, were on hand and through the steady drizzle they stuck close to the flank men.

With Pendleton's return to the half back to-day, it looks as though the Tiger ends against Yale will be Andrews and Wight.

The coaches made the most of their opportunity to size up probable substitutes for the Yale game in the absence of the first string linemen this afternoon and Ballin, Ed Trenkman, Harry Walker, W. Swart, I. Swart, Longstreth, and Fred Trenkman received every chance. These second string men seemed to realize their chances, and, despite the trying conditions, each one of them offered consistently steady play. The wet field put a premium on lone get-aways, and most of the hour was a continuous grind, with the 'Varsity plays offensive and defensive, alternately.

This was the last scrimmage before the New York University game Saturday, and it is evident that it was the policy of the coaches to give De Witt, Bluethenthal and Phillips, three of Princeton's strongest defensive players, a thorough rest. The heavy Bluethenthal prefers scrimmage to track work, but the decree to-day was not to be denied. Twenty-six Tigers are at the training table, and any one of these men has a fighting chance for a look-in at the Elis on Nov. 16.

Michigan Comes East to Play Penn.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Both the Michigan and Pennsylvania football teams are resting in suburbs of this city prior to their annual gridiron battle here next Saturday. Coach Yost and a squad of thirty players from the University of Michigan arrived late this afternoon at Wayne, where they will remain until the morning before the game. No practice was held to-day, and only a signal drill is scheduled for to-morrow. The University of Pennsylvania players left here to-day for White Marsh, and will remain there until Saturday. A heavy downpour of rain prevented any outdoor practice, but signals were run through on the porch of the clubhouse. Capt. Mercer of the University of Pennsylvania is suffering from a weak ankle, and Quarter Back Craig has a wrenched back, results of last Saturday's game with State College. Both, however, expect to appear in the line-up against Michigan.

BENJAMIN BRISCOE DINED.

Retiring President of U. S. Motor Company Honored by Employes.

Benjamin Briscoe, retiring President of the United States Motor Company, was the guest of honor at a banquet given by officers and employes of the United States Motor Company in the Hotel Astor last night. The banquet was intended as an expression of the high esteem in which Mr. Briscoe is held by the members of the organization, and their tribute to him not only included the well-wishes of the employes, but was manifested by the gift of a gold watch and fob from the men and a bank of chrysanthemums from the young women of the company.

The banquet was held in the college room of the hotel, and was attended by over seventy-five persons. Among the speakers were John C. Wetmore, dean of the automobile writers, who presided; Alfred Reeves, Vice President and General Sales Manager, who made the presentation, and Horace De Lisser. The dinner was planned incidental to Mr. Briscoe's departure for Europe Saturday.

In speech and song the diners expressed their regret at Mr. Briscoe's retirement, and the hope that his six months' tour of Europe would be one of great pleasure and good health. Between parodies and original songs that were composed for the occasion, selections were rendered by a quintette of colored singers.

TURF CLUB TO CLOSE.

Decline of Racing Makes It Necessary to Shut Up House at Belmont Park.

It was reported yesterday that the Turf and Field Club at Belmont Park will close up for the Winter for the first time in seventeen years. A meeting of the Board of Governors of the club was held yesterday, when the subject of closing the clubhouse for the Winter was discussed. The result of the meeting was not announced, but it is understood that, in view of the falling off of the attendance, it was decided to close the clubhouse until the Spring.

The Turf and Field Club, of which Perry Belmont is the President, is one of the surviving relics of the palmy days of turf racing on Long Island. With the passage of the law prohibiting betting, the club lost its attractive features, but with the revival of amateur meetings at Belmont Park Terminal the attendance increased. These meetings are now closed for the season, and instead of facing a heavy loss by keeping the club open during the Winter, a departure of the hitherto fixed rule was decided upon. The offices of the club are now at The Jockey Club, 6 East Forty-sixth Street, where all business will be transacted during the time the clubhouse is closed.

News of the Athletes.

champion, and Harry Smith will attempt to break the record for the St. Anselm course Sunday, when Coach Doyle of the club will send a number of the members of the club on the five-mile run to be paced by Queal and Smith.

The closing run of the Fall series of the Long Island Athletic Club will be held over the club course of four and a quarter miles Sunday. The first three men to finish will compete with the men who have been placed in the five other runs. The run is open to all club and unattached athletes who are members of the A. A. U.

The Long Island A. C. will be represented in the senior metropolitan cross-country championships to-morrow at Van Cortlandt Park by the following men: William J. Kramer, Henry Kramer, Sydney Leslie, Walter Leslie, Thomas Carroll, Hugh Carroll, James W. Plant, and Arthur A. Richmond.

Exhibition by E. R. C. Members.

Members of the Evening Recreation Centre 188 Cross Country Club witnessed a series of interesting athletic exhibitions last night at the clubhouse, East Houston and Third Streets. A. Knall and M. Baumgarten ran fast trial miles, D. Politzer and I. Glass did good work in the high and broad jumps, and Benny Mann and M. Loeb showed form in the walk. The Walkers' Club will be organized next week by Sam Schwartz of the Walkers' Club of America, and a three-mile cross-country run will shortly be held for the members of the centre.

NEW YORK A. C. GOLF MEN TIED FOR MEDAL

Chisholm Beach and Theodore Cassebeer Each Return Cards of 85 at Fox Hills.

Members of the New York Athletic Club who are golfers competed at Fox Hills yesterday in the qualifying round for the club championship, the first eight continuing at match play for the title and the remainder of the field proceeding with match play for other cups. Match rounds will be played to-day.

As the result of the driving rain, the scores were high, 85 being the best. Chisolm Beach, whose golf club is Fox Hills, and Theodore Cassebeer, who plays at Oakland, each had 85 and tied for the medal. Each man went out in 40 and returned in 45. Cassebeer was the steadier, for only two sixes appear on his card, while on Beach's there are no sixes, but three sevens. He had these on the fourth, eleventh, and thirteenth holes. The tie was not played off.

Instead of the fifty or more contestants that had been expected, only about two dozen appeared, for the rain was enough to discourage anybody. Some of the greens became flooded, and it was necessary for Isaac Mackie, the club's professional, to go out and change some of the holes to permit the tournament to continue. Beach and Cassebeer were fortunate in being able to start early, for those who attempted to go around in the afternoon had little to show for their efforts. The scores:

Championship Division.—Chisholm Beach, Fox Hills, 85; Theodore Cassebeer, Oakland, 85; Dr. A. T. Haight, Wykagyl, 88; John Naething, Englewood, 91; H. C. Richards, St. Andrew's, 92; James D. Foot, Apawamis, 92; Eugene Van Schaick, Midland, 95; A. W. Brandy, Lake Geneva, 97.

Second Division.—A. P. Roth, Manhattan, 99; G. W. Lembeck, Fox Hills, 101; Harold Wooley, Fox Hills, 102; George E. Sykes, Hartford, 102; E. J. Swords, Montclair, 102; J. G. Batterson, Fox Hills, 106; R. C. Collier, Dunwoodie, 107; R. M. Tarleton, Oakland, 108.

Third Division.—R. A. Sasseen, Fox Hills, 109; C. S. Pinkney, Montclair, 114; J. N. Wallace, Jr., Fox Hills, 117; A. H. Pogson, Fox Hills, 118; W. D. Judkins, Wykagyl, 121; P. W. Pogson, Fox Hills, 122; T. E. Conklin, Scarsdale, 124; G. A. Wright, Siwanoy, 126; D. F. McMahon, New York A. C., 126; R. L. Spotts, Fox Hills, 128.

The draw for match play in the championship division follows: Brand vs. Beach; Van Schaick vs. Cassebeer; Naething vs. Richards, and Foot vs. Haight.

WOMEN WADE OVER LINKS.

Miss G. M. Bishop Best in Golf Under Drenching Rain at Nassau C. C.

Returning a capital card of 91—1—90, Miss Georgianna M. Bishop, former holder of both the National and the Metropolitan women's golf titles, led the field for both the gross and net prizes in the one-day tournament of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association over the links of the Nassau Country Club yesterday. Miss Bishop took the gross award, leaving the net for Mrs. C. W. Rendigs of Midland, whose card was 96—5—91.

Twenty-one women braved a driving storm that drenched them and transformed the links into a huge marsh, so that the going was deep, and made necessary considerable pluck to finish at all. So severe was the storm that many of the competitors gave it up, while a few others were so wet that they cared nothing about their scores when they finished.

Under such circumstances Miss Bishop's 91, ordinarily good enough to be a prize winner at Nassau, was remarkable. On one green where she ran down a long putt, the water splashed as the ball ran along and finally dropped into the cup. Miss Bishop's game was at times brilliant and at other times erratic. The scores:

	G.	H.	N.
Miss G. M. Bishop, Brooklawn....	91	1	90
Mrs. C. W. Rendigs, Midland....	96	5	91
Mrs. A. C. Sumner, Nassau......	104	10	94
Mrs. N. P. Rogers, Baltusrol....	97	3	94
Mrs. W. J. Faith, Wykagyl........	101	4	97
Mrs. J. S. Irving, Scarsdale......	104	6	98
Mrs. A. S. Rossin, Century........	103	5	98
Mrs. E. S. Bayer, Century........	109	9	100
Miss Frances Gwyer, Siwanoy....	114	14	100
Mrs. W. C. Chilvers, Mahopac.....	110	7	103
Mrs. H. F. Whitney, Nassau......	113	8	105
Mrs. H. B. Goldsmith, Hollywood..	118	10	108

The following competed but did not return cards: Mrs. Lawrence Swift, Englewood; Mrs. E. S. Benjamin, Century; Mrs. A. Garetzki, Century; Mrs. Clifford Seasongood, Century; Mrs. L. Grumbach, Century; Mrs. Fred Herreshoff, Midland; Mrs. M. D. Paterson, Englewood; Mrs. Frank Enos, Englewood; Mrs. Florian Krug, Englewood, and Miss Louise F. Krug, Englewood.

TRAVIS GOLF VICTOR IN RAIN.

Storm Keeps Many Entrants Out of Atlantic City Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 7.—Playing his usual steady golf, Walter J. Travis of Garden City won the medal with a score of 81 in the qualifying round of the annual Fall tournament on the links of the Country Club of Atlantic City to-day. Only eighteen holes were attempted, a fortunate decision, considering that contestants were compelled to play through a severe rain and wind storm that swept in from the sea about the time the early starters were driving off. The severity of the storm caused more than half of the original 130 entries to withdraw.

Only one golfer, Maurice Risley of Atlantic City, came anywhere near Travis. Going out in 42, Risley went along well, finishing the inward round in 41 for an 83, which included a 6 at the home hole. H. J. Topping, the best of the Greenwich players, had to be content with 93, the wind and rain proving his undoing.

Players qualified in four sixteens to finish out in 18 hole match rounds tomorrow and Saturday. The scores in the first two sixteens were:

First Sixteen.—Walter J. Travis, Garden City, 81; Maurice Risley, Atlantic City, 83; E. A. Lord, Atlantic City, 90; H. L. Willoughby, Philadelphia County, 93; H. J. Topping, Greenwich, 93; B. O. Race, Belfield, 94; H. W. Wood, Whitemarsh, 95; C. F. Williams, Erie, 95; B. W. Corkran, Baltimore, 95; A. W. Maine, Jr., Hackensack, 95; H. B. Newton, Frankford, 96; Frank Smathers, Atlantic City, 96; H. W. Perrin, Merion, 96; H. Martin, Merion, 97; Thomas Senseman, Atlantic City, 98; T. P. Endicott, Atlantic City, 98.

Second Sixteen.—W. J. M. Dyer, Whitemarsh, 98; J. M. Thompson, Springhaven, 98; J. McTrippe, Baltimore, 98; W. E. Wilson, Frankford, 99; A. Collins, Aronimink, 100; H. H. Allen, Columbia, 100; H. J. Gormley, Atlantic City, 100; D. C. Reid, Atlantic City, 100; G. Small, Baltimore, 100; S. L. Allen, Pocono Manor, 101; H. C. Edwards, Atlantic City, 101; F. G. Smith, Bala, 101; F. G. Brown, Riverton, 103; E. M. Jones, Philadelphia Cricket, 103; Carleton Geist, Atlantic City, 104; J. Akcroyd, Merchantville, 104.

MASKED GOLFER CHALLENGES

Britisher Will Play McDermott, "Pro" Champion, for $1,000 a Side.

The mysterious masked English golfer, who has been practicing on the Van Cortlandt Park links, yesterday, through Capt. C. Alston Tyrer of the British Army, challenged J. J. McDermott, the American professional golf champion, to play three matches of 36 holes each on level conditions for a stake of not less than $1,000 a side on any first-class course and on any date suitable to McDermott. Should he defeat McDermott the British player will play Alex Smith, John Hobens, or any of the other professionals under similar conditions. In issuing the challenge Capt. Tyrer says:

> This is the first formal challenge which the masked golfer has issued in this country, and immediately your champion intimates his willingness to accept this challenge the stakes to bind the match can be placed at once in the hands of some representative sportsman.
>
> I sincerely hope that your National champion will waive all punctilio with regard to his opponent's facial disguise. I am confident that the reason for its existence will be admitted by the American public to be a very good one when it is known, and any scruples McDermott may have in this respect should be adequately compensated for by winning the sum of $1,000 should he be successful.
>
> It was originally intended to make the stakes larger, and this can still be done if mutually desired at a later date, but the insinuations made regarding the visit of the masked golfer to this country has caused me to reduce the stake first mentioned—$5,000—to that now proposed, and I repeat my former statement that there is no advertisement of any kind or description underlying the visit of the masked golfer to America, but on the contrary the object is a purely sporting one, and I have further determined in consequence of these statements not to make a bet with any one in the United States in connection with this or other matches.
>
> The masked golfer will be at considerable disadvantage in meeting your champion. He is totally unacquainted with American links, and with the exception of the little practice he has had at Van Cortlandt Park, where the crowds somewhat interfered with his purpose, he has had no practice of any kind for several months. I wish it to be clearly understood that in challenging your champion to meet the masked golfer on level conditions nothing is further from my thoughts than the intention of underrating the difficulties of the task or the sterling merits of your champion.
>
> The standard of golf in America is a very high one, as shown by the splendid score McDermott made in accomplishing an average of something under par in his four rounds at Buffalo, with the issue of a National championship depending upon his play. I was a witness of your champion's play at Muirfield for the open championship of the world and at La Boulie for the championship of France, and I know personally that had it been the bad fortune of the present champion, E. Ray, to have gone around in the weather that your champion had to contend with in Scotland, when he returned so high a card, I think there would have been some other name returned as England's open champion.

McDERMOTT SAYS HE'S HORNE.

Masked Golfer Identified by Atlantic City Professional.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 7.—If any doubt still remained as to the identity of the mysterious golfer who recently caused a stir by playing over the Van Cortlandt Park links in disguise, it was banished here to-day when J. B. McDermott, the Country Club of Atlantic City professional, stated positively that it was William Horne.

According to the open champion, Horne and his manager came here two weeks ago and proposed a match. McDermott recognized Horne, having played with him in France last Summer. It was after leaving Atlantic City that Horne went to Van Cortlandt Park and began his masquerade.

McDermott denied positively that any match had been arranged between him and Horne, and that there never would be along the lines suggested by the foreigner. McDermott added that he stands ready to play Horne or any one else for $500 a side, winner to take all.

To Race for Chatfield Cup.

The Post Office Clerks and Forty-seventh Regiment A. A. games on Saturday, Nov. 23, at the Forty-seventh Regiment Armory, promise to be interesting, with Kiviat, the wonderful little runner from Staten Island, ex-champion schoolboy, and present holder of the American one-mile championship, entered with Rosenberger, Hershon, and Jim Riley in the two-mile military relay race for the Chatfield Cup. The Twenty-third and Seventy-first regiments, which are also entered, are both determined that they shall be first to cross the tape. In the three-mile run Harry Smith, the American distance champion, will have to allow liberal handicaps to such men as Jensen, Carr, Jordan, Devaney, Scott, Bellairs, and Critchley, and any one of these men should give the champion a hard struggle. In the bicycle race, with such men as Goodwin, Fisher, Raleigh, Brown, Van Den Dries, and Nehrent, a good contest should ensue. The regular army will play an important part in this affair with their drills, bayonet exercises, wall-scaling, and rescue races, and, with their music, together with the letter carriers' band, the entire programme will be the best and most elaborate ever put on.

St. Agnes Games To-morrow Night.

The first big athletic competition of the indoor season will be held to-morrow night at the Fourteenth Regiment Armory under the auspices of the St. Agnes A. C. W. L. Jones, who is looking after the affairs of the meeting, has received the entries of many champions at their respective specialties and predicts a banner entertainment. In the seventy-yard dash he has received assurances from Drew, Meyer, Rosenberger, Eller, Archer, and Clark that they will compete. In the special scratch run at half a mile Sheppard and Meredith have signified their intention of toeing the mark. In the twelve and sixteen pound shot events McDonald, Sheridan, Frank, and Whitney will hurl the lead spheres.

The event which promises a sterling performance is the special invitation run at two miles. Only three men have been invited to participate in it, Kiviat, Scott, and Kolehmainen.

Four-Mile Race at Mayo Games.

Three interesting events will be held at the picnic of the Mayo Men at Celtic Park Sunday. In the football game Mayo and Kilkenny will play what should be one of the liveliest matches of the season. John Daly of Galway, J. McNamara of Clare, and Tom Collins of Mayo will meet in a four-mile race for the Irish counties championship. Twenty-one men will ride in the five-mile amateur bike handicap, which will have international color. Nine nations will be represented in the entry list, and Frank Fisher will ride from scratch.

Champions for Airedale Show.

The annual bench show of the Airedale Terrier Club of America will be held to-morrow, when the greatest collection of Airedales ever brought together in this country will be seen in the judging ring. Theodore Offerman, Secretary of the club, announces the following prominent entries: Champion Prince York, Champion Tintern Royalist, Abbey King, Nobbler Abbey, Master Magic, a recent importation; Champion King Oorang, Kenmare Sorceress, Champion Soudan Swiveller, Red Hackle, Bryn Bogand, and York the Pastmaster.

Frye Best in C. C. N. Y. Road Race.

E. Frye won the annual interclass cross-country run of City College over a 5½-mile course yesterday. His time was 31:45, which was very good considering the unfavorable conditions under which the run was held. The freshmen won the point trophy with a score of 29. The seniors finished second with 54, the sophomores third with 64, and the juniors trailed into last place with only 1 point more added. The times of the first ten men to finish follow: Frye, 31:45; Scarlata, 32:07; Branstadter, 32:17; Siebern, 33:00; Butterworth, 33:21; Brown, 33:28; Mones, 33:56; Scholer, 34:10; Hirscher, 34:20; Conroy, 34:28.

ENGLISH REFEREEING SYSTEM FAILS HERE

American Boxers Would Not Obey Commands of "Man Outside the Ring."

The English system of refereeing boxing matches, with the official sitting outside the ropes, is a thing of the past at New York boxing clubs. The system had been on trial at the Forty-fourth Street Sporting Club from the time the club opened its doors four weeks ago until its finish came last night after four rounds of the semi-final bout had been completed. Then Young Corbett, the referee, discarded his coat, vest, and collar and climbed into the ring, where he officiated during the remainder of the evening's programme. Before the main bout went on it was announced that the club was satisfied that the English system would not do in America, and that in all future bouts "the good old American style" would be used. The announcement met with the hearty approval of a crowd which comfortably filled the Forty-fourth Street Club.

The action of the club officials forestalls any action by the State Athletic Commission, which had gone on record as being opposed to the English style.

The main bout of last night's show brought together Johnny Lore and Young Reilly, west side lightweights. The ringside weighing-in showed both at the same mark, 132½ pounds. Lore was the aggressor all the way, and he also was the harder puncher, winning the bout by a decisive margin. Reilly at best is a flashy boxer, and he showed occasional bursts of speed, but they were not long enough to cause any damage. He had great respect for Lore's punching ability and took no chances in the open. In the clinches Reilly got in practically all of his punches. Lore drove his opponent to the ropes time and again with hard right swings to the head, and in three rounds he seemed to have Reilly in distress. The latter covered up well when Lore tried to follow up his advantage, and managed to keep on his feet all the way.

The ten-round semi-final brought together Eddie Shevlin of Boston and Bill Fleming of Oldtown, Me., and it was during this bout that the English system of handling bouts passed out of existence at the club. Young Corbett remained outside the ropes for four rounds, but he did not have much success in making the two boxers obey his orders to break. As the bell sounded at the end of the fourth round, Corbett climbed through the ropes, and he finished his work inside the ring. Shevlin's superior boxing in the closing rounds gained him the honors in this bout. In the early rounds Fleming showed to advantage with his strong jabbing. He was taller than Shevlin, and had a much longer reach, which he used to good effect for a time. But he had the old fault of leaving himself open for all kinds of punches, and as soon as Shevlin began to take advantage of this the tide turned. Fleming showed up very poorly in the closing rounds.

Sheriff Julius Harburger occupied his usual ringside seat, and tried to stop the opening bout, but Referee Corbett "beat him to it." The contestants were Chick Lawlor and Young Foley, who were scheduled to go four rounds. After Foley had been floored twice in the third round the Sheriff jumped to his feet and waved his hands in protest, only to find that the referee had waved Lawlor to his corner.

KEEN RACING IN POOL.

Erasmus Hall Swimmers Win Dual Meet from Harris Hall.

By the margin of 7 points, due to their victory in the relay race, Erasmus Hall triumphed over the aquatic team of Townsend Harris Hall last night in the second dual swimming contest of the Public Schools Athletic League tournament in the natatorium of the College of the City of New York by the score of 30 to 23. The victory of the Erasmus quartet in the relay gave them 8 points, while the defeated team was blanked.

The feature event was the relay won by Erasmus Hall by a margin of one and one-half yards after leading all the way. The event required eight lengths of the pool to cover the distance, with each team member swimming two lengths. In the first two circuits Townsend Harris was second only by a few inches. After that stage the speedy members of Erasmus drew away from Townsend, and in the last relay Clyburn, the star of Erasmus, had matters all his own way in being first to touch the finish line.

Clyburn later won the 50-yard swim, and finished second to Hopkins of Townsend in the 220-yard event. The summaries:

100-Yard Swim.—Won by A. Kemptner, Townsend Harris Hall; A. Fitzgibbons, Townsend Harris Hall, second; F. North, Erasmus Hall, third. Time—1:11.

220-Yard Swim.—Won by J. Hopkins, Townsend Harris Hall; A. Clyburn, Erasmus Hall, second; R. Long, Erasmus Hall, third. Time—3:06.

268-Yard Relay.—Won by Erasmus Hall, team composed of Long, North, Cramp, and Clyburn; Townsend Harris Hall, team composed of Fitzgibbons, Woodman, Robinson, and Kemptner, second. Time—2:57 3-5.

Plunge for Distance.—Won by H. Meyer, Townsend Harris Hall, distance 47 feet; A. De Veau, Erasmus Hall, distance 37 feet, second; J. Murray, Erasmus Hall, distance 32 feet, third.

Fancy Driving.—Won by R. Long, Erasmus Hall, 112 points; J. Hanshell, Townsend Harris Hall, 110 points, second; H. Woodman, Townsend Harris Hall, 88 points, third.

Point Score.—Erasmus Hall, 30 points; Townsend Harris Hall, 23 points.

Bryant Marksmen Win.

The Bryant High School rifle team defeated De Witt Clinton at the Clinton range yesterday afternoon by a total score of 264 to 263. The competition was close, and Iorio of Bryant and Dutton of Clinton tied for the high score at 35. The scores: Bryant—Hebble, 31; Dornes, 33; McGraw, 31; Schumaker, 34; total, 264. 33; Eliot, 33; Genovese, 34; Iorio, 35; McKean, Clinton—Welton, 32; Grose, 33; Wey, 32; Schwartz, 33; Norway, 33; De Castro, 33; Dutton, 35; Bonsel, 32. Total, 263.

CHANCE FOR THE YANKEES?

Rumor Has It That Frank Farrell Wants Old Cub as Leader.

There was much speculation yesterday in baseball circles as to the probable successor of Harry Wolverton as manager of the New York Americans. President Frank Farrell has stated that he has no one under consideration, although in Chicago there has been persistent rumors that the Yankee management would like to get Frank Chance to manage the Yankees next season.

Chance is now at his ranch in California, but before leaving Chicago a few weeks ago, it is stated, that he confided to friends that he would take an American League berth in this city if the consideration was large enough, and if Murphy would not interfere with his future in baseball.

A dispatch from Chicago last night stated that there was a rumor there that Chance has been offered a large annual salary, together with a percentage of the season's earnings, and a five-year contract if he would take the leadership of the Yankees. Baseball men who were interviewed about the matter last night stated that there was no doubt but that the Yankee management would be glad to get Chance for next season, but the rumor that he was offered a larger salary than any other baseball manager in the major leagues is taken with a grain of salt.

DEAL FOR TINKER IS OFF.

Cincinnati Would Not Give Up Bescher in Trade for Shortstop.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 7.—The proposed deal whereby Joe Tinker would come to Cincinnati as the 1913 manager of the Cincinnati Nationals was to-day officially declared off, following a conference between President Herrmann of the Cincinnati team and Charles W. Murphy of the Chicago Club. The result of the conference hinged on the services of one player, Bob Bescher, the Cincinnati left fielder. Murphy had insisted that Bescher should figure in the deal, but Herrmann could not see his way clear to let the outfielder leave the Reds, and absolutely refused to consider any deal in which Bescher was to be a part.

Murphy came to Cincinnati to close the deal if possible. Several propositions had been made to Murphy by Herrmann involving various local players, but all the suggestions of the Red chieftain were turned down by the Cub President. After the conference to-day Murphy said: "I won't trade Tinker unless Bescher is in the deal."

Herrmann then said: "The deal is off. Bescher will not be traded under any circumstances."

Immediately after the conference was at an end President Herrmann filed with President Lynch of the National League claims for the services of Roger Bresnahan, formerly Cardinal manager, and Frank Chance, late pilot of the Cubs. Under no circumstances will Hank O'Day manage the 1913 team.

Inter-State League Partly Formed.

AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 7.—The Inter-State Baseball League was organized here last night and a schedule of 140 games, extending from May 1 to Sept. 14, adopted. The league will be Class B, and will have a $2,000 salary limit. Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Erie, Penn., and Zanesville were represented. Wheeling, West Va., also is to be in the league, and a committee was named to secure two more towns to make an eight-team league. No President was elected at this meeting.

Sunday Ball in New England.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—The New England League of Baseball Clubs voted at its annual meeting to-day to sanction a movement looking to the passage of a bill in the Legislature allowing the playing of professional baseball in Massachusetts on Sunday. The Fall River franchise was declared forfeited. Upon the payment of certain debts, the franchise will go to Messrs. Peiper of Lawrenc, Roche and Gray of Lowell, and Fraser of Lynn, who plan to dispose of it to one of several bidders. It was said to-night that it will probably stay in Fall River.

Athletics Win in Cuba.

HAVANA, Nov. 7.—The Philadelphia American League team defeated the Almendares nine here to-day by a score of 8 to 5.

Lauderbach Wins Tournament.

Dave Lauderbach, the crack amateur billiard player of Brooklyn, sustained his first defeat of the season at the hands of Charles Otis in last night's game of the amateur handicap three-cushion carrom tournament at Keeney's Academy in Brooklyn. The contest, which was to have been the final game of the tournament, was won by Otis by the score of 40 to 22. Both contestants were playing at the scratch mark of 40 points, and the winner ran out his string in fifty-three innings. Each player had a high run of 4 points. Otis was the only player who had a chance to tie with Lauderbach for the premier honors, and, as he was defeated by Morrison in Wednesday's game, Lauderbach won the tournament, with a record of six games won and one lost. Otis finished in second place, with a total of five games won and two lost. Thomas Bickert and Edward Milkman are tied for third place, each having won four and lost three games. The tie will be decided this evening.

Jap Billiardist Beats Poggenburg.

Kogi Yamade, the Japanese billiardist who is practicing for the 18.2 balkline billiard tournament which begins next week at the Hotel Astor, last night defeated Ferdinand Poggenburg 400 to 224 at George Slosson's Academy. The game required thirteen innings, in which the Japanese averaged 31 10-13, with high runs of 129, 70, 47, and 35. Poggenburg's average was 18 2-3, with high runs of 70, 57, 36, and 22.

Hoppe Plays Well in Practice.

In a practice game of 18.2 balk-line billiards at the McGraw-Hoppe Academy, Thirty-fifth Street and Sixth Avenue, last night Willie Hoppe, the holder of the world's championship titles at 18.1 and 18.2 balk line, defeated Tom Gallagher, a veteran of the billiard game, by the score of 400 to 102. The champion ran out his string in ten innings, which nets him an average of 40 points. His high run was 181 points. Gallagher's best run was 44 points, with an average of 10 1-5.

DE ORO LEADS SHERMAN.

Champion Makes Score 400 to 345 in Match's Second Session.

After playing for four hours and a quarter, Alfredo De Oro, the champion, led Frank Sherman of Washington, the challenger for the pool title, last night in the second block of their 600 point match for the world's title, leading at the finish by 400 points to 345. Doyle's Academy, the scene of the contest, was packed with enthusiasts, most of whom sat the session through because of the many interesting stages.

When the men began play last night Sherman had a lead of 71 buttons, but steady playing by the champion soon warranted his getting the championship because of his more methodical opponent, with the result that he got into the van twice, only to be quickly dropped back, but eventually opened up a gap which the Washington man failed to close.

The champion went into the lead for keeps when he finished his twenty-third frame, and Sherman on but two subsequent rack-ups led him in the point getting. There was a vast amount of safety play throughout, and Sherman seemed indisposed to "take a chance" to open up the game for the greater portion of the time. De Oro wos "always there" when a shot presented itself, and it was his daring in going after combinations which finally put him to the good.

Through his failure to call the "2" ball after counting one at the beginning of the ninth frame Sherman unwittingly provoked an argument. De Oro asserted that his opponent had not called the ball, and his contention was allowed by the referee, Frank Keogh, who stated that he had not heard Sherman call the shot, which he counted. Partisan spectators attempted to stir up trouble, but order was brought about by the management's statement that the referee was serving to adjudicate on such points and his decision must be accepted as final. After Sherman's slip-up on the call the spheres were spread all over the table and in fine position for a clean-up by either player. De Oro was willing to have the balls racked up, but Sherman demurred, and the referee's ruling prevailed.

After De Oro had picked off the free ball at the opening of the thirtieth frame he essayed a seven-ball combination by contact with one ball at the end of a right-angled triangle bunch, driving the sphere at the other end into the opposite corner pocket.

Sherman opened up the proceedings by making a safe break of the first pyramid of fifteen balls, after which neither was able to score for two successive shots. De Oro finally found the spheres for seven, stopping on a back bank to the corner. After Sherman had holed three the Cuban came along and cleaned up, leaving the fourteen ball glued to the lower rail, and in a position to warrant a "bust" shot beginning the next frame.

This he did, slamming into the bunch, dislodging the two end balls. He wound up after pocketing five, missing a two-ball combination for the lower left-hand corner, after which Sherman seemingly found little difficulty in accounting for what remained. Sherman holed the "free" ball at the beginning of the third frame, and each afterward gave the other the "oil" for three shots until De Oro attempted a double kiss of the fifteen ball into the corner, which spread the bunch all over the table.

The end of the fourth frame showed that each had pocketed twenty-eight balls, with the strings showing for the two nights' play to that time, Sherman 228, De Oro 157.

The champion got closer to the Washingtonian with a bevy of fourteen in the eleventh frame, which brought the totals to 242 for Sherman and 239 for De Oro. A beautiful break from the free ball enabled De Oro to equal and pass the leader. His period in front was short-lived, however, as he slipped up on a three-ball combination for the corner and enabled Sherman to finish the frame three points to the good, with the score 249 to 246.

With an even break of seven apiece in the twenty-first frame after a long drawn out period, De Oro made his way to the front in the next, when he rolled in the entire outfit and showed his string at the end of the frame to have 319 buttons against 312 for the challenger. When he had finished the preceding run he left the free ball in position for a smash into the bunch, which enabled him to clean the table for the fifth time during the night and establish the high run of 23, with the score showing De Oro 333 and Sherman 312. The score:

De Oro, (129)—11 5 11 1 9 10 14 13 11 11 14 7 0 1 11 8 9 7 * * 14 4 7 14 14 7 14 11 5 2 * 13 12 4. Total—400. High run, 23.

IMMEDIATE TARIFF REVISION.

The country is interested to know when the Democrats will revise the tariff, and how they will revise it. Both questions may be readily answered. They have been answered already.

The Democrats have promised that the revision will be immediate. The Democrats have made their campaign upon the tariff issue, they have denounced the Payne-Aldrich schedules for the burden they needlessly impose upon the people. Neither Mr. Wilson nor his party can afford by inaction to withhold from the people relief from those burdens a single day longer than is required by the necessities of legislation. It may be assumed that Gov. Wilson will convene Congress in extraordinary session very soon after he takes office. For a double reason the country could justly complain of postponement of revision to the regular session. The consumers expect relief, immediate relief, and it is better for the business of the country that prompt action should be taken. Delay and suspense are harmful to industry. They would be more harmful than that moderate revision that the Democrats will undertake.

What the Democrats will do with the tariff, the temper in which they will approach the task of revision, we already know from the bills prepared by Mr. Underwood's committee, which the Democratic House has already passed. The Committee on Ways and Means of the present Congress has reported, and the House has passed, a Cotton bill, a Woolen bill, a Metals Schedule bill, and the Free List bill. The Cotton bill was passed Aug. 3, 1911, by a vote of 202 to 91. The Wool bill was passed Aug. 14, 1911, by a vote of 206 to 90. The Wool bill, substantially in its earlier form, was passed again by the House April 1, 1912, by a vote of 182 to 92. The Metals Schedule bill, passed by both houses and vetoed by President Taft, was passed in the House over his veto by a vote of 173 to 83, with 131 members absent.

In the Metals bill the present iron and steel duties were reduced by an average of about 33 per cent. The reductions proposed in the Wool and Woolens bill were important. That is the "indefensible" schedule. Mr. Underwood, in explaining the bill, said that the present duties, averaging 90 per cent., would be reduced by his bill to 48 per cent. The original House bill was passed on June 2, 1911. Before it had been subjected to amendment by the Senate, it imposed a duty of 20 per cent. on raw wool in place of the Payne-Aldrich duty of 44.31 per cent. Upon combed wool it substituted a duty of 25 per cent. for the Aldrich duty of 115 per cent.; yarns were made 30 per cent. instead of 82 per cent.; woolen cloths 40 per cent. in place of 97 per cent.; blankets and flannels 45 per cent. in place of 95.57 per cent.; dress goods 45 per cent. in place of 102 per cent.; clothing 45 per cent. in place of 81 per cent.; carpets 40, 35, and 30 per cent. in place of 70, 62, and 76 per cent.

If President Wilson calls an extra session, the composition of the Democratic House will be very much what it is now, but the party majority will be greater. There is no present reason to suppose that revision will be undertaken in a spirit different from that which was reflected in the bills already passed and vetoed. They may probably be accepted as a fair measure of what the Democrats will do. Having this light upon the important schedules affecting wool, metals, and cotton, the country already knows a good deal about Democratic tariff revision. There remain among the other important schedules chemicals, pottery, lumber, sugar and molasses, agricultural products, silks and silk goods, flax, hemp, and their manufactures, and pulp and paper.

We think it safe to assume that Chairman Underwood and his committee have already made substantial progress in most or all of these schedules. As a project of legislation, yet awaiting debate and enactment, it may be said that the tariff is already pretty well revised. What need is there of protracted hearings? For the most part they have been had already. The committee is informed as to all the schedules, it knows what the country wants, it knows what it intends to do. We see no reason why, without haste, without slipshod work, with due consideration, bills revising all the schedules, or so many of them as it is the Democratic purpose to take up at once, should not be reported and sent to President Wilson in a session lasting not more than three months.

THE NEED OF UNCLES.

There will be a sad lack of Uncles in the Sixty-third Congress unless the right avuncular quality is discovered in some of the new members. That will take time. Meanwhile Uncle Joe Cannon and Uncle Cy Sulloway will have only three months more of public life. Both are elderly, as men go, for Uncle Joe is 76 and Uncle Cy is 73, and it is not likely that either of them will care to undergo the excitement and suspense of another political campaign. Probably both will find the peace and comfort of private life enjoyable after many years of contentious activity.

The member from the Eighteenth District of Illinois has served in the House of Representatives for twenty consecutive years, and had served for three terms before 1893. The member from the First District of New Hampshire has held his office continuously for eighteen years, and had been in Congress off and on previously. Both have been conspicuous figures. Republican policies of the good old-fashioned sort will suffer without their aid. Both are unsuited, temperamentally and by the kind of experience they have enjoyed, to service in the Opposition, wherefore it is unlikely that either very seriously regrets his defeat, except for the Nation's sake. Uncle Cy and Uncle Joe are philosophers, and they have had their full share of work. Perhaps they have worked too long to know how to play, but we hope not.

They will be missed in Congress. The membership of a large body of strenuous workers requires a few such kindly souls to keep it cheerful. The Sixty-third Congress needs Uncles, and there will be much curiosity throughout the Nation as to how the deficiency will be supplied.

THE NATIONAL POPULAR VOTE.

The varying votes of the minor parties, the Socialists, the Prohibitionists, and the Woman Suffragists, are an interesting study. The political fortunes of the Nation, however, depend upon the interchange of votes between the two leading parties, and for this the material is at hand. It gains in interest by comparison with earlier years, and for this purpose the following table has been prepared, omitting three figures from each column:

		Total.
1880—Garfield, 4,449;	Hancock, 4,442	8,891
1884—Blaine, 4,848;	Cleveland, 4,911	9,759
1888—Harrison, 5,444;	Cleveland, 5,538	10,982
1892—Harrison, 5,176;	Cleveland, 5,556	10,733
1896—McKinley, 7,104;	Bryan, 6,502	13,607
1900—McKinley, 7,207;	Bryan, 6,358	13,566
1904—Roosevelt, 7,623;	Parker, 5,077	12,701
1908—Taft, 7,678;	Bryan, 6,409	14,880
1912—
Taft....... 3,536
Roosevelt.. 4,193
7,730	Wilson, 6,191	13,921

It thus appears that considering the two leading parties only, and counting the Taft and Roosevelt votes together, there are almost a million missing votes which neither party has lost to the other. They may have straggled to other parties, or they may have not voted at all, the silent votes in that case being the missing votes. Since it is now clear that the dominating issue was the tariff, this year's vote may be regarded as the finale to the campaign in which Garfield declared that he was for that sort of protection which tended toward free trade. Beginning with 1880 there appears a normal growth which abnormally increased with the frenzy of the Bryan campaigns. It is remarkable that since 1896 there has been only a small growth in the total vote, and there has been an actual small decrease in the Democratic vote. Bryan in 1908 held his strength of previous campaigns better than Wilson held the Democratic vote this year. It would seem that the Bryan vote is a personal vote rather than a partisan vote. Free silver and other Bryanisms seem to be better vote-getters than even tariff reform, but the country has been saved from such aberrations by the transfers of voters alternately from one party to the other. The sound Democratic vote has been found in the Republican column when it was most needed, and when it did most good. And what the Republican Party gained in this manner it seems in part to have kept, judging by the remarkable stability of the Republican vote when compared with the fluctuations of the Democratic vote.

It was the bolt from Bryan which first brought the Republican vote above seven millions, and there it has stayed with remarkable steadiness. There are no Republican parallels for the loss of the Democratic vote in the Parker year, and the sudden gain in the same vote the next campaign, when Bryan ran again. But Bryan made no appeal to the votes which the Democrats had lost. His vote in the third campaign was midway between his first two, while the Republicans' ranged above seven millions. This year Wilson wins with a smaller vote than Bryan had when he was defeated. The reason is the division of Mr. Wilson's opponents. The united vote of the Republican factions would have beaten the Democrats at their strongest. Even this dissension did not strengthen the Democratic ranks. The cause which Taft did not represent, and which carried Wilson into the White House, did not draw back to the Democrats the votes they had lost.

THE FEDERAL INCOME TAX.

Ten States have not yet voted upon the Federal income tax, but the votes of only two more States are necessary to empower Congress to inflict this blessing upon us. The prospect that the two votes will be forthcoming are indicated by the fact that thirty-four States have already voted in the affirmative, and only four in the negative. The income tax, therefore, has carried the country as overwhelmingly as the Democrats, and it will remain for them to complete the work which the Republicans began by levying an "excise" tax on corporations.

The overwhelming popularity of that tax on incorporated, and what might be called impersonal, personalty is the explanation of the authorization of the most intimate of all taxes. In some cases it will be collected twice, for some States have already levied a local income tax, which, of course, is in addition to any Federal tax. In Wisconsin the tax was no sooner felt than it was hated, just as it is hated wherever it is paid. The United States did not need the money, having already more income than it can take good care of, or spend to advantage. The motive of the tax is not to support the Government under any unusual strain—as is customary in nations where the income tax is a war tax—but to take something from those who are thought to have too much. Some individuals thought they could make others pay and escape themselves, and some parts of the country thought they could profit by the expenditure of the tax raised in other sections. These are the facts which explain the necessity for a constitutional amendment before Congress could levy the tax. It is not to be apportioned according to population, and therefore it was necessary to remove the constitutional inhibition against the levying of that sort of tax.

Now that it has come within hailing distance, and is a matter of near and practical politics, the important thing to consider is not that we must pay the tax, but what sort of tax it shall be. The amount of it, the exemptions from it, the sources of it, are all questions of which we shall hear a great deal. The more we hear of them the less popular the tax will be among those upon whom it will fall, and the more it will commend itself to those who will escape payment. Class taxation is the most odious sort, and the income tax is essentially a class tax. It derives its undeserved popularity from the notion that it falls upon those best able to pay, and is levied according to ability to pay. But an income tax must be paid alike by those whose incomes are derived from investments and from services, and it is therefore a tax on industry as well as on wealth. And to take, say, one-tenth from an income of $100,000 is by no means the same as to take a tenth from an income of $1,000. These distinctions are so obvious and shocking that they customarily are remedied in manner hardly less shocking, that is to say, by exemptions, or by taxing some more heavily than others.

As services and property are of most unlike character it follows that an income tax levied upon terms of entire equality is most inequal in its incidence, and lacks that essential quality of a good tax, that is equality of sacrifice in payment. If the Nation needed the money patriotism would require the cheerful payment of almost any tax. Since the Nation would be better without the money, and the citizens of the country would be the better for keeping their money, the duty of good citizenship is to examine the nature of the forthcoming tax most narrowly.

WOMEN AS USHERS.

The employment of young women as ushers at the Horse Show is not a dubious experiment. Women-ushers, we believe, were first employed in this city by Oscar Hammerstein at the Manhattan Opera House. They performed their simple duties so well, with grace and tact and self-control, that they greatly increased the comfort of ticket holders and helped to make the house popular. Mr. Hammerstein's example has been followed by many of the theatre managers here and elsewhere. The custom comes from England, of course, where women were employed as box openers in the old days when the pit and balcony had no reserved seats. But English women are employed in various capacities in which there is a wholesome American prejudice against their employment. We do not favor female cigar-shop clerks and barmaids here.

As theatre ushers, however, women have proved their fitness. The women ushers are always of neat appearance, and nearly always alert and obliging. The few men employed work the better for their influence. No doubt women will eventually crowd all the men out of this kind of work. They have the good sense not to appear above their business, they are rarely pert, and they manage to correct the few inevitable errors as to the numbers of seats with the least possible confusion. The man usher is frequently something else in the daytime, pursuing an occupation which has nothing to do with direct service to the public. Too many young men in these days, also, have no clear conception of service. The women at the telephone, with few exceptions, and those serving as ushers in the theatre seem really to comprehend and to have the tact and will to perform it discreetly. As the public pays for this service and it expects it, the women ushers are already popular. Their employment at the Horse Show will doubtless increase their popularity.

DEBATING VS. FOOTBALL.

The Times has received from Prof. Charles Sears Baldwin of Columbia University copies of papers reminding us that representative collegians do not consider successful athletics a fair test of collegiate efficiency. It is a timely reminder. In the hurly-burly of the big "gridiron" contests we had all but forgotten that the conflict of minds might constitute a good advertisement of a college, besides furnishing a fair gauge of the real efficiency of its men. The reasons which Dr. Eliot urged against intercollegiate football tell all in favor of intercollegiate debating.

The debate, at any rate, represents the educational mill. What Prof. Baldwin calls the "variety of attack and "defense, the heavy thrust of new "ideas, the press of unfamiliar meth-"ods," show in a fair upstanding contest between the teams of two great universities. They are an earnest of the performances of the contestants in the battle of life. When their sons shall be preparing for the academic lists and the judges, Prof. Baldwin says, the young fathers will be exhibiting before many judges "what the "training of the college was worth in "ability to learn fully without waste "and to use fully without fumbling."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Percentages Gave the Results.

So accustomed is the public to having the election returns collected for it in a single night from all over this large country that it does not realize the magnitude of the task and accepts as a matter of course not only the very nearly complete presentation of the vote printed next morning, but the larger and most desired results that it gets in the shape of bulletins within a few hours after the polls are closed.

This year there were more than the usual difficulties to be overcome, since the chief struggle was between three instead of two candidates, and even in the best equipped newspaper offices there was much apprehension that the returns would be late and even some fear that morning would find the name of the next President still undetermined. These forebodings proved groundless, and on the morning following the election practically everything of importance and general interest was presented in such detail that thereafter "election news" required neither much space nor big headlines.

More than that, it was possible here to announce Gov. Wilson's success, not a few hours after the polls had closed, but before they had closed in California, where "the difference in time" counts for so much, but before they had closed in New Jersey, at 7 o'clock. Half an hour before that, or at 6:37, to be exact, The Times confidently proclaimed the election of the Democratic candidate.

Of course, at that hour returns were few, but there were enough of them to be decisive. For, in spite of frequent assertions to the contrary, this is a country with a population amazingly homogeneous as regards sentiment, if not racial origin, and the first returns—they happened to come from Massachusetts—established a percentage basis of computation which applied to the whole of that State and to every other. The apparently exceptional States, like Pennsylvania and Vermont, are not such in reality. They "went" as did the others, as will be seen if their normal huge majorities be taken into consideration.

As a matter of fact, not all of the returns are in yet, many a sequestered hamlet being still unreported. Their votes, however, will affect only minute local issues and offices. What everybody wanted to know is now an old story, and it became so with a rapidity that is none the less wonderful because it is familiar.

Election Bets Are Still Made.

Though there was less than the usual amount of election betting this year, still there was enough of it, according to all accounts, again to make plain that the law penalizing this particular form of argument is so far ahead of, or aside from, public sentiment that its enforcement is impossible and its right to a place on the statute book therefore more than dubious.

Valid reasons can easily be found for declaring that to bet on elections is reprehensible and that it ought to stop. Few people, however, except those who really believe all betting to be wrong, can be effectively convinced that election bets are essentially different from or worse than any others. The existence of the law may prevent the making of a few bets, but in the majority of cases it only leads to secrecy and subterfuge, and whether, on the whole, its existence does more good than harm is at least open to question.

Law or no law, citizens who easily pass as reputable continue to back their political opinions, some with money, some with hats, others with gloves or candy, and still others with "a big red apple." The pillars of the Nation are not visibly shaken as a result of these venturings, and probably no election result was ever affected by them to any measurable amount.

Perhaps a Costly Triumph.

Sir George Donaldson, it has been decided by the Lord Chief Justice, with some help from a London jury, will have to pay to Alfred G. Temple the full amount demanded by him as commission on picture sales to Senator Clark that resulted from—or followed—the bringing together of the Senator and Sir George by Mr. Temple. So interesting is the case, and so large the verdict—it adds $30,700 to a commission of $10,000 already and voluntarily paid—that one cannot help regretting the failure of the trial, as reported, to make clear all details in regard to this peculiar episode in the high circles where art and wealth come in contact.

One would like to know, for instance, whether Mr. Temple took money from Senator Clark as well as from Sir George—whether, that is, he sold his judgment as a picture expert to the buyer, as well as his powers as an introducer and persuader to the seller. Action in either capacity would have been entirely legitimate, of course, but their combination might be expected to lead to moral and other complications.

Again, the unfortunate defendant in this suit seems to have posed as a collector reluctant to part with his treasures, especially to an American millionaire, when in reality he was a dealer anxious only to get big prices for his wares and quite willing to pay well any agent who could help him to separate the simple-minded alien from his superabundant dollars.

It is really a pity, from a sporting point of view, that Senator Clark was not called to the stand and asked to tell what he thought of the whole transaction. He must have acquired from the testimony, and especially from one of the exhibits—a letter in which he was classed with the "blasé buyers" who have to be excited to purchase by the creation of imaginary difficulties—a strong suspicion that he paid for his pictures, if not too much, at least more than anybody else would have paid for them. That suspicion, if entertained, would have produced irritation, and irritation, volubility.

Mr. Temple has won a great victory, but it is one not calculated to "make business" for him in the future. In his ultimate balancing of accounts, therefore, his $30,700, though a lot of money, may be a loss. Indeed, the case has brought no glory to anybody involved in it, except, possibly, to the Lord Chief Justice and the jurymen. And even their reasons for satisfaction are not very clear.

OFFICE TEA DEFENDED.

Declared to be Neither Wasteful Nor Unhealthful.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is impossible to resist commenting upon the editorial article headed "No Afternoon Tea."

You say: "If we are wise we breakfast lightly, lunch moderately and briefly, &c." As a matter of fact, "we," the working people, salaried employe or wage-earner, have not time to eat enough for breakfast, in view of the long journey between home and the work place. Even if we had we would be hungry by the time we reached our offices or workrooms; but that has nothing to do with afternoon tea.

In reference to lunching moderately: Yes, indeed, we do, because we can't get much for what we can afford to pay, although all can work better by not eating too much at midday.

Again you say the introduction of afternoon tea would be impossible. I have shown that it is quite possible.

You say the lunch hour takes an hour and a half out of the day. I am sure you are not referring to wage-earners or salaried employes, who rarely get a full hour.

You also say the tea would take another hour. That is not true. Our force generally takes tea while taking dictation, typewriting, or conferring, and there is scarcely one moment lost because of the serving of tea, and therefore you are quite wrong when you say: "The tea would take another hour. We are not rich enough yet for that sort of wastefulness."

AUTOMOBILE PUNCTURES.

Street Sweepers Blamed for Not Removing Glass Promptly.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Many of the automobile owners and drivers who use the streets of New York City are continually victims of punctured tires, owing to the fact that many of the streets and favored automobile highways are liberally strewn with broken glass.

From my own observation yesterday, and in four hours of riding around New York, I passed thirteen disabled cars; in one instance two tires being out of commission on the one car. Because I was interested in this situation, and inquired, I found that ten of these cars suffered punctures due to glass. One of the unfortunates commented on the fact that he had seen glass along the White Plains Road in practically the same situation for ten days, during which time, obviously, it had not been removed by the Street Cleaning Department. It has seemed to me, though I have not taken careful record, that glass has remained in the same spot from Saturday and Sunday to the following Saturday and Sunday on many of the roads that I have gone over in this city.

I suggest that whenever an automobilist finds glass in the path of drivers he inform the nearest policeman of the fact, who in turn should report to the Street Cleaning Department, so that the special attention of the street sweeper may be ordered to it promptly.

CARE OF DEFECTIVES.

Miss Wald Praises the Work Now Done by the Schools.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to the editorial on "Defective Children" in The Times, correspondents have tried to make it clear that the children in the ungraded classes are not all institutional children. Some of them should eventually be kept under custodial care, but we have not the institutions for them, and we have no laws that would compel the parents to relinquish the children for a life term to these institutions, even if we had them.

Meanwhile the public school has done an enormous service to the community by sifting out and finding these backward children—almost all of whom have been in the ordinary classroom—keeping them under observation, and accumulating knowledge and experience that ought to be of value in the final and adequate solution of the subject. Until such time, which I fear is neither in your lifetime nor mine, the children are under observation, and society is much more protected than if they were merely roaming the streets. Many of the children in the ungraded classes, through the intelligent care that they are receiving, are finally rendered fit to pursue their studies and their occupations.

SOON.

Ere long the bard will sing industriously
Of bitter winds and icy blasts and such;
Ere long the boys will smite you in great glee
With lumps of snow and set you swearing much.

Ere long the bard so deep in threnody
Will grieve that Summer's beauteous flowers should fade;
Ere long storm doors will bump you on the knee,
Or put a dent into your shoulder blade.

Ere long the bard will yearn for days of Spring,
And give voice to his longing day by day;
Ere long on icy sidewalks tottering
You'll tumble earthward in most wondrous way.

Ere long the bard will pine for regions where
The birds go caroling the livelong day;
Ere long you'll lean back in your easy chair
And listen to the steam pipes' merry lay.

Ere long the bard will sing as he must sing
And find much in his fluting that enthralls;
Ere long with hammer you'll go hurrying
To nail up next year's calendars on the walls.

TO SAFEGUARD BALLOT.

Professor Who Served as Watcher Urges Competent Inspectors.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I would like to make one suggestion for the improvement of the election administration in New York which I believe is thoroughly practical. The problem seems to present four aspects: the securing of an honest and accurate registration, the protection of the ballot after it has been cast, the correct analysis of the ballots, and an accurate report of the count. In the first matter we must rely upon the efficiency of the police, but the other three are within the control of the supervisors of elections. It is in the management of the voting rooms that endless opportunity for fraud is offered.

I was a watcher on Tuesday in one of the east side polling places, and found this situation: The Chairman of the Board of Inspectors was a naturalized Austrian, who knew little spoken English, and who had some difficulty in reading. He was a Tammany appointee. The other Inspectors were young men of only moderate understanding of the election laws, and generally of slow mental reactions. These men were also party appointees, and the men who secured their appointments were on hand to supervise and direct their work. The dependence of the Inspectors on the ward heelers had this result, that their respective gangs crowded the polling room, ready to raise a shout at every debatable issue. The count was taken in the midst of a perpetual uproar from the men who had no legal status in the room; and in the confusion it was practically impossible to keep adequate watch of the counting. So much so that only one of the Inspectors was able to get a complete tally of the split ballots, and the final report was based on his results, which remained uncontrolled except by the watchers. It so happened that, owing to the coolness of this one man, his results were practically correct. The Inspectors, however, were generally unable to grasp the questions on the statistics sheets, and some school children present were corralled to help out. In general, I believe that the Inspectors were honest men; but in the conditions under which they worked, men of unusual ability would have been helpless.

It is clear from this situation that the success of the poll depends entirely on the personality of the Chairman of the Inspectors. We need men who have independence enough to enforce the laws regarding watchers and regarding the discipline of the polling room. It seems clear that these appointments should be taken out of politics entirely, either by extending them to the civil service or by placing them in the hands of some responsible person. At any rate, this office of Chairman is one of the greatest importance to the community, and more of our intelligent and strong men ought to be willing to take this position when offered, and to seek it where possible, as a directly efficient means of guaranteeing honest elections.

A SHORT BALLOT PLEA.

Why Persist in Voting for Officials We Do Not Know?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I went to the polls on Tuesday and voted for a State Treasurer without knowing anything about the qualifications of the man for whom I voted. I did likewise to help fill the office of Controller, and eight or ten other positions. I cannot now remember either the offices or the names of the men for whom I voted, and I have average intelligence and average interest in the welfare of the State.

These posts require considerable technical skill and honest intention to do one's duty. I had to select from among four or five men probably equally competent or incompetent. Why must we go through this solemn farce every two years? It is worse than a farce, for we are leaving the selection of our public servants to a few party leaders or bosses, who make their appointments in secret, behind a hedge of party machinery, with no light of publicity upon them.

For the entire Federal Administration we elect only the President. He appoints Judges, Cabinet, diplomatic and consular officers, and thousands of other public servants. Would any man in his right mind propose that we make the Secretaryship of the Treasury elective? Then why, in the name of all that is political, should we persist in the mummery of pretending to elect a string of public servants in the State, when we know that we merely walk up to the polls and confirm the selection of men over whom we have no control? Either these unknown and irresponsible political leaders must appoint our officials, or, since the average citizen will never trouble himself and could not attend to it if he did trouble himself to do it, the Governor must appoint them on a short ballot system. Why don't we shorten our ballot? What argument is there against it? Will some of our political leaders be good enough to rise and answer.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE BADGE.

Blue Ribbon Suggested for Women Who Oppose Vote.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is impossible to induce all the women who disapprove of woman suffrage to stand up and be counted or put themselves on record. Many are too busy, many indifferent, not believing that there is any danger of having the vote thrust upon them; many fancy it would somehow involve publicity. Now why can't we adopt something in the way of a badge to be worn when the occasion seems one for "showing our colors"?

We need a color to show to begin with. The suffrage color is yellow. I move we adopt blue, some shade of light blue, and be willing to wear a bit of it on suffrage parade days, attending meetings where the question is to be discussed, and as often besides as we wish. I suggest to the officers of various societies opposing woman suffrage that they make a beginning by approving a simple badge, say a few inches of light blue ribbon fringed at the end and lettered in black with some short phrase—"Against Woman Suffrage" or "The Right Not to Vote." These could sell for a few cents. But without waiting for that, a badge can be improvised with a knot of blue (if we decide on that) ribbon or even a neat rosette of crepe paper to be pinned against a woman's left shoulder or tied in a man's buttonhole.

If enough of us would agree to do this, then at the next suffrage parade an observer might note, "The antis haven't all stayed home to-day. Two-thirds of the crowd are against woman suffrage."

The "Silent Vote."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Roosevelt "silent vote" that was to sweep him into the White House—in the light of the "day after" so very, very silent—is deserving of a place in political history with the late ex-Gov. Hill's "I am a Democrat still—very still," upon the occasion of Bryan's nomination.

The Times's Editorial Service.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I believe that newspapers deserve praise when it is due, and should receive it as quickly as they receive criticism when it is due them. I therefore take great pleasure in telling you that your editorial article on "The Great Wilson Victory" expresses faithfully and truly the conception of democracy and of Mr. Wilson which exists in the minds of the great majority. This campaign has from the Democratic point of view been one of education.

The editorial work of The Times, while non-partisan, has been highly educational. Consequently, you have performed a great public service in helping to bring about the election of Woodrow Wilson.

BULGARIAN ATROCITIES.

Dr. Gottheil Cites Cases and Quotes Hague Covenant.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

According to my colleague, Prof. Pupin, The Hague Tribunal is a stillborn child. I had not been dreaming; I was only mistaken. There have been conferences at a placed called The Hague, in 1899 and 1907. Solemn conventions have been drawn up and a splendid Palace of Peace has been erected by American munificence. But all these instruments cannot compel States to grant "the inalienable rights of man." Why, then, all this pother, peace conferences, peace societies, peace literature spread broadcast?

I should condemn in the severest manner any aggression on the part of the Turks similar to that of the Balkan States, even if the Turks were victorious. To say that this attack upon Turkey is in the interests of "the inalienable rights of man" is simply to befog the issue. It is perfectly plain and has been stated by such official organs as The Bulgarian Mir that the reason why the Balkan States have fallen upon Turkey is that they considered the moment opportune for carrying out plans hatched long ago. In other words, the internal dissensions in the Ottoman Empire have so weakened the country that a raid upon Macedonia is a profitable undertaking.

That which is glorious "patriotism" when Bulgarians, Servians, Montenegrins, Greeks—and Italians—are attacking Turkey becomes "fanaticism" when Turkey fights back.

I am the last to applaud anything done by Turkey "which menaces the life of modern civilization." I do not close my eyes to Turkish excesses in the past. But perhaps Prof. Pupin does not know that in 1906 these same Bulgars that are now leading this "struggle for the inalienable rights of man" revenged themselves for their defeats in Macedonia by "falling on the Hellenes who were in their power on the soil of the principality.

> "Armed bands, organized under the eyes of the Government of Sofia, and acting in the presence of the police, raided the Greek cities of the Black Sea Coast, burning the schools and the churches, sacking private houses, and driving a population of 40,000 Hellenes out of a country in which they had maintained themselves through the worst ages of Turkish domination. And in Macedonia 'there is no form of horrid outrage, from violation to cannibalism,' that the Bulgars have not perpetrated."

This was written, not by a "pro-Turk," but by an English Christian, Allen Upward. Prof. Pupin can read in a pamphlet entitled "The Population of Macedonia * * * A List of Greeks Killed at the Instance of the Bulgarian Committees in Macedonia from 1897 to 1904" the details of 461 murders committed with diabolical cruelty during those years.

Prof. Pupin laments the condition of "the enslaved Christian rajah" in Macedonia. He surely knows who, in addition to the "infidel Turk," is to blame. He can not be ignorant of the fact that the intervention of Austria and Russia in 1903 was meant to keep the pot boiling, not to pacify the excited racial and religious feelings and to bring order out of the existing chaos.

It could be shown easily how most of the Turkish excesses have been provoked by the sinister "agent provocateur," whose dark deeds are so well known in Russia.

The stillborn child—The Hague Tribunal—was ushered into the world with this solemn convention, signed with all the flourish of ambassadorial grandiloquence:

> In case of serious disagreement or dispute, before an appeal to arms, the signatory powers agree to have recourse, as far as circumstances allow, to the good offices or mediation of one or more friendly powers.
>
> Independently of this recourse, the contracting powers deem it expedient and desirable that one or more powers, strangers to the dispute, should, on their own initiative and as far as circumstances may allow, offer their good offices or mediation to the States at variance.

HONORS TO ANDREW D. WHITE

Cornell Celebrates 80th Birthday of First President—Kaiser's Message.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Cornell University and the City of Ithaca paid tribute to-day to Andrew D. White, first President of Cornell and Ithaca's foremost citizen, on the occasion of his eightieth birthday anniversary. Meanwhile from all parts of the globe came telegrams and letters of congratulation by the hundreds. One of them which pleased the venerable statesman and diplomat most, came from Emperor William, and read as follows:

"On the occasion of your eightieth birthday I send my most heartfelt wishes, and hope that many more happy years may follow. The work you did during your stay here is unforgotten by me.

"WILLIAM I. R."

The German Ambassador, Count Bernstorff, and the British Ambassador, James Bryce, sent messages, as did Dr. White's old friend, Andrew Carnegie, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar S. Straus, Seth Low, ex-Gov. Horace White, his nephew; Maud Morgan, President Butler of Columbia, Dr. Jacobi, Herman Biggs, Prof. Hugo Munsterberg, President Schurman from Athens, and many others. President Taft sent a telegram several days ago.

Messages were also received from Yale University, of which Dr. White is a graduate; the University of Michigan, where he taught history; the Smithsonian Institution, of which he is a Trustee; the Carnegie Institute for Research, of which he is a Trustee, and Hobart College, in which he holds a similar position. Every Cornell alumni association of the United States, as well as those in Paris and China, was heard from, and hundreds of personal letters from Cornell men all over the United States were received.

The students paid their tribute at exercises on the campus, where, in a soaking rain, 4,000 persons stood bareheaded during the ceremony. President John Paul Jones of the senior class, spoke for the students, and the Trustees and Faculty presented memorials.

Dr. White replied in a brief address in which he referred to his standing on the campus fifty-seven years ago with Ezra Cornell, when the campus was a farm, and of the seemingly hopeless task that confronted them and of the results that had been attained.

The long Cornell yell from 5,000 throats greeted Cornell's "Grand Old Man" when he ended his speech.

ONE JURY'S HARD TASK.

Harburger's Select Panel Picks a Date for Its Dinner.

A Sheriff's jury was finally chosen and sworn for service yesterday afternoon, in the office of Sheriff Julius Harburger. Officers were elected and the Sheriff made a speech in which he explained the difficulties he had overcome since he took office.

Among the members of the panel were: Chauncey M. Depew, Jr., Peter Doelger, Jr., Charles P. Doelger, George Ehret, Jr., Frederick S. Flower, Andrew Freedman, Benedict J. Greenhut, Peter Cooper Hewitt, Philip Lewisohn, George W. Perkins, James B. Regan, Theodore P. Shonts, Isaac N. Seligman, Gustav Schwab, Jr., Frank Tilford, Frederick W. Woertz, William K. Vanderbilt, William E. Burke, Bryan L. Kennelly, Charles J. Warner, Anton J. Hupfel, and Henry L. Joyce. Mr. Burke was elected foreman and Charles J. Warner, and Henry L. Joyce Secretaries of the panel.

After a date had been agreed upon for the jury's dinner, which is the only duty assigned to this panel, Sheriff Harburger addressed the jurors again and told of the temptations to graft which he had cast aside.

MISS MARY A. DEUEL WEDS JUSTIN LOEBER

Justice Deuel's Daughter Married in Fifth Avenue Baptist Church by the Rev. Dr. Woelfkin.

RECEPTION HELD AT HOME

Bride in a Gown of Ivory Satin with Court Train—Her Four Attendants Are Dressed Alike.

The wedding of Miss Mary Ann Deuel, daughter of Justice and Mrs. Joseph Merritt Deuel, and Justin Loeber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loeber of this city, was celebrated last evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin, the new pastor of the church, officiated.

The decorations, both at the church and at the home of the bride's parents, 125 West Eightieth Street, where a reception was held after the ceremony, were green and white.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a court train trimmed with rose point lace and orange blossoms and a tulle veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas.

Mrs. D. A. Engert of Rochester, N. Y., attended the bride as matron of honor, and Miss Ione Ralli of this city was maid of honor. The Misses Lois Ralli and Edna Murphy, both of New York, were the bridesmaids.

The bridal attendants were gowned alike in white chiffon over Nile green charmeuse and wore bandeaux of pearls. Each carried an armful of white chrysanthemums.

Frank Moore was best man and the ushers included Chester Deuel, a brother of the bride; Louis Loeber, a brother of the bridegroom, and the latter's cousin, Charles Faas; Harry Sims, Fred Arnold and William Rothen.

After the reception the young couple left on their honeymoon, which will include a trip through the South. They will reside in this city on their return.

GOLDEN WEDDING OBSERVED.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Perkins of Jersey City Honored in Lee, Mass.

Special to The New York Times.

LENOX, Mass., Nov. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. George F. Perkins of Jersey City, N. J., were honor guests at a reception at Greenock Inn in Lee last night on the occasion of their golden wedding. Mrs. Perkins was a daughter of Mrs. Lucius Crocker of Lee, and they were married in the Lee Congregational Church by the Rev. Nanum Gale, pastor. Mrs. Perkins's bridesmaid was Miss Emily Foote, now Mrs. Watson Bassett of Lee, who was present at the reception.

Mr. Perkins went to New York from Lee in 1858 as an employe in the paper business, and in 1865 he engaged in selling paper in New York, retiring in 1893. He is President of the Provident Institution for Savings of Jersey City, a member of the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce, Union League Club, Merchants' Club of New York, Carteret Club, and Jersey City Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Perkins have a son, George F. Perkins, Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Avery Ready and Mrs. F. W. Y. Dunn of Jersey City. Their Summer home in Lee is the Lucius Crocker homestead, which has been in the bride's family since 1875.

STERN-BENNETT WEDDING.

Miss Matilda Bennett Married to Leo Charles Stern.

Miss Matilda Bennett, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James A. Bennett, was married to Leo Charles Stern, a lawyer of this city, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, 2,101 Fifth Avenue, in the presence of relatives of the two families. The Rev. Dr. J. Howard Hoyt of New Canaan, Conn., an uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of ivory satin meteor with a Watteau train and trimmed with rose point lace, which formerly belonged to her maternal grandmother. Her tulle veil was trimmed with point lace and orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Little Miss Dorothy D. Logan, a niece of the bride, acted as flower girl, and was her only attendant. Mr. Stern had as best man his brother, Carl W. Stern.

A small reception was held after the ceremony. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Stern will live at 267 West Eighty-ninth Street.

Miss Dimond to Wed James D'Olier.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dimond of 20 West Seventy-third Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Dimond, to James D'Olier of Philadelphia. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Joan L. Sperling Engaged.

The engagement is announced of Miss Joan Louise Sperling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Sperling of 601 West 115th Street, to Sydney Lewinson, a nephew of George W. Lederer, the theatrical manager. Miss Sperling is a member of the senior class at Barnard College. The wedding will not take place until after her graduation.

MARX—KAISER.

Miss Elinor M. Kaiser of 3,810 Broadway, was married to Abraham B. Marx of this city at the Hotel Majestic at 6:30 last evening. The Rev. Dr. Aaron Eiseman officiated. Owing to the bride's family being in mourning, only the relatives and a few friends were present at the ceremony and the reception which followed. Mr. Marx and his bride will sail on Nov. 16 for Europe, where they will spend the Winter, returning to New York in March.

Buell Hollister's Bachelor Dinner.

Buell Hollister, whose marriage to Miss Louise H. Knowlton is to be celebrated on Nov. 14, gave his farewell bachelor dinner last night at the Union Club. His guests included Percy R. Pyne, 2d, who is to be his best man at the wedding, and Henry H. Hollister, Edmund P. Rogers, I. W. Kendall, Aymar Johnson, John Sloane, and Langdon Valentine, who are to serve as ushers; also Page Chapman, E. Coster Wilmerding, Lydig Hoyt, Killaen Van Rensselaer, Harold Turnure, Clarence Young, Malcolm Sloane, Cortlandt Nicoll, Stuyvesant Fish, Jr., Alexander D. B. Pratt, Walter Stillman, Moses Taylor Pyne, Jr., Orme Wilson, Jr., McKim Hollins, Albert Eugene Gallatin, Seton Porter, F. B. Lord, R. H. Williams, Jr., Phoenix Ingraham, and Marshall R. Kernochan.

SOCIAL NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander D. B. Pratt are at 960 Park Avenue for the Winter.

The German Ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff are arriving to-day from Washington, D. C., and will be at the Ritz-Carlton for several days. Mr. and Mrs. Craig Biddle are at the hotel for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Snowden are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on Nov. 5 at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Waters Taft, 36 West Forty-sixth Street. Mrs. Snowden, who was Miss Louise Taft, has been living in Seattle, Wash.

The marriage of Miss Almy Rodgers Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tennet Rodgers Miller of 326 West Eighty-third Street, and Clement Griscom Randle, will be celebrated on Dec. 6 in All Angels' Church.

Mrs. Henry Dunlop Williams of 201 West Seventy-eighth Street will give a reception on Wednesday, Nov. 27, from 4 to 7, to introduce her daughter, Miss Alice Carroll Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Freeman motored from their country place at Iselin, N. J., and are at the Hotel Gotham to remain until May 1.

The annual Autumn ball to be given by the Tuxedo Club to-night will draw a large crowd of prominent society people, and the débutantes of the coming season will be in evidence.

PROF. B. C. STEINER MARRIES.

Baltimore Librarian Weds Miss Ethel S. Mulligan in Yonkers.

Prof. Bernard C. Steiner, Ph. D., Librarian of the Enoch Pratt Free Library at Baltimore, Md., was married last evening to Miss Ethel Simes Mulligan, daughter of Mrs. John Mulligan of 404 Warburton Avenue, Yonkers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John M. Ericsson, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church, assisted by the Rev. W. M. Pickslay of Warwick, N. Y.

The bride's brother, Ralph R. Mulligan, gave her in marriage. She was attended by Miss Amy L. Steiner, a sister of the bridegroom, of Baltimore. The best man was Dr. R. Steiner of Hartford, Conn., a brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were John M. Ames and John C. Smith of New York City, Thomas G. Penniman of Baltimore, and Winthrop G. Bushnell of New Haven, Conn.

The bride wore a Lierre lace robe and carried lilies of the valley, while the bridesmaid wore violet satin chiffon and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

After the wedding a reception was held at the bride's home, where 200 guests were received. Some of them came from Baltimore, New York, Connecticut, and other places. The decorations at the church and bride's home were yellow chrysanthemums. After a brief honeymoon the couple will make their home in Baltimore.

WEDS MISS DOROTHY PAINE.

Tilghman G. Pitts Married to Daughter of Late Gen. Clinton P. Paine.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 7.—A wedding in Baltimore society this evening was that of Miss Dorothy McCreary Paine, daughter of the late Gen. Clinton Paxton Paine and Mrs. Paine, to Tilghman Goldsboro Pitts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan Pitts. The ceremony was performed in Christ Protestant Episcopal Church by the rector, the Rev. Edwin Barnes Niver.

The bride's brother, Gordon Paxton Paine, gave her away, and she had for her matron of honor her sister, the Baroness Von Schlotheim of Berlin, Germany. Miss Elizabeth Rogers of Washington, Miss Virginia Kesey of York, Miss Una Hutton, Miss Lawrence Hoffman, Miss Margaret A. Bonsal, and Miss Christine Marburg were bridesmaids.

Sullivan Pitts, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were Joseph T. Manning, Jr., of Philadelphia. Lilburn Goldsborough, David Stewart Ridgeley, Wallis Giffen, John Gilmor, and James A. Gary, Jr., Hamilton Paine, and John McFarland Bergland, nephews respectively of the bride and bridegroom, served as pages.

The ceremony was followed by a large reception, with dancing, at the residence of Mrs. Paine, 1,115 St. Paul Street.

WEDDED AT SHERRY'S.

Miss Amy Ullmann Married to Samuel Ottinger—The Attendants.

The wedding of Miss Amy Ullmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ullmann of 351 West Eighty-sixth Street, to Samuel Ottinger of this city, took place at 6:30 o'clock last evening at Sherry's, the Rev. Dr. Joseph Moses officiating.

The bride wore a trailing gown of white satin, and her lace veil, which is a family heirloom, was held about the face with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Miss Celestine Rinehart, a cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor and wore a velvet gown of peachblow shade. She carried pink roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of the same shade, with blue sashes, and carried Directoire staffs tied with pink roses. They were the Misses Vivien Wallach, Margaret Oppenheimer, Marie Spiegelberg, and Florence Stern.

Nathan Ottinger was his brother's best man, and the ushers were L. F. Plaut, George Ernstein, Norman Goldberger, Albert Kahn, Milton Bach, Jerome Schoenfeld, and Lawrence Ottinger.

Mr. Ottinger and his bride will make an extended trip through the West and will live in this city upon their return.

MISS JESSIE WEILL WEDS.

Married to Emanuel Levy at Her Mother's Home by Rev. Dr. Mendes.

The marriage of Miss Jessie Walker Weill, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Weill, to Emanuel Levy of this city took place at the home of the bride's mother, 8 Van Nest Place, at 8 o'clock last evening. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. David De Sola Mendes, assisted by the Rev. Dr. H. P. Pool.

The bride, whose brother, George W. Weill, gave her in marriage, wore a gown of brocaded charmeuse trimmed with point lace and her tulle veil was caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley and her only ornament was a diamond pin, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Martha Weill was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Reine R. and Blanche Weill, sisters of the bride, and Ray and Aline Levy, sisters of the bridegroom. The maid of honor wore blue brocaded charmeuse and the bridesmaids pink satin. They carried arm bouquets of pink roses. There was also a little flower girl, Miss Georgette Weill, a niece of the bride.

Mr. Levy had as best man Clarence Weill, brother of the bride, and Marcos S. Laredo and Leon Weill served as ushers.

WEDDED TO DR. J. R. CAMPBELL.

Miss Mary Anderson Married at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph I. Berry

Miss Mary Anderson was married at noon yesterday to Dr. Jackson R. Campbell of this city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph I. Berry, 2,543 Valentine Avenue. The Rev. Patrick N. Breslin of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy officiated.

The bride wore a white satin gown trimmed with old lace and a tulle veil, which was caught up with a chaplet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Helen C. Stanton, daughter of Mrs. Helen O'Gorman Stanton, who is a sister of Senator O'Gorman, was the maid of honor and only attendant. She wore light blue satin and carried pink roses. Frederick Campbell was his brother's best man.

A small reception was held after the ceremony, and later Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left for the South, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Miss Graham's Wedding Plans.

The marriage of Miss Marion H. Graham and Harry Palmerston Williams of New Orleans will take place on Dec. 12. The Rev. Percy Stickney Grant will officiate. Whether the ceremony will take place at the residence of Miss Graham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Scott Graham, 35 West Fifty-second Street, or at the Church of the Ascension has not been decided, nor have any details as to the attendants, if there be any. Invitations to the ceremony will be sent to the two families only, and a small reception at the Ladies' Annex of the Metropolitan Club will follow.

Mr. Graham has just been elected to Congress from Philadelphia, where he also has a residence.

It seems absurd to speak of Winthrop Ames as a fairy godmother, and yet he must stand in some such light now that he has brought "Snow White" to the stage of his Little Theatre. Imagine one of the prettiest of fairly tales illustrated by Maxfield Parrish, Boutet de Monvel, or Edmond Dulac, and you will have a faint conception of what this new production is like.

"Snow White" is produced primarily for an audience of children and it will probably appeal to them as few productions ever have. "Peter Pan" had an appeal to children but it was written for grown-ups; "Hansel und Gretel" is certainly a children's story but perhaps the Wagnerian music with which Humperdinck invested it makes it a trifle bewildering at times for the infantile mind.

But Miss White in transferring "Snow White" to the stage has been careful in the first place to have her characters express themselves simply, almost "in words of one syllable." There certainly are no phrases which a child cannot understand. She has taken into account another attribute of a child's mind, its demand for continuous narrative; there are neither side-trackings of the story to permit of interpolated diversions, nor sub-plots. There can be no "comic relief" in a child's play unless it fits into the woof of the main plot. In fact the laws of this kind of drama are inexorable.

Miss White has done her work well. From the moment when we are introduced to the court of Brangomar, the wicked Queen, until Snow White coughing up the bit of apple, comes to life, and marries the Prince Florimond, "to live happily ever afterward," the interest is sustained in an admirable manner.

The dramatist has followed very closely the story of the Brothers Grimm which relates how Snow White, the daughter of a King, is led forth to be murdered by the royal huntsman at the command of her wicked step-mother, Queen Brangomar, who is jealous of her beauty. Of course the huntsman does not murder Snow White, and she goes to live with the Seven Dwarfs of the title and makes their beds and cooks for them. In due time Brangomar, learning that she is not dead, decides to kill her herself. She fails the first time, but the second almost succeeds, for the bit of the poisoned apple which Snow White bites lodges only in her throat, but gives her the appearance of death. The denouement has already been mentioned.

Miss White has added some supernatural machinery in the shape of a very humorous witch. She has also changed the ending of the tale for Brangomar does not dance to death in red hot shoes. Instead she breaks the magic mirror which always tells the truth, and becomes as ugly as Dorian Gray after the destruction of his portrait. If you are a big child and want to see the wicked Brangomar become ugly right before your eyes you will be permitted to do so any afternoon.

In the lovely way in which the play is mounted and costumed, the first scene shows the throne room, with hanging curtains of soft blue in which there are conventional peacocks of a deeper blue and silver. Through the space at the back is the sea and sky. There is a throne in one corner and a silver and crystal chandelier depends from the ceiling; that is all. The effect is very beautiful especially when it is heightened by the charming costumes of the maids of honor and the court ladies. The costume of Brangomar, mediaeval in design and embracing various shades of orange, gold, and green in its color scheme, is especially charming. It suggests the Abbey pictures of the Holy Grail.

The dwarfs' house and the witch's hut offer striking contrasts to this and the wood scene. It is really worth going to the performance to see how the dwarfs are washed and toweled by Quee, the youngest of them, or to see the witch sit plump down on her fire.

Of course Marguerite Clark in the title part has more to do than anyone else and she is charming. Perfectly child-like in appearance, she played as simply as a child and was thoroughly successful in imparting the right sentiment.

Miss Inescort was very much in the picture as Brangomar, and Ada Boshell as the witch was properly humorous. Frank McCormack was amusing as the Court Chamberlain, and Donald Gallaher an attractive young Prince Florimond. The maids of honor were all real little girls and many of the dwarfs were children, too.

The music for "Snow White" has been composed by Edmond Rickett and is well performed by a small orchestra conducted by Elliott Schenck.

MR. GRANVILLE'S RECITAL.

An Agreeable Baritone Singer Gives a Varied Programme in Aeolian Hall.

Charles Norman Granville, a baritone, gave a song recital last evening in Aeolian Hall, which, in spite of the rain, attracted a goodly number of auditors. The lower part of the hall, in fact, was almost entirely filled. Mr. Granville's programme began with early Italian and French music, passed through a German group with songs by Schubert, Schumann, Franz, Strauss, and Ries, hesitated for a moment on Hamlet's drinking song from Thomas's opera, and concluded with a group of songs sung in English and mostly by American and English composers.

Mr. Granville has a voice of good quality and some power. He seems serious in his purpose and there is much that is excellent in his manner of singing. His enunciation is especially to be commended. In each language that he sang the words were perfectly clear.

Prof. John W. Mallet.

John W. Mallett, Professor Emeritus of Applied Chemistry of the University of Virginia, died at his residence in Charlottesville on Wednesday. Prof. Mallet was a member of many scientific societies. FIRST CONCERT OF BOSTON ORCHESTRA

Dr. Karl Muck Returns as Its Conductor and Is Greeted Enthusiastically.

PROGRAMME WITHOUT SOLOS

Fine Performances of Beethoven's Eroica Symphony and Pieces by Berlioz, Liszt, and Wagner.

There was a real and heartfelt rejoicing last evening in Carnegie Hall, expressed with unmistakable enthusiasm, when Dr. Karl Muck appeared upon the platform to conduct the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the first concert of its twenty-seventh season in New York. There was an enormous audience, as large a one as the hall will accommodate, most of whose members had memories of the two seasons in which Dr. Muck was previously at the head of the Boston orchestra—those of 1906-7 and 1907-8. Their memories made them justly eager to welcome him back to the position which he filled then with such pre-eminent distinction. It is a familiar story how, after his two years' leave of absence in Boston, he was summoned by royal authority back to Berlin to fulfill his contract as conductor of the Royal Opera House there; and how, at the expiration of that contract, he found the way back to Boston and Mr. Higginson's superb orchestra tempting and easy. He had shown his power to raise that organization to its highest technical efficiency and to employ its powers to the finest ends; he had revealed his wide musical sympathies, his readiness to assimilate music of the most diverse tendencies, his devotion to the interests of the composer in bringing his work to the fullest realization, his eagerness to expend all his skill to that effect, even when his own personal likings were not wholly engaged. Always he stood as an interpreter of the composer's work, never as one displaying himself, his personality, his temperament, or impressing them upon the music, or endeavoring to find in it something that no one else had found, or anything that the composer had not put there.

Such Dr. Muck showed himself again last evening to be; and in some of these respects he differs markedly from some other modern conductors. He is now, as he was then, a man of power and authority, a musician of subtle and sensitive feeling, a conductor of the highest skill, a wonder worker with the marvelous instrument he controls. The orchestra itself showed a few new forces; but its quality has not changed.

In the programme last evening there was no soloist, and nothing to divert the attention of the audience from its performance. The music was familiar: Beethoven's "Eroica" Symphony, Berlioz's overture, "Le Carnival Romain"; Liszt's symphonic poem, "Mazeppa," and Wagner's prelude to "Die Meistersinger." The performance of the symphony was of splendid virility, breadth, and eloquence. It revealed nothing new; but it revealed the "Eroica" Symphony. It was nobly proportioned, dignified, full of poetry and marked by exquisite finish, finesse, and innumerable subtleties of accent, phrasing, and dynamics. One of its most notable qualities was its rhythmic vitality. Dr. Muck was free in his modifications of the tempo, and in the symphony, as in the other works on the programme, he did not hesitate to let loose the full power of the orchestra. But these things were all for a purpose, and the purpose was superbly fulfilled.

Berlioz's "Roman Carnival" overture sounds a little dryer in its melodic invention and its harmonic quality every time it is heard; but its orchestration holds its own in brilliancy, and the performance let none of its brilliancy be lost. A stirring effect was given to Liszt's "Mazeppa," and its wearisome thundering in the index, its intolerably long preparations to say something, were made to seem almost significant. The performance of the symphony deeply stirred the audience. Dr. Muck was again and again recalled, and he finally caused the whole orchestra to rise and share the applause with him.

FASHIONS.

Winter Fashion for Ladies.

From PARIS.—Owing to the sulky Summer and the cold Autumn, the thoughts of smart "mondaines" have turned earlier than usual to warm furs and darker tints in dresses and costumes. The new styles do not show very important changes from those of the Spring. The skirts are still narrow and the draperies remain graceful. Both are shown in the collections of all the "grands couturiers."

Still, the draperies of Brandt are those which are the most admired, not only wherever Society meets, but also in all the fashion articles of the day. The models shown by this "Rue de la Paix" house have obtained a tremendous success with the leading actresses and with all ladies who maintain the reputation of Paris for feminine elegance.

But what beautiful tailored suits does Brandt show! They are such marvels of suppleness, and they cling so gracefully! There is one in a "loutre" tint, this color being largely adopted by Brandt this Winter; the skirt of cloth is draped in the most exquisite fashion. The coat, audaciously, but very prettily, cut, is of velvet of the same tint over a lace blouse of beautiful brown. The outlines of this blouse are smartly underlined by a belt of "cerise" liberty. The whole forms a costume of rare distinction.

The same tint, but a trifle darker, is to be found in a very graceful gown, the waist of which is very widely opened to the waist-line over a front of white Liberty muslin; in the back a large sailor collar, also of white Liberty, forms a very pretty contrast, and a belt of the same tissue puts the finishing touch to a really wonderful little creation.

Now, in order to appreciate what a master of fashion Brandt is, here is a description of an afternoon gown which attracted great attention: Of black Liberty, the skirt is draped and is crossed in an infinitely graceful movement which ends in the back in a little pointed train. The waist is of white and black tulle, through which runs a gold ribbon. Over the waist is worn a little coat of velvet, worked over black satin.

One can never forget the shape or the color of this gown. In front it is a bolero, which is finished at the back by two small basques; the contrast of the blue velvet and the black satin is wonderfully effective.

As to evening gowns, every one of them is worthy of a separate description, but these may thus be summarized: The vogue of Brandt is based upon the fact that he creates nothing but wonders! His furs also have helped to make him the "couturier" of the day.

Through a special process of working furs, Brandt makes coats of breischwants, mole, ermine, etc., infinitely light, and just as supple as silks. These qualities, appreciated as they deserve to be, have forced Brandt to devote more space in his salons this year to furs. It must not be forgotten that Brandt is the originator of the "zibelinette." This fur has all the "velvetiness" and the soft shades of sable-furs, and costs ever so much less.

He uses this fur artistically to ornament coats and gowns, which he does with wonderful effect.

When one has seen all the marvels which are shown in the Salons at 16, Rue de la Paix, the reputation of Brandt is then easily understood. This reputation is well-deserved. It is the crowning of a long and wonderful career.

It must be added that Mr. Brandt, before being the "couturier" of the day, was always a creator of models and an embroiderer of repute, whose works, judged by masters at the most important Expositions of these latter years, were rewarded by the highest distinctions which could possibly be accorded to such an artist as is this Parisian master of fashion.

MISS FERGUSON IN 'PRIMROSE'

Changes from Musical Play "Eva"—Her Role Taken by Sallie Fisher.

By an arrangement with Charles Frohman, Klaw & Erlanger have obtained the rights to Caillavet and de Flers' comedy, "Primrose," for the use of Elsie Ferguson. It was planned originally that Mr. Frohman would present Alexandra Carlisle in this piece, but her recent marriage and her determination not to leave England this season has caused a change in the plans.

Miss Ferguson was to have appeared under Klaw & Erlanger's management in the musical play, "Eva," which she had been rehearsing, but she agreed to the change of plays yesterday. Rehearsals of "Primrose" will begin soon, and the piece will be produced before the holidays. Sallie Fisher has been engaged to take Miss Ferguson's place in "Eva," and Alma Francis will have the rôle of Pipsi.

Lillian B. Dickson a Bankrupt.

Lillian B. Dickson, actress, of 29 West Sixty-fourth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, individually and as a partner in the firm of Delamater & Buckingham, with liabilities of $10,548 and nominal assets of $2,384. The assets consist of royalty due by the above firm for presenting the play "The Stampede," of which she is co-author, and of $350 salary due her by the firm for services in connection with the play. She owes $1,790 to nineteen actors and actresses, and among her other creditors are the Otis Lithograph Company, Cleveland, Ohio; Hegeman Printing Company, Cecel B. de Mille, and Sydney McNally.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

HOPE FOR "VENETIAN NIGHT."

Lord Chamberlain May License It After Seeing a Private Performance.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Censor's ban against Reinhardt's "Venetian Night" is likely to have an interesting sequel. Manager Alfred Butt of the Palace Theatre, who vigorously protested that it contains nothing offensive, induced Lord Sandhurst, the Lord Chamberlain, and Sir Douglas Dawson, Controller of the Lord Chamberlain's Department, to attend a private performance of the piece yesterday, with the result that there is reason to believe the piece will shortly be allowed to be produced.

TAFT BACK IN WHITE HOUSE.

President's Wife and Daughter Due in Washington Soon.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Taft returned to the White House this morning, where he proposes remaining with only short interruptions until his retirement from office March 4. Mrs. Taft and Miss Taft did not join the President today. They are not expected until the last of the week.

Mrs. Thomas Laughlin, a sister of Mrs. Taft, who has leased a home in Washington for the Winter, will take up her residence here on the return of Mrs. Taft from New York.

"RED PETTICOAT" FOR DALY'S

William Collier in "Never Say Die" to Come to 48th Street Theatre.

The Shubert musical production, "The Red Petticoat," which was announced for the Forty-eighth Street Theatre next Monday night, will be presented at Daly's Theatre instead, and William Collier, in a new farce called "Never Say Die," will come to the Forty-eighth Street house on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Collier's piece is the joint work of himself and William H. Post, and "The Red Petticoat" is a musical version of Rida Johnson Young's farce, "Next."

Investments for Savings

In the investment of savings the element of safety should be clearly evidenced by the true value of the property, which should be largely in excess of the mortgage debt. This same idea applies to earnings available for interest, which should average over a period of years a liberal margin beyond the annual requirement.

The well-informed investor always keeps uppermost in his mind the element of safety, no matter how great may be the need for large income, or how strong may be the temptation for profit.

If you contemplate the conservative investment of your savings, we suggest that you send for our Circular No. 839, "Conservative Investments."

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks React Slightly in Quieter Dealings—Prices Higher Abroad.

No occasion for surprise was presented by the moderate reaction which occurred on the Stock Exchange yesterday. It was a natural enough sequel to the abruptness of the movement which occurred on Wednesday, particularly as that movement seems to have been accelerated by some rather urgent short covering. It was well, too, that the money market should not be taxed with a too active Stock Exchange speculation, for whatever measure of ease may be experienced in the intervals between the dates when the greatest demands will be made upon the money market between this and the early days of next year it is improbable that the New York money market can at those dates escape a repetition or perhaps some accentuation of the conditions with which it was confronted at the first of November, and on one or two previous occasions this Fall.

Even though the stock market since the result of Tuesday's election became known has given no support to the theory that Democratic success is suggestive of business unsettlement, the question of tariff revision has become a topic of daily discussion in the financial district. There is much interest in the question whether or not the President-elect will feel it desirable to call a special session of Congress soon after his inauguration next March. The feeling of those who have been fearing the tariff revision, which now seems inevitable, is that it would be much better if the framing of the new tariff were left to the first regular session of the newly elected Congress rather than that it should be called into special session next Spring for this purpose. This is a view which appeals more to those who still adhere to stand-pattism in respect to the tariff than to those who recognize that an honest and common sense revision would work good instead of harm to the interests of the country at large. It may well be found that the importance, from the stock market point of view, which many in the financial district are now attaching to the question whether or not a special session of Congress will be called to take up the question of tariff is being exaggerated. It is a fvorite point of view in some quarters of the financial district at the moment to picture the incoming Democratic government as certain to give itself over to unbridled radicalism in any and everything which may be taken up for legislation, or which may become the subject of Executive action. Needless to say, the picture is being greatly overdrawn, but more than that those who are now emphasizing the chance of radicalism in government are losing sight of the sobering effect which will be exerted by the sense of responsibility which must inevitably rest upon the Democratic Party since it has now been intrusted not only with the Federal Administration, but with both branches of Congress. This fact should not be neglected by those who are disposed to draw too large inferences from some of the incidents of the last session of the House of Representatives.

Prices abroad continued yesterday to reflect the hopefulness which now prevails regarding the peaceful adjustment of the questions raised by the complete collapse of the Turkish defense in the spectacular warfare waged against the Ottoman forces by the allied Balkan States. It would seem that the judgment is now being justified of those who from the beginning of this struggle have felt convinced that the overwhelming arguments against an extension of the conflict to the great powers of Europe would prove controlling, and that the ambition of neither Austria nor Russia would stand in the way of essential harmony among the great powers when the time for making peace between the Balkan States and Turkey was at hand. That the interval between the first onslaught and peace is to be very brief for a war of the magnitude of the present one, is made daily more certain as the allies press the shattered forces of the Sultan back upon his capital. Not all anxiety in this matter can be set aside until the exact working out of the problem presented is definitely indicated, but the ground for such anxiety is steadily being lessened.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 4½@6 per cent., with the last loan at 6 per cent. Most of the day's loans were made at 5 per cent.

Time money rates were 5¾@6¼ per cent. for sixty and ninety days, 5½@5¾ per cent. for four, five, and six months.

Commercial paper was quoted at 5½@6 per cent. for the best names.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

No Cotton Oil Payment.

Brokers on the floor of the Exchange had heard for some days that there was likely to be no dividend on American Cotton Oil, and, as is their habit, had told customers of the report, but the suggestion was answered by the publication of a story supposed to have been based upon official information, to the effect that the dividend had been earned and would be paid. As a result, the announcement yesterday that the board had passed the dividend took most persons by surprise and brought about a quick downward movement in the price of the company's shares. From 57½, Wednesday's closing price, the stock fell to 54½, and closed at 55, with a loss of 2½ points for the day. There were sales of 10,000 shares on the decline. Early in the year the shares sold as low as 45½. One of the reasons given for the loss in the company's business is the war in the Balkans. Before the war started the company received large orders for cotton oil from Turkey and other parts of Southeastern Europe, where any deficiency in the olive oil yield is made up usually by importations of cotton oil. When accounts are finally reckoned, the Balkan "scare" and its consequences will have a heavy score to settle with the markets of the world.

⁂

New High for St. Paul.

Those investors who had sufficient faith in the Northwest to buy St. Paul stock in the middle of July, when the announcement of the reduction in the dividend rate from 7 to 5 per cent. brought about a decline in the company's shares which carried them down to a new low price at 99⅝, have seen a subsequent advance of 18 points. Yesterday the issue made a new high price for the year at 117⅝. It opened at 115½ and closed at 116⅞, with a net gain of 2¾ points for the day. Moreover, the advance was made on the most active trading seen in St. Paul stock in months, the total for the day being 63,850 shares. In recent weeks every railroad report from the Northwest has been taken by the Street to reflect the conditions affecting other lines. The St. Paul's earnings have made a quick recovery from the slump shown earlier in the year.

Great Northern's Gain.

The continued gains reported by the Great Northern Railway from month to month are attracting more than the usual amount of attention, partly for the reason that the comparisons are being made with periods of last year, when business was very heavy. If the Great Northern had only equaled its performance of the previous year, its record would be creditable. Gross earnings last month were $8,766,000, an increase of $1,653,000. For the four months reported so far the Great Northern has carried $4,116,000 more business than it had in the corresponding period of last year.

Western Maryland President.

While no successor has yet been named for Alexander Robertson, whose resignation as President of the Western Maryland takes effect on Jan. 1, it is believed in Baltimore that J. W. Fitzgerald, who was elected First Vice President at the annual meeting a few weeks ago, is in line for the higher place.

⁂

For a Tunnel Through the Rockies.

The long discussed proposal for the State of Colorado to pay the cost of constructing a tunnel through the Rocky Mountains, for the use of such railroad systems as care to pay their share of the interest charges, was submitted to the voters at Tuesday's election, and it was reported in the financial district that early returns indicated a decision in favor of the project. David Moffat, who conceived and financed the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific road as a short line from Denver to Salt Lake City, thought that if this tunnel were constructed it would insure the success of his road, but he died before the matter took tangible form. Newman Erb, who is now in control of the Moffat line, has plans for so developing the company's coal traffic that it should be able to prove self-supporting even in its present uncompleted form, and it is likely that the construction of the tunnel, at an estimated cost of from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 will result in a decision to extent the road to Salt Lake City as originally planned.

Living Up to the Law.

The up-State Public Service Commission has dismissed a request of the Central and South American Telegraph Company for permission to issue $2,100,000 additional capital stock on the novel ground that it has no authority to prevent the company from issuing stock for the purpose cited. The telegraph company stated that it proposed to reimburse its treasury for moneys expended out of net income for the past five years for the construction of a cable between Panama and Colon, and a new cable across the Andes, between Valparaiso, Chile, and Buenos Aires, in the Argentine Republic. The commission points out that under the provisions of the Public Service law relating to telegraph companies, it is called upon to pass only upon expenditures of New York State corporations within the State of New York, and in this case all of the expenditures are outside of the State.

The market finished steady. Spanish pig lead was up 3s 9d, at £18 5s. Spelter was unchanged at £27 7s 6d. Cleveland warrants were down 1½d, at 66s 4½d.

Price of Crude Oil Up.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Nov. 7.—An advance of 3 cents in the price of Mid-Continent crude oil was announced to-day by the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, raising the price to 73 cents a barrel.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Weather Against Activity in Trading on the Curb—Cigar Stores Off.

The Curb brokers were mostly driven indoors by yesterday's heavy rainstorm, and the volume of trading was considerably reduced. At times there was only a handful of brokers within the ropes, and these stayed only long enough to execute what orders they had. Dealings in United Cigar Stores of America amounted to but a little more than one-third of the sales made on Wednesday, and the issue closed two points below the high price made the previous day. There was a fair amount of activity in the bond department within a narrow range of price changes.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Prices Advance in London and Berlin, but the Close in Paris Is Heavy.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 8.—The Times says in its City article to-day:

"Although the market repaid to the Bank of England a large total of loans yesterday, the supply of money was again excessive after the operations connected with the repayment of this amount had been completed.

"Discount quotations again gave way a little, but the market is in a cautious mood, being aware that the Bank's holding of bills which mature during the next fortnight is large, so that the available supply of money will soon be reduced.

"There was a fair amount of activity on the Stock Exchange yesterday, and, although they showed a disposition to run in grooves, the general tone of the markets was cheerful. The latest war news was considered favorable, and the Bourses were small buyers of their favorite securities.

"Consols again advanced slightly, and there was a quiet investment demand for other gilt-edged securities.

"The American market provided some big advances, the full strength of New York's rise of the previous day being well maintained, while the firmness of copper shares was a feature.

"Interest in home railway stocks was less prominent, but there were numerous small rises at the close.

"Mexican railway stocks again met with support."

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Bourse opened firm, but closed heavy to-day.

Three per cent. rentes 89 francs, 45 centimes for the account.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Prices closed slightly higher on the Boerse to-day.

TO OVERHAUL PACIFIC LINERS.

Must Be Dry-docked to Show Seaworthiness on Passenger's Complaint.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—By orders from Washington the Pacific Mail liners San Juan, San José, Acapulco, and City of Panama must be dry-docked and overhauled to prove that they are not unseaworthy.

John K. Bulger, Government Supervising Inspector of Hulls and Boilers, has served notice on the company to that effect. The action is said to be due to a complaint made by Dr. W. E. Aughinbaugh of Callao, Peru, who was a passenger on the City of Panama from this port to Corinto.

The Territory Served

by Public Utility Companies is an important factor in determining the value of their bonds.

We are especially recommending for conservative investment the closed underlying first mortgage bonds of a company providing, without competition, the light, heat, power and street railway service of one of the most enterprising and rapidly growing cities of the country.

To Yield 5.35% to 6.44%

Net earnings have doubled in seven years, and all tendencies indicate that these securities will show a substantial increase in value.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Reactionary tendencies showed in the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange during the greater part of the day. Profit-taking was conducted on a large scale and it was reinforced by considerable selling for the short account by operators who were looking for a setback. Business was heavy at the start, but the volume later tended to contract. Transactions totaled 61,610 shares, including 8,790 shares in the half hour before trading began on the New York Stock Exchange. The list was a broad one, embracing sixty different stocks. New York, Ontario & Western sold on the 9:30 o'clock opening call at 35¾ and Pacific Mail sold after the call at 33½, the only sales of those two stocks reported in Wall Street during the day.

We recommend these notes as a particularly desirable short time investment for the following reasons:
1st. They are secured by a mortgage on property aggregating about 171 per cent. of the issue.
2d. They are guaranteed, principal, interest and sinking fund, by a company whose net assets are, after deducting bonded indebtedness, 19 times amount of note issue.
3d. Earnings of company from investments alone sufficient to pay interest charges.
4th. Payments guaranteed by Co. whose surplus earnings are eleven times amount required to pay interest on this note issue.
5th. Sinking fund retires one-half of issue before maturity.
6th. Quick asset fund maintained by guaranteeing Co. equivalent to entire amount of notes issued.

SOME REFORMS LIKELY IN CLEARING HOUSE

Officials Not Averse to Incorporation as Suggested at Money Trust Hearings.

OTHER CHANGES OPPOSED

Restriction of Membership at Discretion, Deemed Necessary—Bankers Discuss the Problems.

The subject of legislation affecting the Clearing House has come in for much discussion among bankers since the recent conferences between leading spirits in the management of the institution and Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Pujo committee, and there seems to be some sentiment in favor of its incorporation, which is one of the reforms aimed at.

There is likely to be more opposition, however, to some of the other changes suggested at the hearings of the Pujo committee in this city in respect to the operation of Clearing Houses. One of the points emphasized at that time was the right reserved by the Clearing House Association to bar out any bank or trust company it may see fit, without regard to its solvency and in fact for no reason at all. Members of the Clearing House Committee, the governing body, who testified, declared that no sound financial institution ever had been debarred from the advantages of membership and that while the rule gave them absolute discretion it never had been used except for the benefit of sound banking.

Mr. Untermyer, however, criticised the rule as arbitrary and evidently regarded it as one of the bulwarks, potential at least, of the so-called Money Trust. It is believed that in any bill proposed by the Pujo Committee the abolition of this discretionary power would be insisted on, and it is right here that the bankers who would not oppose the incorporation of the institution may take a decided stand. They maintain that the mere solvency of a bank should not be final in establishing its right to become a member of the Clearing House, inasmuch as it might be solvent at the time of examination, although the management was known to be reckless or dishonest.

A Way Out Suggested.

One suggestion on this point that has been discussed is that the Clearing House Committee, acting jointly with the Superintendent of Banks or the Controller of the Currency, as the case might be, should have the right to admit or reject a bank, but that rejection by them should be subject to review by the courts. No plan has been hit upon so far that would seem likely to meet with the approval of the Clearing House officials.

Akin to this subject is the right of the Clearing House Committee to suspend a bank from the privileges of the Clearing House. It was shown in the investigation that the exercise of this power had always been followed by a run on the bank suspended, and it was practically admitted that in the case of the Oriental Bank it was followed by failure, although the bank was an old established one, and subsequently proved to be solvent. In spite of this instance of its working badly, the rule was defended as necessary to the preservation of sound banking by the elimination of weak members. In this matter also it has been suggested that the Clearing House Committee should be restricted to action to cases in which the State or Federal Governmental agency agreed with it and that the suspended bank have recourse to the courts. This is thought to be another sticking point in attempts to reach an agreement as to legislation.

Another point that was gone into exhaustively in the investigation was the requirement that all member banks shall make uniform fixed charges for the collection of out-of-town checks. This Mr. Untermyer attacked as a combination in restraint of interstate commerce, to which the answer has been made that checks are not articles of commerce, but are merely evidences of commercial transactions. The opposite view is that once a bank has cashed or credited a check it becomes its property and its subsequent collection comes under the head of commerce.

The rule on out-of-town collections was taken up for revision by the Clearing House itself before the Pujo Committee was appointed and a sub-committee was named, with James G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National Bank and author of the standard work on Clearing Houses, at its head. This sub-committee has gathered much data, but has made public no conclusions, and its report is believed to have been held back pending the Congressional inquiry and the conferences concerning legislation.

Loan Certificates an Issue.

Still another subject of the renewed discussion is the issue of Clearing House loan certificates, which has been resorted to in times of panic for the settlement of balances between the members. These certificates are not intended for general circulation, although there are said to have been cases in smaller cities where they were put to such use. Mr. Cannon has advocated the issue of certificates as currency in the Sub-Treasury cities, by arrangement with the Government, and for this purpose has favored the incorporation of the Clearing Houses at such points. The legality of such issues, even when confined to balances between members, has been questioned, but it is believed that any legislation proposed would authorize rather than prohibit them.

No attempt is made by the New York Clearing House to fix rates of interest or discount, but this has been done in other cities. It was unqualifiedly condemned in the investigation by Mr. Cannon, who put it in a different class from the regulation of collection charges. While this would not be an issue, so far as this city is concerned, in any legislation, it would probably be prohibited in general, so that it could not be done anywhere.

Whether or not the Clearing House members in this city decide to incorporate, it may be assumed that any legislation proposed would make incorporations compulsory in order to reach other Clearing Houses all over the country. This could be done by amending the law so as to prohibit National banks from becoming members of any such associations that are not incorporated.

Once the Clearing Houses were incorporated they would be subject to regulation by the respective States, and the discretionary powers now exercised by them could be taken away from them. This is the real reason why they have objected to incorporation in the past, maintaining that they were voluntary associations which nobody had to join and which could make such regulations as they saw fit for those who did join, just as a club makes rules which every member must observe, although it is optional with him whether he becomes a member or not. The argument on the other side is that the Clearing House has become a necessary public institution; that as such it should be subject to regulation by the State, and that its facilities should be open automatically to new financial institutions if solvent and properly managed.

SAN DOMINGO'S RESOURCES.

Bank Manager Says They Are Marvelous, but Need Development.

H. Watson, who is the manager of a Canadian branch bank in Santo Domingo, thinks that everything will soon quiet down in that republic. He left there two months ago for a holiday, and has arrived at the Imperial on his way back.

"We are at San Pedro Macoris, in the southeastern part of the country," said Mr. Watson, "and the revolution had not troubled us much when I left. There was one disturbance in the province next to us, but it quieted down inside of a week.

"We are in the centre of the biggest sugar district in the island. There are six large mills there, and business is very good. The only other banking concern down there besides ourselves—aside, of course, from private bankers—is the Banco de Santo Domingo. There is business of course for both.

"One has to be rather conservative when carrying on banking down there, but the resources of the country are marvelous, and if there were capital to back it up there would be wonderful development."

RAKING HAVEMEYER STOCK.

National Manager Admits $10,000,000 Gift Was to Destroy Competition.

With George R. Bunker, who was Treasurer, general manager, and a Director of the old National Sugar Refining Company, one of the three companies merged in the National Sugar Refining Company of New Jersey, on the stand, Assistant United States District Attorney Knapp attempted yesterday at the hearing of the Government suit against the Sugar Trust, to prove that when there was a prospect of the absorption of a company by the trust assets were inflated in order to get better terms for the company.

The Government scored a point in establishing the object in merging the old National, the Mollenhauer Company, and the Doscher Company. Mr. Bunker said frankly that it was done to reduce competition.

"The Doscher Company," he said, "that is the New York Sugar Refining Company, had been cutting prices and had hurt prices all around very much. It was considered the most objectionable of all our competitors. Of course that being the case, it was clear enough what would be the result if that company came in with the rest of us."

Mr. Knapp then undertook to get from Mr. Bunker some further evidence as to the purpose of the Directors of the National in issuing the $10,000,000 of common stock, which, except a small fraction, was handed over to H. O. Havemeyer for no substantial consideration. The witness finally explained that by getting the stock into friendly hands they hoped competition would be destroyed. The stock went first to J. H. Post, organizer of the big National Company.

Mr. Knapp wanted to know if it was intended that the stock should get into the hands of the American Sugar Refining Company, the National's principal competitor. Mr. Bunker refused to answer under direction of counsel, and so Mr. Knapp sprang on the witness the evidence he had given in the New Jersey suit over the Havemeyer gift.

He asked Mr. Bunker if he had not testified that the stock had been turned over to Mr. Post with the idea that it should be given to the Trust, and that eventually the National would be part of the Trust. Mr. Bunker admitted that that was his testimony, and then F. R. Larkin, counsel for the National, took him in hand for cross-examination. This was framed to bring out that the National Company had never done anything to encourage a trade war and had never sought to stifle competition.

F. D. Mollenhauer will be on the stand this morning.

NEW WESTCHESTER BONDS.

$2,000,000 for Starting Railroad's Extension to Danbury, Conn.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 7.—It was announced to-day that the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad had sold an additional $2,000,000 of 4½ per cent. bonds to be used for the construction of the new Westchester & Northern Railroad Company, an extension of the Westchester & Boston system.

This new road will extend from the White Plains terminal of the Westchester road northward through Westchester County to Danbury, Conn.

The bonds sold will provide for about 30 per cent. of the construction money. The remainder of the road will cost $5,000,000, and bonds will be disposed of when the money is needed.

The bonds just sold bring the total outstanding of the Westchester Company to $19,300,000 under an authorized mortgage of $600,000,000. Work on the construction of the Westchester & Northern, it is understood, will be started on Monday.

The completion of this new road will give the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, which is the chief backer of the line, a through passenger and freight system from the coal fields by the way of the Poughkeepsie Bridge through Dutchess County, Connecticut, and Westchester County to tidewater.

The New Haven company also expects to run fast Pittsfield expresses over this route, as well as freight trains from Boston. The construction of this new road has caused a boom in real estate in the eastern section of Westchester County through which it will pass.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

William H. Hotchkiss, ex-Superintendent of Insurance, and the Chairman of the State Committee of the Progressive Party, will be chosen President of the recently organized National Motor Indemnity Corporation and the National Motor Insurance Corporation, the organization of which is in the hands of James B. Colgate & Co., bankers.

As a result of the exceptionally heavy over-subscription to the $10,000,000 preferred stock, carrying a bonus of $4,000,000 common stock, of the Utilities Improvement Company, Henry L. Doherty & Co. have been compelled to cut down allotments. Subscribers for $1,000 will get $600; for $2,000, $700; for $5,000, $1,200; for $10,000, $1,900, and for $50,000, $8,000.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

The Daily Consular and Trade Report notes the following foreign trade opportunities. Further information regarding them may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of the item referred to:

9,867. STEEL STEAMBOAT.—Supplementing a previous cablegram which was sent out as Confidential Circular 30 by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce under date of Oct. 12, the American Chargé d'Affaires at Tangier, Morocco, has forwarded copies of a notice issued by the General Commission of Adjudications, with its translation, giving all information at present available relating to the steel steamboat referred to. Although the specifications state that all persons who wish to submit tenders must qualify before Nov. 3, sufficient time will be given thereafter for the communication and consideration of full specifications by the persons admitted to the privilege of participation.

9,868. TIMBER PROPOSITION.—An American Consular officer writes that he has received a communication from a person offering American capitalists a timber proposition in Russia covering an area of approximately 2,000,000 acres.

9,869. LEAD.—A report from an American Consular officer in a European country states that certain foreign municipal authorities are in the market for 15,000 kilos (33,075 pounds) of lead. Further details can be obtained by correspondence in English with a person named in the report.

9,870. LARD AND BACON.—A business firm in Southern Europe has informed an American Consular officer that it desires to be placed in communication with American exporters and packers of lard and bacon, with a view to representing them and importing their products in that market. Correspondence may be in English, French, or Italian, and references can be furnished.

9,871. STEEL, IRON, TOOLS, AND MACHINERY.—An American Consular officer reports that a foreign business firm which for more than fifty years has been dealing in steel, iron, tools, and machinery in Belgium and France desires to extend its business, so far as machines and other tools are concerned. Accordingly it desires to represent one or more good American manufacturers of these articles. Satisfactory references can be furnished, and correspondence may be conducted in English.

9,872. LUBRICATING AND COMBUSTIBLE OIL.—A business association in Italy informs an American Consular officer that it desires to open a branch house for the importation of American mineral oils and desires to be placed in communication with American exporters and producers of mineral oils, lubricating and combustible, (for Diesel motors,) with a view to either importing into that market or representing such firms as agents. Correspondence should be in Italian or French. Samples, prices, conditions, and discounts are requested. Satisfactory references will be furnished.

9,873. LOW-PRICED AUTOMOBILES.—A member of a European firm of well-known and long-established dealers in steel, iron, machines, and tools informs an American Consular officer that he is desirous of acting as agent for the sale of low-priced American automobiles, running up to about $1,500 each. Satisfactory references will be furnished, and correspondence may be in English.

9,874. BUILDING SUPPLIES.—A report from an American Consular officer in a Latin-American country states that a local American engineer and contractor has the contract for the construction of four buildings—residences and stores—of concrete and wood, and he desires to receive as early as possible catalogues and price lists with discount sheets from American manufacturers of building supplies, such as doors, windows, veranda railings, and other hardware. Prices should be quoted free on board New York or city of destination, and catalogues, &c., should be sent direct to the contractor referred to.

9,875. SURGICAL INSTRUMENTS AND DRUGS.—The proprietor of a drug store in a foreign country informs an American Consulate that he wishes to correspond with makers of surgical instruments and drugs. References will be exchanged.

9,876. SILK HOSIERY.—An American Consular officer in South America reports that a resident of his district is interested in securing the representation of American manufacturers of silk hosiery. Prices, samples, and full particulars should be sent him. Correspondence should be in Spanish.

NEW EDISON COMPANY.

Organized to Take Over North American's Wisconsin Assets.

The Wisconsin Edison Company, a $12,000,000 holding corporation, was incorporated at Albany yesterday in behalf of the North American Company, by Henry H. Pierce, Frederick H. Fiske, Edward H. Green, John Furster Dales, and John H. Ryan, who paid a tax of $15,000 to the State. Of the authorized capital, $10,000,000 consists of 6 per cent. cumulative preferred stock, and there are 200,000 shares of common stock with no stated par value.

The new company has been formed to take over the holdings of the North American Company and the public utilities which it controls within the State of Wisconsin. It will own the capital stock of the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company, which, in turn, owns the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company, the Wisconsin Gas & Electric Company, the Watertown Gas & Electric Company, the North Milwaukee Light & Power Company, the Burlington Light & Power Company, and the common stock of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company, which was issued for the acquisition of the Milwaukee Central Heating Company.

NO COTTON OIL DIVIDEND.

Earnings More Than 6 Per Cent., but Stock Benefit Withheld.

A widespread expectation that the American Cotton Oil Company would declare a dividenud on the common stock was disappointed yesterday, when the board issued a statement explaining that while earnings for the year amounted to more than 6 per cent. on the $20,237,000 of stock, the management had decided that the best interests of the company would be served by putting earnings back into the property. Stockholders received 5 per cent. in 1909 and 1910, and 2½ per cent in 1911.

The Directors made this statement after the meeting:

"Having carefully considered the question of the disposition of the surplus earnings of the year, amounting, after paying the interest on the debenture bonds and dividends on the preferred stock, to $1,314,000, or more than 6 per cent. on the common stock, the Directors reached the conclusion that the interest of the shareholders and the permanent prosperity of the company will be best served by utilizing these earnings in the development of the business of the company.

"During the past year there has been expended for additions to the properties the sum of $670,435 in addition to $597,705 expended for maintenance, which latter sum has been charged against expenses of operation."

IS SURE OF GOOD TIMES.

E. C. Simmons Wires Salesmen That Election Means More Business.

E. C. Simmons, head of the Simmons Hardware Company, whose big organization of salesmen, covering the whole country, has been trained for the gathering of information regarding business conditions, so that the concern's periodical statement is considered an authority, yesterday telegraphed from the St. Louis headquarters to all the men who were out on the road the following message regarding the probable effect of the election on trade, for their information and for the company's customers:

"Now that the election is over and it is a settled fact that Gov. Wilson is to be the next President of the United States, I feel it to be the duty of all the business men engaged in large enterprises—in fact, business men of all kinds—to quiet the public mind and relieve all apprehension of injury to the business interests of this country by the fact of Mr. Wilson's election.

"I do not believe it will disturb business a particle. I do not believe Gov. Wilson intends to recommend, to influence, or to allow any legislation that will be injurious to the workingman, to the wage earner, or to the business interests of this country.

"I should be glad if anything I could say on this subject would tend to quiet the minds of those who may be in doubt or fear or have any dread of evil results or injury to the present prosperous conditions that prevail from one end of this land to the other.

"I am in no sense a politician. I am a business man, and, speaking only from business interests and business convictions, I am absolutely sure that there will be no disturbance and no injury to the commercial affairs of the United States by the election of Gov. Woodrow Wilson to be our next President. The only disturbing influence that may come, should one come, will be a false one and will arise from the continuance of the effort to alarm the public mind with scarecrows.

"The significant fact that so large a number of the American people have chosen Gov. Wilson for their Chief Executive should be in itself a convincing argument even to those who may differ from Gov. Wilson politically, that these voters have faith in Gov. Wilson as a leader, in his patriotism, his judgment, and his sanity."

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

Wheat and Corn Quiet — Cotton Jumps—Loss in Pork and Oats Checked.

Wheat declined on slow export demand and lower Spring wheat markets. Corn was weak at new low levels on more favorable weather conditions and expectation of a record crop estimate. Oats were quiet and steady. Provisions were firmer on the better live hog market. Cottonseed oil advanced with crude and on speculative buying. Cotton again scored record prices for the movement, due to the spot situation and to a liberal outside inquiry. More favorable weather is looked for. Foreign trade reports are good. Coffee made a partial recovery of the previous day's losses

WHEAT.

The wheat market was less active and the tone heavy, closing at the low point at a decline of ½c to ⅝c. The Northwestern markets were heavy all the morning and Winnipeg wheat was also lower. The foreign markets showed decline at Berlin and Paris. Budapest was unchanged, Antwerp slightly higher, while the Liverpool market showed very poor response to the American advance of Wednesday. Export bids on American wheat were out of line and no business was reported. Some buying in Winnipeg was telegraphed, although the weakness in the Canadian markets showed that the demand was not of very positive proportions. The discount of the Canadian wheats under the American Spring grades at the West naturally throws all the business to the Canadian Northwest, while the price for hard wheat is so much above the price of Springs that export business is out of the question. The freight congestion at Buffalo is a very important factor in the export trade at present, and new business is practically unworkable. The Western receipts of wheat for the day were not so heavy as they have been, and the movement for the week promises to show a considerable falling off. Argentine crop news was of settled favorable weather. The Argentine exports for the week were estimated at 800,000 bushels. That country will begin cutting new wheat around Dec. 1, and so far there have been very few complaints of an unsatisfactory character. Cash wheat was nominal, with No. 2 red quoted at $1.07; No. 1 Northern Spring, 97½c; No. 2 red Winter, 98⅜c; No. 1 Manitoba, 99c.

OTHER GRAINS.

CORN.—The corn market was quiet and easier. The opening was steady on the further rains east of the Mississippi, and complaints that the country was not offering corn. Later the pressure on the May delivery became heavy, and the forward deliveries broke to new low levels, closing at the low point. The weather conditions showed improvement west of the Mississippi, and generally fair weather was predicted. The Government report today will give the yield of corn per acre as shown by the husking returns and private reports have indicated from 100,000,000 to 200,000,000 bushels more corn than shown by the Government report last month of 2,016,000,000 bushels. Export corn was quiet. Prices quoted at 56¼c, f. o. b, December to March. C. I. F., corn was quoted at 66@68½c, as to grade and delivery.

OATS.—Trading was quiet, the market showing a slight decline partly due to the heaviness in other grains, but there was no pressure on the market, and the close was steady. Cash oats were quiet, with No. 3 white, 38c to 38½c; No. 4 whites, 37½c to 38c, and white clipped, 36½c to 41c.

PROVISIONS.

Hog products were firmer, due to a little advance in live hogs and the development of quite some speculative buying west. Later prices eased off. Live hogs were generally firm, but receipts amounted to about 70,000 at all points.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Decided firmness of crude oil and an improved speculative demand accounted for the rally in yesterday's market. The strength of cotton has induced buying for outside account. Seed quotations have been steadily advanced during the last week or so, which necessitates to some extent a higher level for crude, but would also tend to bring about a larger crush. Hedge pressure increased on the upturn so that at the finals a major part of the early advance had been obliterated, and small further declines were shown on the "curb." Sentiment is more mixed, without important opposition to the upward tendency of values, however, despite the prevalence of bearish views. Crude was quoted at 4.94 in the Southeast, 4.95@5.00 in the valley, and 4.87@4.94 in Texas.

COTTON.

Apart from a reaction just following the outset, which was measured by a decline of nearly 10 points, the undertone was very firm during yesterday's session. Prices quickly recovered their losses and persistently advanced to new high levels, closing with a major part of the gains intact. Sentiment was noticeably more confused, but the buying by large Wall Street houses and for the account of spot concerns was impressive. Spot demand does not give any indication as yet of a material falling off despite the daily claims made in some quarters that urgent requirements for trade accounts are being rapidly filled.

There was no important news given out during the day, but that which was received favored holders in the main. Dispatches from various parts of the South emphasized the liberal inquiry for actual cotton at a basis above the local future market. The volume of hedge pressure is not burdensome, and these sales, together with the profit taking by speculative longs, were well cared for. The fact that the trade situation is looked upon as extremely bright not only in this country but at many of the foreign centres, acts as a restrictive influence to bearishness, particularly as manufacturers can afford to purchase the raw material at these levels.

Foreigners sold futures during the early trade, but later bought. The cables from Liverpool were about as due. The spot sales there continue liberal, and Manchester accounts are fairly optimistic. The British Board of Trade returns were in conformity with the recent sanguine statements given out concerning the volume of business on the other side. It was shown by these returns that sales were larger during October than in the preceding month, with exports of yarns so far this season 218,000,000 pounds, against 184,000,000 pounds last season, and cloth exports also in excess of last year.

There were moderate to heavy rains in most parts of the central and eastern cotton belt over night, but as the clearing conditions were following there did not seem to be very much complaint, even though more settled weather, with seasonable temperatures, is desired. Crop ideas are still unsettled. An Egyptian estimate was forwarded for a yield in that country of 1,550,000 bales, against 1,450,000 in 1911.

The ginning figures, which will be given out at 10 A. M. to-day, are expected to come close to 9,000,000 bales, as compared with 9,971,000 last season and 8,192,000 in the previous large crop year of 1908-09. A year ago the ginning to Nov. 1 represented 64.1 per cent. of the crop, while at this time in the 1908-09 season 62 per cent. of the outturn was indicated. The movement of cotton is still substantial, with estimates for an into sight this week of from 670,000 to 685,000 bales, against 720,000 last week and 642,000 last year.

COFFEE.

Coffee advanced steadily throughout the day, closing at the top, with a net gain of 10@15 points. Early business was within a small compass, but in the late session the market became more active, and total sales were 82,000 bags. Havre closed ¼@½f lower, while Hamburg was unchanged to ¼ pfennig lower. Prices in both Rio and Santos lost 50 reis. Cost and freight offers from Brazil were unchanged to 10 points lower. The world's visible supply during October increased 494,590 bags, bringing the total to 12,639,049, compared with 13,128,641 last year, when the increase was 760,757 bags.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

TUSSAH SILKS ADVANCE.

This Change in Shanghai Market Principal Feature of a Week.

The sharp advance of tussah silks in Shanghai was the only feature of note to the week in the world's raw silk markets. The best grades of re-reels are now scarce there, and high. The situation in Canton is unchanged, with stocks light and prices firm. Yokohama is dull, but unchanged. Holders are confident of the future, and will not give concessions to force buying.

According to H. L. Gwalter & Co., 95 Madison Avenue, the Milan market is quiet. Prices are firm, however, and there is little evidence of selling pressure. Election interrupted business in the local market, but the tone was generally steady. Japanese silks are recovering lost ground, and requests for concessions are not often granted.

STATIONERY DEMAND GOOD.

Export Orders Normal—Out-of-Town Collections Never Better.

There is little to chronicle regarding the week in the stationery trade. Conditions are excellent, and the demand continues strong. Salesmen on the road are sending in large orders daily for both staple and fancy merchandise. Representatives of the leading houses in the local market are optimistic concerning the future and looking forward to an especially large holiday season. Export orders are up to normal for this time of the year, and out-of-town collections have never been better.

FLOWERS ARE POPULAR.

Advance Millinery Orders Indicate the Coming Spring Styles.

With the Fall season practically finished, conditions in the millinery trade are rather quiet. Manufacturers are interested now in preparing their Spring lines, but it is too early yet to say much about coming styles. The season will probably open with small shapes popular, but large hats will undoubtedly come into prominence later. Some houses have already sent men out on the road with popular priced lines, and advance orders have been satisfactory to date. Warm weather is holding back business to some extent, but a large Spring turnover is generally anticipated.

The trimming houses are greatly encouraged by the advance Spring orders for flowers of all descriptions. Paradise aigrettes and curled ostrich feathers are also selling well. Jet ornaments continue in good demand.

BUYERS DEMAND QUALITY.

Better Grades of Laces and Embroideries Rule in Week's Sales.

There was no change of note in the lace market during the last week. The demand is still largely for lightweight merchandise. Shadow effects and Oriental edgings, (particularly in cream shades,) continue strong. Advance Spring orders are considerably ahead of those received to date last year.

Spring buying in embroideries is picking up and everything points to a good season. The trend of the demand is not well defined as yet, but orders for a great variety of goods have been booked. The better class of merchandise is in particular demand. Voile flouncings and galloons continue strong. Baby sets and colored novelties are also wanted.

TOPICS IN BUSINESS CIRCLES.

The Tariff and the "Imported" Label

There is a belief in some quarters of the local wholesale market that the election of Gov. Wilson and the consequent tariff changes will greatly increase the use of fake imported labels here. With the price of certain merchandise reduced, as a result of lower duties, to fit more easily the purse of the average consumer, the contention is that the labeling of domestic goods as imported will be resorted to more than ever by unscrupulous manufacturers and sellers to stimulate their sale.

⁂

The Hosiery Question.

According to one of the leading textile trade journals, advices have been sent to European knit goods centres urging manufacturers to prepare for increased shipments following the installation of the Democratic Administration. Statistics show a substantial falling off in imports of hosiery from Germany in recent years, and the German manufacturers are said to have their eyes on the possibility of increased business with this country as a result of the change. In the opinion of one of the best-posted men in this market, there is little, if any, choice between domestic and imported hosiery at corresponding prices. For this very reason, he contends, American hosiery has got a strong foothold in Europe. The future may bring the results predicted by the protectionists, but, in his opinion, at least, it has been painted blacker by them than the actual facts warrant.

FEDERAL SUPPLY PROPOSALS.

(No further particulars are available in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce regarding these projects. Correspondence should be direct with the offices named:

893. PANAMA CANAL SUPPLIES.—Sealed proposals, in triplicate, will be received at the office of the General Purchasing Officer of the Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. (Circular No. 742.)

894. BRICK DORMITORY.—Sealed proposals will be received at the Indian Office, Washington, D. C., until Dec. 4 for furnishing materials and labor for the erection of a brick dormitory at the Riverside Indian School, Kiowa Agency, Okla., in accordance with the plans, specifications, and instructions to bidders, copies of which may be obtained at the Indian Office, Washington, D. C., the offices of the Supervisor of Construction, Denver, Col.; The American Contractor, Chicago, Ill.; The Improvement Bulletin, Minneapolis, Minn.; The Leader, Guthrie, Okla.; The Oklahoman, Oklahoma City, Okla.; the United States Indian warehouses at Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., and Omaha, Neb., and at the agency. For further particulars apply to the Superintendent of the Kiowa Indian Agency, Anadarko, Okla.

895. SUPPLIES FOR MEDICAL DEPOT.—Sealed proposals will be received at the Field Supply Depot, United States Army, Washington, D. C., until Nov. 29 for furnishing and delivering 150 rubber aprons, 500 rubber basins, 200 canvas bellows books, 1,000 packing boxes, 500 folding chairs with canvas seat and back, 500 folding cots, 150 field desks, 144 hasps and staples, 300 hatchets, 400 steel hinges, 400 strap light hinges, 50 microscopical outfits, 50 microscopical supply cases, 100 pounds wire nails, 100 pack saddles, 1,000 rolls isinglass plaster, 500 slings for pouches, 500 folding stools, 200 nests tins, 1,000 pieces canvas for litters, 2,000 papers tacks for litters, 1,000 litter braces, 500 litter poles, 500 litter rings, 25 screws for litters, 3,000 straps for litters, 5,000 studs for litters. Further particulars, specifications, &c., can be obtained by addressing the Field Medical Supply Depot.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

The street railway projected in Peking is to run on the top of the Great Wall surrounding the city.

A $250,000 limited company has been formed in Brussels, in which a number of Brussels and Antwerp financiers are interested, for improving the Belgian concession, consisting of 120 acres at Tien-Tsin, granted by China after the Boxer trouble.

The pushful characteristics of the Japanese are illustrated, says a Cape Town correspondent, by the arrival there of an emissary from Osaka, who is about to make a tour throughout South Africa for the purpose of promoting direct trade between his country and South Africa.

The revenue of the commercial department in Southern Rhodesia for the financial year ended March 31, 1911, amounted to $745,488, against an expenditure on revenue account of $325,645, making the net receipts for the year $419,842. The receipts from land sales amounted to $176,003, and are included in these figures.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

The introduction of the Robe Apache, first shown at recent French races, is having a distinct effect on the ribbon trade. The feature of the gown is a long sash draped from the shoulders, encircling the waist and hanging almost to the ground.

Novelty pastel shades in light and dark tones will be revived for Spring, according to the latest color card of J. Claude Frere, Paris. They will be seen here in the coming season in ribbons, silks, and millinery garniture.

A new ornament, named the Moulay-Hafid, is being called for extensively in the millinery trade. The idea originated from the headdress worn by the Sultan of Morocco during a recent visit to Paris, and an excellent demand is now noted for the ornament in this country. It is made in jet and colored stones.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Lithographed Labels Reduced—Feathered Ornaments Pay as Metal.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday sustained a protest filed by A. Kastor & Bros. regarding the classification under the Tariff act of 1909 of lithographed labels, taxed at 30 cents a pound under Paragraph 412 as being die-cut. It was contended by the importers that the labels were dutiable at only 20 cents a pound under the same paragraph. The board found that the articles are not die-cut, were printed in less than eight colors, and not printed in whole or in part in metal leaf.

The board also sustained protests by Germain, Hoffbauer & Co., dealing with ornamental feathers taxed under the Tariff act of 1897 at 50 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 425. The importers said that as metal attachments were the components of chief value, the goods should be allowed to enter at 45 per cent. ad valorem under the metal schedule. Judge McClelland decided.

The board upheld contentions by F. Battagline and L. Caputo on chicken pea flour, granting duty at 20 per cent., and upsetting higher rates assessed by the Collector.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

LOUIS SILVERSTEIN & CO.—A petition has been filed against Louis Silverstein & Co., (corporation,) manufacturers of men's clothing, 129 West Twentieth Street, by Eugene L. NOT SO BAD FOR RUGS.

War Not as Serious a Market Factor as Has Been Reported.

While the war is having, without doubt, a serious effect on the manufacture of Turkish rugs, according to C. R. Clifford, editor of The Upholsterer, the uprising of the Balkan States is by no means retarding the Oriental rug industry to the extent commonly supposed.

"The war is seriously affecting the Turkish industry," said Mr. Clifford yesterday, "because most of the skilled weavers have been pressed into military service. This leaves the industries, both indigenous and commercial, almost entirely dependent on the labor of women and children. Not only the native rugs, but the factory products—the Oushaks, modern Kulahs, Cassabas, and the heavy weaves technically known as O. C. M.'s—are therefore left to the mercy of workers who cannot be the best.

"Unnecessary importance, however, is attached to the situation at Constantinople. While that city was at one time the principal point of shipment, it is now of only secondary importance. Many of the large Turkish exporters ship from Smyrna, and other points within a reasonable radius. The South Persian Gulf route is also used. Conditions have so changed in the last two or three years that I doubt if more than 30 per cent. of the Oriental rugs exported now go through Constantinople.

"The war is at present confined to Turkey in Europe. In Turkey proper, prices will be affected by the scarcity of labor, and, to a certain extent, by the destruction or sacrifice of stocks in Constantinople. But the enormous industry east of Turkey, covering a territory approximately twenty-five times as large as that country, will not be affected unless the Dardanelles is closed and the Mediterranean ports are threatened. Constantinople has of late years depended largely on the smaller buyers, and this class, as well as the industry within the confines of Turkey proper, will doubtless be seriously affected by the present situation."

PUBLIC NOTICES.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

WE, the undersigned, all being persons of full age and at least two-thirds being citizens of the United States, and not less than four of us being residents of the State of New York, desiring to become a corporation under and by virtue of the provisions of the Railroad Law of the State of New York, for the purpose of building, maintaining, and operating a railroad, DO HEREBY CERTIFY, as follows:

FIRST: The name of the corporation shall be "MANHATTAN AND QUEENS TRACTION CORPORATION."

SECOND: The number of years it is to continue shall be nine hundred and ninety-nine, (999).

THIRD: The kind of road to be built and operated shall be a street surface railroad and branches thereof, to be operated either on double or single tracks and to be propelled by electricity, animal power, cable power, compressed air, or any other motive power which can or hereafter legally may be used upon such railroad other than steam locomotive power.

FOURTH: The length of said road will be fifteen and one-half (15½) miles, and its termini are the intersection of Third Avenue with 59th Street in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, and the point or place where Central Avenue intersects the line dividing the City of New York from Nassau County, in the Borough of Queens and City of New York.

FIFTH: The names of the counties in which said railroad is to be located are the Counties of New York and Queens.

SIXTH: The amount of its capital stock shall be One Million ($1,000,000) dollars.

SEVENTH: The number of shares into which the capital stock is to be divided shall be ten thousand (10,000) shares of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each.

EIGHTH: The whole of the capital stock is to consist of common stock.

NINTH: The said corporation shall have nine (9) Directors, and the names and Post Office addresses of the Directors of the corporation, who shall manage its affairs for the first year, are as follows:

NAMES.	POST-OFFICE ADDRESSES.
1. Frederick W. Drury,	498 West End Avenue, New York City.
2. E. Irving Carr,	173 West 12th Street, New York City.

SURROGATE CITATION.

JAMES, AMEDEE DE GASQUET.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Elizabeth Pratt de Gasquet James, executrix, &c., of AMEDEE DE GASQUET JAMES, deceased, now known as Elizabeth Tibbits de Mecklenburg, wife of Henry Borwin, otherwise known as Duc Borwin de Mecklenburg; Victoire Louise de Libran, Elizabeth Bleeker Von der Decken, and Hereward Von der Decken, infants, residing with their father, Leo Baron Von der Decken, at 7 Stallbaun Strasse, Leipzig, Saxony, and the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., of the City of New York, send greeting.

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear before our Surrogate of the County of Ulster, at the Surrogate's Court of said County, held at the Surrogates' Office, in the County of Ulster, on the 17th day of December, 1912, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to make answer to the petition of George Watson Pratt de Gasquet James and Pauline Andree de la Mettrie. Filed in the office of the Surrogate of Ulster County, Kingston, N. Y., on the 24th day of August, 1912, and show cause why the Letters Testamentary heretofore and on March 22, 1904, granted to the said Elizabeth Pratt de Gasquet James, executrix, &c., should not be revoked and annulled; and why a judicial settlement of her accounts as ancillary executrix and executrix should not be had and why your petitioners and other persons interested in the said estate of Amedee de Gasquet James, deceased, should not have such other or further relief as may be just in the premises, and such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of said County of Ulster to be hereunto [L. S.] affixed. Witness, Hon. Walter N. Gill, a Surrogate of our said County, at the County of Ulster, the 19th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

This Change in Shanghai Market Principal Feature of a Week.

The sharp advance of tussah silks in Shanghai was the only feature of note to the week in the world's raw silk markets. The best grades of re-reels are now scarce there, and high. The situation in Canton is unchanged, with stocks light and prices firm. Yokohama is dull, but unchanged. Holders are confident of the future, and will not give concessions to force buying.

According to H. L. Gwalter & Co., 95 Madison Avenue, the Milan market is quiet. Prices are firm, however, and there is little evidence of selling pressure. Election interrupted business in the local market, but the tone was generally steady. Japanese silks are recovering lost ground, and requests for concessions are not often granted.

STATIONERY DEMAND GOOD.

Export Orders Normal—Out-of-Town Collections Never Better.

There is little to chronicle regarding the week in the stationery trade. Conditions are excellent, and the demand continues strong. Salesmen on the road are sending in large orders daily for both staple and fancy merchandise. Representatives of the leading houses in the local market are optimistic concerning the future and looking forward to an especially large holiday season. Export orders are up to normal for this time of the year, and out-of-town collections have never been better.

FLOWERS ARE POPULAR.

Advance Millinery Orders Indicate the Coming Spring Styles.

With the Fall season practically finished, conditions in the millinery trade are rather quiet. Manufacturers are interested now in preparing their Spring lines, but it is too early yet to say much about coming styles. The season will probably open with small shapes popular, but large hats will undoubtedly come into prominence later. Some houses have already sent men out on the road with popular priced lines, and advance orders have been satisfactory to date. Warm weather is holding back business to some extent, but a large Spring turnover is generally anticipated.

The trimming houses are greatly encouraged by the advance Spring orders for flowers of all descriptions. Paradise aigrettes and curled ostrich feathers are also selling well. Jet ornaments continue in good demand.

BUYERS DEMAND QUALITY.

Better Grades of Laces and Embroideries Rule in Week's Sales.

There was no change of note in the lace market during the last week. The demand is still largely for lightweight merchandise. Shadow effects and Oriental edgings, (particularly in cream shades,) continue strong. Advance Spring orders are considerably ahead of those received to date last year.

Spring buying in embroideries is picking up and everything points to a good season. The trend of the demand is not well defined as yet, but orders for a great variety of goods have been booked. The better class of merchandise is in particular demand. Voile flouncings and galloons continue strong. Baby sets and colored novelties are also wanted.

TOPICS IN BUSINESS CIRCLES.

The Tariff and the "Imported" Label

There is a belief in some quarters of the local wholesale market that the election of Gov. Wilson and the consequent tariff changes will greatly increase the use of fake imported labels here. With the price of certain merchandise reduced, as a result of lower duties, to fit more easily the purse of the average consumer, the contention is that the labeling of domestic goods as imported will be resorted to more than ever by unscrupulous manufacturers and sellers to stimulate their sale.

⁂

The Hosiery Question.

According to one of the leading textile trade journals, advices have been sent to European knit goods centres urging manufacturers to prepare for increased shipments following the installation of the Democratic Administration. Statistics show a substantial falling off in imports of hosiery from Germany in recent years, and the German manufacturers are said to have their eyes on the possibility of increased business with this country as a result of the change. In the opinion of one of the best-posted men in this market, there is little, if any, choice between domestic and imported hosiery at corresponding prices. For this very reason, he contends, American hosiery has got a strong foothold in Europe. The future may bring the results predicted by the protectionists, but, in his opinion, at least, it has been painted blacker by them than the actual facts warrant.

FEDERAL SUPPLY PROPOSALS.

(No further particulars are available in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce regarding these projects. Correspondence should be direct with the offices named:

893. PANAMA CANAL SUPPLIES.—Sealed proposals, in triplicate, will be received at the office of the General Purchasing Officer of the Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C., until Nov. 25 for furnishing the following supplies covering the annual estimate for the period ending Dec. 31, 1913: Wheat bran, cottonseed hulls, cottonseed meal, and sucrene dairy feed. (Circular No. 742.)

894. BRICK DORMITORY.—Sealed proposals will be received at the Indian Office, Washington, D. C., until Dec. 4 for furnishing materials and labor for the erection of a brick dormitory at the Riverside Indian School, Kiowa Agency, Okla., in accordance with the plans, specifications, and instructions to bidders, copies of which may be obtained at the Indian Office, Washington, D. C., the offices of the Supervisor of Construction, Denver, Col.; The American Contractor, Chicago, Ill.; The Improvement Bulletin, Minneapolis, Minn.; The Leader, Guthrie, Okla.; The Oklahoman, Oklahoma City, Okla.; the United States Indian warehouses at Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., and Omaha, Neb., and at the agency. For further particulars apply to the Superintendent of the Kiowa Indian Agency, Anadarko, Okla.

895. SUPPLIES FOR MEDICAL DEPOT.—Sealed proposals will be received at the Field Supply Depot, United States Army, Washington, D. C., until Nov. 29 for furnishing and delivering 150 rubber aprons, 500 rubber basins, 200 canvas bellows books, 1,000 packing boxes, 500 folding chairs with canvas seat and back, 500 folding cots, 150 field desks, 144 hasps and staples, 300 hatchets, 400 steel hinges, 400 strap light hinges, 50 microscopical outfits, 50 microscopical supply cases, 100 pounds wire nails, 100 pack saddles, 1,000 rolls isinglass plaster, 500 slings for pouches, 500 folding stools, 200 nests tins, 1,000 pieces canvas for litters, 2,000 papers tacks for litters, 1,000 litter braces, 500 litter poles, 500 litter rings, 25 screws for litters, 3,000 straps for litters, 5,000 studs for litters. CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

The street railway projected in Peking is to run on the top of the Great Wall surrounding the city.

A $250,000 limited company has been formed in Brussels, in which a number of Brussels and Antwerp financiers are interested, for improving the Belgian concession, consisting of 120 acres at Tien-Tsin, granted by China after the Boxer trouble.

The pushful characteristics of the Japanese are illustrated, says a Cape Town correspondent, by the arrival there of an emissary from Osaka, who is about to make a tour throughout South Africa for the purpose of promoting direct trade between his country and South Africa.

The revenue of the commercial department in Southern Rhodesia for the financial year ended March 31, 1911, amounted to $745,488, against an expenditure on revenue account of $325,645, making the net receipts for the year $419,842. The receipts from land sales amounted to $176,993, and are included in these figures.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

The introduction of the Robe Apache, first shown at recent French races, is having a distinct effect on the ribbon trade. The feature of the gown is a long sash draped from the shoulders, encircling the waist and hanging almost to the ground.

Novelty pastel shades in light and dark tones will be revived for Spring, according to the latest color card of J. Claude Frere, Paris. They will be seen here in the coming season in ribbons, silks, and millinery garniture.

A new ornament, named the Moulay-Hafid, is being called for extensively in the millinery trade. The idea originated from the headdress worn by the Sultan of Morocco during a recent visit to Paris, and an excellent demand is now noted for the ornament in this country. It is made in jet and colored stones.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Lithographed Labels Reduced—Feathered Ornaments Pay as Metal.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday sustained a protest filed by A. Kastor & Bros. regarding the classification under the Tariff act of 1909 of lithographed labels, taxed at 30 cents a pound under Paragraph 412 as being die-cut. It was contended by the importers that the labels were dutiable at only 20 cents a pound under the same paragraph. The board found that the articles are not die-cut, were printed in less than eight colors, and not printed in whole or in part in metal leaf.

The board also sustained protests by Germain, Hoffbauer & Co., dealing with ornamental feathers taxed under the Tariff act of 1897 at 50 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 425. The importers said that as metal attachments were the components of chief value, the goods should be allowed to enter at 45 per cent. ad valorem under the metal schedule. Judge McClelland decided.

The board upheld contentions by F. Battagline and L. Caputo on chicken pea flour, granting duty at 20 per cent., and upsetting higher rates assessed by the Collector.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

NOT SO BAD FOR RUGS.

War Not as Serious a Market Factor as Has Been Reported.

While the war is having, without doubt, a serious effect on the manufacture of Turkish rugs, according to C. R. Clifford, editor of The Upholsterer, the uprising of the Balkan States is by no means retarding the Oriental rug industry to the extent commonly supposed.

"The war is seriously affecting the Turkish industry," said Mr. Clifford yesterday, "because most of the skilled weavers have been pressed into military service. This leaves the industries, both indigenous and commercial, almost entirely dependent on the labor of women and children. Not only the native rugs, but the factory products—the Oushaks, modern Kulahs, Cassabas, and the heavy weaves technically known as O. C. M.'s—are therefore left to the mercy of workers who cannot be the best.

"Unnecessary importance, however, is attached to the situation at Constantinople. While that city was at one time the principal point of shipment, it is now of only secondary importance. Many of the large Turkish exporters ship from Smyrna, and other points within a reasonable radius. The South Persian Gulf route is also used. Conditions have so changed in the last two or three years that I doubt if more than 30 per cent. of the Oriental rugs exported now go through Constantinople.

"The war is at present confined to Turkey in Europe. In Turkey proper, prices will be affected by the scarcity of labor, and, to a certain extent, by the destruction or sacrifice of stocks in Constantinople. But the enormous industry east of Turkey, covering a territory, approximately twenty-five times as large as that country, will not be affected unless the Dardanelles is closed and the Mediterranean ports are threatened. Constantinople has of late years depended largely on the smaller buyers, and this class, as well as the industry within the confines of Turkey proper, will doubtless be seriously affected by the present situation."

COURT CALENDARS.

FEDERAL.

Supreme Court.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Following are the Supreme Court orders issued to-day by the Chief Justice:

Francis N. Whitney of New York City was admitted to practice.

SURROGATE CITATION.

JAMES, AMEDEE DE GASQUET.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Elizabeth Pratt de Gasquet James, executrix, &c., of AMEDEE DE GASQUET JAMES, deceased, now known as Elizabeth Tibbits de Mecklenburg, wife of Henry Borwin, otherwise known as Duc Borwin de Mecklenburg; Victoire Louise de Libran, Elizabeth Bleeker Von der Decken, and Hereward Von der Decken, infants, residing with their father, Leo Baron Von der Decken, at 7 Stallbaun Strasse, Leipzig, Saxony, and the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., of the City of New York, send greeting.

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear before our Surrogate of the County of Ulster, at the Surrogate's Court of said County, held at the Surrogates' Office, in the County of Ulster, on the 17th day of December, 1912, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to make answer to the petition of George Watson Pratt de Gasquet James and Pauline Andree de la Mettrie. Filed in the office of the Surrogate of Ulster County, Kingston, N. Y., on the 24th day of August, 1912, and show cause why the Letters Testamentary heretofore and on March 22, 1904, granted to the said Elizabeth Pratt de Gasquet James, executrix, &c., should not be revoked and annulled; and why a judicial settlement of her accounts as ancillary executrix and executrix should not be had and why your petitioners and other persons interested in the said estate of Amedee de Gasquet James, deceased, should not have such other or further relief as may be just in the premises, and such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of said County of Ulster to be hereunto [L. S.] affixed. Witness, Hon. Walter N. Gill, a Surrogate of our said County, at the County of Ulster, the 19th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

DANIEL B. DEYO,
Clerk of the Surrogates' Court.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Investor Buys Thirty-eighth Street House in Lord & Taylor Block—Tenement Deal—Old Cemetery to be Cut Up Into Building Lots—Brooklyn and Suburban Activity.

One of the few remaining properties in the market on Thirty-eighth Street, between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, that has not been taken over by either investor or speculator since the announcement of the Lord & Taylor lease last week was disposed of yesterday.

The parcel consists of an old-fashioned four-story dwelling, known as 58 West Thirty-eighth Street, on a lot 20.10 by 98.9. It was sold by Sarah F. V. Blakeman, and adjoins on the west the twelve-story loft building recently completed by Michael Coleman at 48 to 56 West Thirty-eighth Street.

Directly opposite the property sold yesterday is the row of fourteen dwellings purchased last week by a syndicate headed by Capt. William H. Wheeler. The buyer is reported to be an investor who has made other purchases in the vicinity.

Investors Buying Tenements.

The five-story tenement at 207 West Eighty-fourth Street, on a plot 27 by 102.2, has been sold by Electus T. Backus for the Equitable Realty Company to Adam Urbach, who was represented in the deal by Ashforth & Co.

Dr. Charles Miller has purchased from the Rev. Leighton Williams for investment the five-story double tenement, 213 East 102d Street, on a lot 25 by 100. Bryan L. Kennelly negotiated the transaction.

Operator Buys Cemetery Plot.

A realty operator is the buyer of the property on the north side of East Eleventh Street, commencing 100 feet east of First Avenue and running through to the south side of East Twelfth Street, with a frontage of 350 feet on either street. The property was sold by Bryan L. Kennelly, representing Cardinal Farley and the Trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral, as Chairman of the Cemetery Committee. The property will be cut up and sold with building loans. It was held at about $500,000. The plot will contain twenty-eight city lots.

Bronx.

The Gorham Realty Company has purchased from Solomon Silverman 598 Prospect Avenue, a five-story flat, on plot 37.5 by 100, between Fox and Beck Streets.

Brooklyn.

An investor has purchased from S. Henchel the three-story store and flat building on the southwest corner of Fort Hamilton Avenue and Seventieth Street. Frank A. Seaver was the broker.

Howard C. Pyle & Co. report the sale of 308 Fulton Street, between Pierrepont and Clinton Streets, a four-sory business building. This property comprises the Fulton Street end of the old Assembly Building, which was erected in 1887 by the late Elbert C. Wilson and in 1898 altered for a restaurant and café. The sale was made for A. B. Roberts, the purchaser being Nicholas R. Middleton, who will make extensive alterations.

John Weber has sold 254 Reid Avenue, a five-story apartment house with stores, to Edward F. Lankanau, who purchased the adjoining building, 256 Reid Avenue, last week. Peter P. Sherry negotiated both transactions.

Long Island.

The Windsor Land and Improvement Company sold at Valley Stream to E. Kneal a plot 60 by 100, on Valley Stream Boulevard. The same company sold at Oceanside to H. J. Buck and H. Gagel each a plot 40 by 100, on Ebert Avenue; to J. D. Gartner a plot 20 by 147, and to P. F. Boyer a plot 40 by 100, on Merrifield Avenue; to F. McKee a plot 40 by 100, on Windsor Parkway; to M. J. Bockstahler a plot 20 by 102, on Lawson Avenue; to N. von Hollen a plot 20 by 101, on Lawson Avenue; to L. Lenthe a plot 60 by 100, on Windsor Parkway and Dambly Avenue.

The O. L. Schwencke Land and Improvement Company has sold at Hempstead Park plots to G. White, G. Atcheson, A. Anderson, G. Fisch, A. & F. Kren, B. C. Ingaglia, G. Arcario, F. Noonan, J. Rittmaster, and E. Glatt, and at Patchogue five-acre plots to J. Harper, William E. Tufts, and A. Barkey.

New Jersey.

A realty syndicate of which former Gov. Stokes of New Jersey is President and Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury, is Vice President, has purchased the 25,000 acres of land known as the Hanover tract, in Ocean and Burlington Counties, New Jersey, near Brown's Mills in the Pines. The tract is largely cleared farm land, and it is the intention of the new owners to cut it up into small farms of from five to twenty-five acres.

Suburban.

George W. Bard sold at auction recently a four-story brick and frame tenement on Breckenridge Street, at Tuckahoe, for $6,000, to Frederico Saviano.

Commercial Leases.

Emil Fraade, President of the Fraade Contracting Company, has taken a twenty-one-year lease of 56 West Forty-sixth Street, which is owned by Louise R. Weed. The premises will be converted into a five-story store, lofts, and offices by the lessee; ready for occupancy Feb. 1, 1913. Frederick Fox & Co. were the brokers in the matter.

James N. Wells's Sons have leased for M. M. I. de Courval to Henry Hencken the vacant plot, 100 by 98.9, at 539 to 545 West Twenty-eighth Street, for a term of years. Mr. Hencken will improve the property for his use with a stable and concrete coal pockets of modern design for storing and handling coal in large quantities.

George R. Read & Co. has leased for M. H. Harris the corner store in the Sheldon Building at Nassau and John Streets to La Duval, Inc.

$475,842 for Queens Buildings.

Building records in the Borough of Queens for the present year have been broken by the filing of plans calling for the expenditure of $475,842 during the first six days of November.

These operations represent 164 applications for new buildings at an estimated value of $455,292, and for alterations at an estimated value of $7,282. In addition to these applications were filed for plumbing permits aggregating $13,286.

Apartment on Straus Home Site.

Plans were filed for two new west side apartments yesterday, the aggregate cost of which will be $1,050,000. One was for a twelve-story house to cover the site of the late home of Isidor Straus, on the north side of 105th Street, between Broadway and West End Avenue, 192.3 on the street, 109.5 on Broadway, and 100.11 on West End Avenue. Harry Schiff, who bought the land last Spring from the Straus executors, is the owner. The façade will be of terra cotta, brick, limestone, and granite. Schwartz & Gross are the architects, and the cost is placed at $750,000.

The same architects filed plans for a ten-story apartment house on the southwest corner of Broadway and 179th Street for Donald Robertson. It will have a frontage of 103 feet on Broadway and 138.9 feet on the street, with accommodations for sixty-six families. The cost is placed at $300,000.

Realty Notes.

The Libman Contracting Company has received the contract for the erection of all masonry for the Cecil Spooner Theatre and office building on the west side of Southern Boulevard, near 163d Street. The owner of the property is The Kellwood Realty Company, James F. Meehan President.

Controller Prendergast has given notice that assessments due for the Forty-eighth Street sewer and for the grading, curbing, and flagging of Crown Street, Brooklyn, must be paid on or before Dec. 21.

George W. Bard will sell to-morrow the business corner plot, 130 feet front, North and West Lincoln Avenues, Mount Vernon.

The House and Real Estate Owners' Association will hold a meeting this morning at Turn Hall, Eighty-fifth Street and Lexington Avenue.

L. J. Phillips & Co. were the brokers in the sale of the five-story flats 514 to 520 West 148th Street.

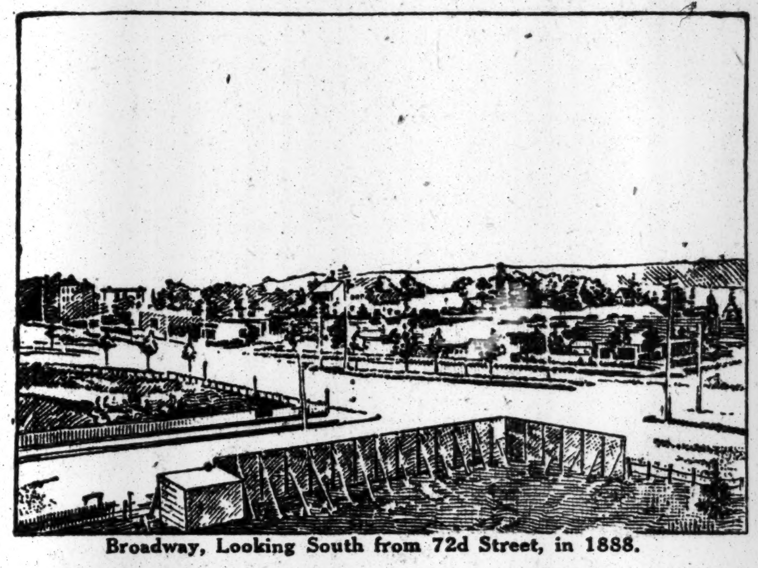
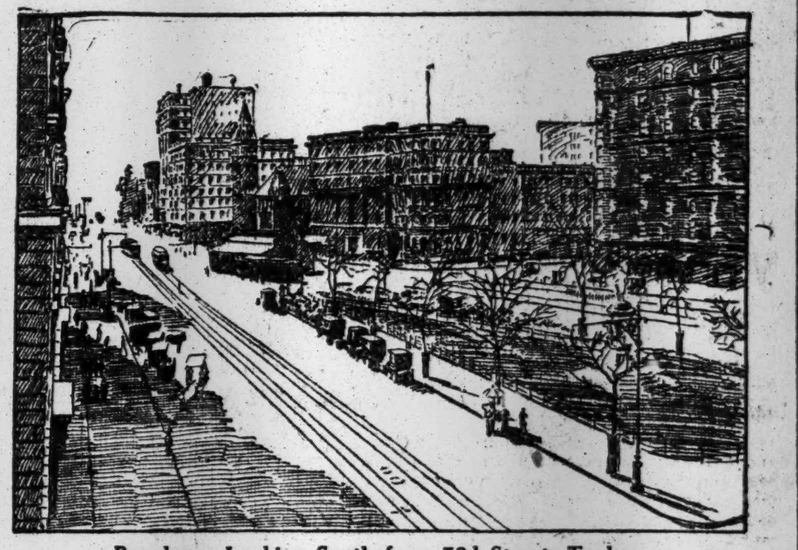
Broadway, Looking North from 72d Street, To-Day.



Broadway, Looking South from 72d Street, in 1888.



Broadway, Looking South from 72d Street, To-day.

LOOK AT IT TO-DAY, one of the city's busiest centres.
DON'T YOU WISH you had bought a few lots there when they were sold cheap?
YOU WOULD BE WEALTHY TO-DAY.
A FEW YEARS HENCE Broadway will be built up solid opposite Van Cortlandt Park.
You will then regret not having bought at the Forster-Schmitt Sale.

You have the same opportunity at this Sale.

THE LOTS must be sold separately to the highest bidder no matter what price they bring—THIS IS POSITIVE.

DON'T HAVE REGRETS. DO IT.

THE REASON WHY

Mr. Forster was formerly of Hackett, Carhart & Co. Inc., Retail, recently discharged from receivership.

HE HAS BEEN ordered to another climate on account of ill health.
Mr. JOHN WHALEN is trustee for various banks, creditors of Mr. Schmitt. This property is being sold for the benefit of these creditors.

Go Look at the Forster-Schmitt Properties To-Day.

QUEENS—FOR SALE OR TO LET.

A TYPICAL NEPONSIT HOME.

Here Is Home

Here is room. Here are opportunities. Here is a place to live all-the-year-round that mere adjectives cannot describe.
Here are refined and cultured people—neighbors worth while. Here are distinctive homes which any man would be proud to own. Here is the ocean on one side and Jamaica Bay on the other with all the pleasures they suggest.

Here is a Winter temperature averaging 10 degrees warmer than in the city—and in Summer 10 degrees cooler.

NEPONSIT

The Last Ocean Home Site in New York City.

Just 40 minutes' ride from your New York or Brooklyn office, on clean, speedy electric trains.
You, your tired wife and children will have refreshed nerves, renewed strength, keen appetites, and nights of restful sleep. And with it all, the comforts and conveniences of city life.
How do we know this? Because the folks who live here are proving it.
Visit Neponsit now. It was never more beautiful.
Here are cosy cottages and picturesque villas waiting for you—or you can build to suit yourself. Payments like rent. Build NOW and your home will be ready by Spring.
Be our guest at the $30,000 Club House used by Property Owners. How about to-morrow or Sunday? Write or telephone to-day for tickets and descriptive booklet.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The storms of Wednesday night over the lower lake region and Northwest Florida have united into a single storm of much greater intensity central to-night over Eastern New York. Heavy rains accompanied the storm in the Atlantic States with high winds on the coast and rains also continued in the lake region, the Ohio Valley, and the east Gulf States. There was no other precipitation of consequence.

Temperatures are still high in the Atlantic States, but have fallen considerably in the Ohio Valley.

It is warmer in the Missouri Valley and the Southwest.

The weather will be fair Friday over all districts except New England and the North Pacific States, where rains will continue, and it will be fair Saturday, except in the extreme Northwest, where there will be scattered rains or snows. It will be colder Friday in the Atlantic States and warmer in the interior as far west as the Mississippi Valley.

Winds along the New England Coast will be high and shifting, becoming northwest; Middle Atlantic Coast, brisk to high northwest, diminishing during Friday; South Atlantic Coast, moderate to brisk northwest and north.

Steamships departing Friday for European ports will have high west and northwest winds Friday, diminishing at night; rain Friday. Saturday, fair, colder.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York—Fair Friday morning, followed by fair, colder, brisk to high west and northwest winds; Saturday fair.

New Jersey—Clearing and colder Friday, with brisk northwest winds; Saturday fair.

New England—Rain and colder Friday, with shifting winds, becoming northwest and north; Saturday fair.

Western New York—Cloudy Friday; colder southeast portion; diminishing north winds; Saturday fair.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Clearing and colder Friday, with moderate to brisk northwest winds; Saturday fair.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1911.	1912.		1911.	1912.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The Brooklyn Teachers' Association will give a series of concerts and lectures this season. The concerts will be held at Kismet Temple, Herkimer Street and Nostrand Avenue, and the lectures will be delivered in the Young Men's Christian Association Hall, Bond and Fulton Streets. The first entertainment will be on the evening of Dec. 6 at Kismet Temple. Miss Kitty Cheatham will appear. Mrs. Bertha Kunz-Baker will give "five interpretative readings from great dramas of to-day" under the auspices of the association at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, beginning Nov. 16.

Of the twenty-six District Superintendents those whose terms will expire in 1913 are Cecil A. Kidd and Alfred T. Schauffler. Mr. Kidd was appointed for the unexpired term of the late Miss Julia Richman. It will end on June 30, 1913. Mr. Schauffler's term will expire on the same date. They will probably be reappointed, as will be the two City Associate Superintendents. The terms of Thomas S. O'Brien and John H. Walsh expire respectively on June 30 and Sept. 30, 1913.

The Association of Men Teachers on eligible lists prior to Jan. 1, 1912, will hold a meeting to-morrow morning at the Jefferson Club, Seventh Street, near Avenue C.

The alumni of Public School 2, 116 Henry Street, will hold a reunion on the evening of Nov. 14 at the City College Club, 208 Central Park South.

A conference of Principals of elementary, high, and training schools will be held on the afternoon of Nov. 19 at the Stuyvesant High School.

The Committee on School Inquiry of the Board of Estimate has forwarded to President Winthrop of the Board of Education a copy of the much-discussed report of Prof. E. C. Moore of Yale and copies of the correspondence regarding this report which the Committee on School Inquiry had with Prof. Hanus and with Prof. Moore.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for men only at the New York Custom House on Nov. 20 to fill a vacancy in the position of scientific assistant in tenant farming in the Office of Farm Management, Department of Agriculture, at a salary of $1,500 per annum, and vacancies as they may occur in positions requiring similar qualifications. Competitors will be examined in the following subjects, which will have the relative weights indicated:

Arithmetic (fundamental rules, fractions, percentages, interest, discount, and analysis)	10
Report writing (test in writing in letter form a report not more than 200 words in length, summarizing and arranging in logical order a series of facts included in a given statement of 400 or 500 words)	10
Practical questions on tenant farming	30
Thesis (to be delivered to the examiner on the day of examination)	15
Education, training, experience, and fitness	35

The thesis called for under the fourth subject must be upon some phase of tenant farming, and may present the results of original investigation on the part of the applicant, or it may represent work done by the applicant in collecting and arranging facts and drawing proper deductions from those facts. It is preferred, however, that it present the results of original investigation. The length of the thesis may be determined by the applicant, and it may be in handwriting or typewriting. Applicants must have reached their twenty-first but not their forty-fifth birthday on the date of the examination. Applicants will be admitted to this examination regardless of their place of residence, but under an act of Congress only those who are examined in the State or Territory in which they reside, and who have been actually domiciled in such State or Territory for at least one year previous to the date of the examination, will be eligible for appointment to any vacancy which may occur in the apportioned service in Washington, D. C. Those who cannot show such residence and domicile will be eligible only for appointment to vacancies which may occur in the field service; that is, to vacancies in positions with headquarters outside of Washington, D. C.

Censored Want Advertisements

"Only advertisements that are fit to print."

If you haven't what you want, advertise for it.

A guest for the unoccupied room? Why not a New York Times reader?

A pleasant home? Why not a home with a regular reader of The Times?

More competent help? The readers of The Times are intelligent and efficient.

An employer who has better-paid work to be done than you are now doing? Look up and see what kind of people are reading The New York Times to the right of you and to the left and across the aisle.

RICH AS THE VALLEY OF THE NILE.
We sell irrigated land in the beautiful Sacramento Valley in California. It is wonderfully rich, deep, fertile, and the water supply abundant.
This field garden will grow oranges, lemons, peaches, prunes, pecans, Bermuda onions, olives, figs, grapes, and sweet alfalfa; also any other crop grown in the United States.
Think of the enormous returns, where you can use land in this delightful climate 12 months in the year, while here you use it only 5 months.
Reasonable prices and terms.

Referees' Notices

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, plaintiff, against WESLEY THORN et al., defendants.

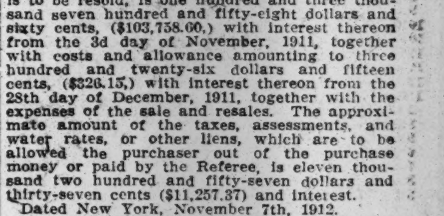
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 28th day of December, 1911, and orders of resale entered in the above entitled action on the 1st day of April, 1912; the 6th day of August, 1912, and the 31st day of October, 1912, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment and orders named, will sell at public auction at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 24th day of December, 1912, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Bryan L. Kennelly, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment and orders of resale to be sold and therein described as follows:

All that lot of land in the City and County of New York, with the buildings thereon, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the southerly side of Eighty-second Street, distant one hundred and nineteen feet westerly from the intersection of the southerly side of Eighty-second Street and the westerly side of Madison Avenue; and running thence southerly parallel with Madison Avenue and part of the way through a party wall one hundred and two feet two inches to the centre line of the block; thence westerly along the centre line of the block twenty-six feet; thence northerly again parallel with Madison Avenue one hundred and two feet two inches to the southerly side of Eighty-second Street; and thence easterly along the southerly side of Eighty-second Street twenty-six feet to the point of beginning. Said premises being now known as No. 18 East 82d Street.

Dated New York, November 7th, 1912.
ALFRED STECKLER, Jr., Referee.
GEORGE W. HUBBELL, Attorney for Plaintiff, 346 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold. Its street number is 18 East 82d Street:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above described property is to be resold, is one hundred and three thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight dollars and sixty cents, ($103,758.60,) with interest thereon from the 3d day of November, 1911, together with costs and allowance amounting to three hundred and twenty-six dollars and fifteen cents, ($326.15,) with interest thereon from the 28th day of December, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale and resales. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the Referee, is eleven thousand two hundred and fifty-seven dollars and thirty-seven cents ($11,257.37) and interest.

Dated New York, November 7th, 1912.

WALDORF INTRUDER AN ESCAPED LUNATIC

Young Woman Who Took Bag from Guest's Room Told a Rambling Story.

GAVE COURT THREE NAMES

Magistrate Considered Committing Her for Contempt—Wandered About the Town in a Taxicab.

Widely different were the stories told by an attractive young woman, 20 years old, who was arrested on Wednesday night in the room of a guest at the Waldorf-Astoria. When she was brought into the Jefferson Market Court yesterday her conduct was so peculiar that Magistrate O'Connor came near charging her with contempt of court. Michael Lawler, the hotel detective, appeared to press the charge of attempted burglary against her, and she was held in $1,000 bail for trial in General Sessions. Later in the day word reached the District Attorney's office that she had escaped on Wednesday from the State Hospital for the Insane, at Middletown, N. Y., and that her stories of adventure were the delusions of a disordered mind.

After her arrest the young woman gave three names. First she said she was Angie Schuck of 455 West 155th Street; then, when called upon to sign her name to the complaint papers in court, she signed Angie Hall. When this was called to the attention of the Magistrate, he said to the prisoner, "What is your right name?"

"Angie Schuck," the prisoner replied, with a smile.

Later she said her name was Angie Cummings. This is her true name.

The arrest of Miss Cummings as she was leaving the room of A. G. Hall of Chicago, a guest at the Waldorf, with Mr. Hall's valise came at the end of a taxicab ride around the city. She was said to have hired the taxicab in front of the Astor House, where she dined. She went first to the Victoria Hotel, Broadway and Twenty-seventh Street, and stayed there only long enough to ask whether a person she knew lived there. From there she was driven to West 155th Street. She went into an apartment house and stayed there some ten minutes, evidently searching for friends. Shen she went to an apartment house in West 157th Street. She asked there for a woman she knew, and found she had moved. From this house she was driven to the Waldorf.

Miss Cummings, in the hotel, took an elevator to the third floor. She tried the door occupied by Mr. Hall, who is now out of town, and finding it locked, directed the maid on that floor to open it. The maid complied, and then remembering that Mr. Hall occupied that room, she sent for the house detective. Miss Cummings was arrested as she was about to leave with the valise. When she was arrested the young woman told a rambling story of having run away to wed. She declared she was looking for her husband.

J. J. Mayer of 117 West Tenth Street appeared for Miss Cummings in court. To him the girl told many contradictory stories. Finally, late in the day, she admitted to her lawyer that she had escaped from the asylum. She said that she walked all the way from Middletown to this city. Then she changed the story and said that she had walked part of the way. Later she admitted that she did not know how she got here. In her talk the girl said that William H. Reddy, a real estate broker, was her brother-in-law, and from him the police learned that she had escaped from the insane asylum.

Later in the afternoon Anthony Schuck of 455 West 155th Street, the address given by Miss Cummings, went to the Jefferson Market Court. He said that the prisoner was not a member of his family, and the only person he could think of whose name was Angie was Angie Cummings, who had formerly lived in the neighborhood and knew his family. The charge against the young woman will be dismissed and she will be returned to Middletown.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Miss Angie Cummings was a patient of the State Hospital for the Insane in this city until Nov. 5. On that date she was paroled in the care of the "After Care" Committee. The patient, Dr. Ashley, Superintendent of the hospital, said to-night, was subject to irrational spells, and he had no doubt that she had suffered a return of the mental disorder for which she was sent to the hospital.

Miss Cummings had improved and it was believed that she would be better off outside the hospital and under proper observation. A woman of this city, who was interested in the work of the "After Care" Committee, determined to take the patient into her own home. So the hospital authorities paroled her in the care of the committee, and on Nov. 5 Miss Cummings left the hospital for the home of her employer. She did not stay there a day, but taking the first opportunity departed for New York. The hospital authorities understand that she took some of the clothing of her employer with her.

BLIND BOY CAN LAND HERE.

Woman Who Escorted Him Across the Sea Will Get Home Soon.

Announcement was made yesterday at Ellis Island that Cecil Morris, the seven-year-old blind boy who was brought over on the Anchor liner Cameronia last Sunday by Mrs. Christopher McSweeny, and was detained at Ellis Island, would be allowed to land as soon as his father, Reuben W. Morris of Akron, Ohio, gave a $500 bond that his son would not become a public charge.

Mrs. McSweeney, who had to go to the island with her own two young children, as she had taken charge of the blind boy, will be allowed to land and go to her home in Greensburg, Penn., as soon as the bond is given. Regarding the detention of Mrs. McSweeney, Commissioner William Williams said:

"Since this boy was only 7; it was necessary, under the law, pending determination of his case, to hold the person who accompanied him, Mrs. McSweeney. Were it otherwise the Government might, in the event of deportation being found necessary, have on its hands a child who could neither enter the country nor travel back alone."

$118,000 FOR MRS. HYDE.

Alleged Poisoner's Wife Gets This Share of Swope's $1,950,000 Estate.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7.—In the division of a large part of the estate of Col. Thomas H. Swope here to-day, Mrs. Frances Hyde, wife of Dr. B. Clark Hyde, received property valued at $118,000. Dr. Hyde, whose wife is a niece of Col. Swope, is under indictment charged with the murder of the wealthy philanthropist.

Felix Swope of Midway, Ky., a nephew of Col. Swope, received property valued at $74,000.

The property, divided by agreement of the ten heirs, was appraised at a valuation of $1,350,000. Other property in this city belonging to the estate, but not affected by the division, is valued at $600,000.

"Clothes From Maker to Wearer"

"More $25 Overcoats at $15"—Moe Levy

Pardon the slang, but I certainly did put the "over" in these overcoats at $15. There is "over style," "over quality" and "over workmanship," and the value is easily $10 over the price.

These are the smartest $25 coats that ever wore a $15 price ticket. I can give this "over value" because I manufacture these garments in my own workrooms and save you the regular retailer's profit.

Through my low rental on Walker Street, my low cost of production and low cost of doing business I maintain a one-third lower price than the same merchandise would cost you from the regular retailer. And, moreover, these $15 coats are beautiful pieces of merchandise.

The models are many. They include smart double breasted effects with both box, plain and belted backs. There is the genteel, single breasted, conservative coat in varying lengths. There are a number of other varieties, all made of fabrics in perfect harmony with the cut of the garments.

Last Saturday was a big day. I expect to break last Saturday's record this week, because I'll hear from the friends of the many men who bought then.

Better come in for your overcoat to-day.
